TRUCE TALKS AGAIN RECESSED

Air Forces Fund Slash Is Approved

Committee Slices $5 Billion From Operating Budget

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Reductions in Air Force funds by the Eisenhower administration were approved today by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The committee upheld a slash of more than five billion dollars in new funds for the Air Force as it reported a $34,511,302,000 money bill to the Senate.

This included operating funds for the Army, Navy, Marines and other defense agencies at near the levels asked by the President.

Group Restores Millions

The group restored nearly 200 of 240 million dollars that the House had cut from Air Force requests by the new administration.

It also gave back 96 of nearly 400 millions that the House cut from Navy funds and 31 of 689 millions the House cut from Army funds.

As the bill reached the Senate it carried some 77 million more than voted by the House.

Biggest Senate committee reduction was 250 millions or exactly half of a 500 million dollar fund that Secretary of Defense Wilson had asked for a pool of machine tools.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), manager of the largest of the annual money bills, said the Appropriations Committee beat down two efforts to go above the Eisenhower Air Force budget.

Votes Kill Increases

He said Sen. Maybank (D-SC) attempted to add 400 million dollars to Air Force funds to buy 200 additional B47 jet bombers which had been cut out by Secretary Wilson. The vote was 17-9 against this.

A 16-9 vote killed a similar effort by Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz) to increase Air Force funds.

Ferguson said the money is "all the President says he needs for the coming year, and that means for airplanes and everything else."

The Air Force, he said, "will get more combat planes under this budget than under the budget proposed by former President Truman."

Higley Is New VA Chieftain

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated Harvey V. Higley, 60, of Marinette, Wis., to be administrator of veterans affairs.

Higley, chairman of the board of Ansul Chemical Co., would succeed Carl R. Gray Jr., who resigned.

Eisenhower also asked the Senate to confirm five other nominations, including a college professor, a woman lawyer, two foreign service career officers, and a Negro attorney.

Russia Makes Trade Pacts To Ease Ills

Kremlin Deals With Western Nations

[By The Associated Press]

Soviet Russia — beset by economic ills in its restive Red empire — has begun reaching beyond the Iron Curtain to negotiate a series of important trade pacts.

Yesterday the Kremlin paved the way for three major deals with Western nations.

The French and Soviet governments announced jointly that they had signed a 3-year commercial treaty—their first since 1934—envisioning the exchange of 12 billion francs ($34,285,760) worth of goods in the next 12 months.

Reds Offer Deal

The accord grew out of the East-West trade conference held at Geneva and sponsored by the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe. The pact excludes items on the "black list" of the North Atlantic Treaty Organizations. These are largely raw or finished products vital to the economy of the West or of strategic importance to a potential aggressor.

At the same time this deal became known, the British Board of Trade announced in London that Russia had offered to sell Britain manganese and chrome ores—two strategic metals used to toughen steel. A spokesman said the Soviet offer had been turned over to British manufacturers. He added that the Russians have placed about 30,000 pounds of platinum on the London bullion market and that a good part of it has been grabbed up.

At the same time, British grain brokers continued dickering with a Russian trade mission in London for some 6½ million tons of wheat which the Soviets have indicated they are ready to sell.

Danes Sign Contract

From Copenhagen came word that Denmark has signed contracts to build another five cold storage freighters for the Soviet Union within the next two years.

The announcement said the freighters will be built under a new 21 million dollar trade agreement that also provides for deliveries of industrial machinery and foodstuffs in return for such Russian goods as wheat, cotton, iron ore and asbestos.

The contract was signed just after Denmark had received a protest from the United States against the delivery of a 13,000-ton tanker to Russia. Several weeks ago the Danes signed another agreement—to export 6,000 tons of butter to the Soviet Union.

ACTRESS DIES — Maude Adams, 80, former stage star who was regarded one of the greatest actresses of all time, died yesterday at her home in Catskill Mountain village of Tannersville, N. Y.

Maude Adams, Former Stage Actress, Dies

TANNERSVILLE, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—Maude Adams, whose "Peter Pan" established her as one of the greatest actresses in the history of the American stage, died today at the age of 80.

Death came peacefully as she rested on a sofa at the home of Mrs. Margaret McKenna, with whom she had lived in this Catskill Mountain village for the last three years.

Mrs. Adams was reading a newspaper and waiting for a visit from Dr. Edwin Mulberry, her physician. She complained to Mrs. McKenna that she felt ill.

Mrs. McKenna got Miss Adams a glass of water and summoned another doctor. He, Dr. Mulberry and Mrs. McKenna stood by.

"Oh, Mrs. McKenna, I don't feel good," the actress said. Then, shortly after 12:30 p.m., she died.

Miss Adams was hospitalized for several weeks last spring for pleurisy and bronchitis. But Mrs. McKenna said she had enjoyed good health since than and had kept up her normal activities until about a week ago.

Her last public activity was as a teacher of drama at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., from 1937 to 1950. Shortly after that she came to live with Mrs. McKenna in a five-room cottage about a mile from this village.

Miss Adams was born in Salt Lake City, Nov. 11, 1872, the daughter of James and Annie Adams Kiskadden. Her mother was leading lady of a stock company who retained her maiden name of Adams on the stage.

She made her New York debut in September, 1888, as Moyna in "The Paymaster." Her first pronounced success came in 1892 as leading lady to John Drew in "The Masked Ball."

Later, when she had become an established actress, her performances in "Peter Pan" and other plays of Sir James M. Barrie were milestones of stage history. It was in "The Little Minister" in 1897 that she became a star in her own right.

100,000 Child Is Inoculated

DECATUR, Ill., July 17 (AP) — Diana Sue Deardorff, 5, of Decatur, won fame and a king-size lollypop today as the 100,000th youngster in the nation to be inoculated against polio with gamma globulin.

But it was a painful experience, and she was quite vocal about it.

Even 30 minutes after she was needled by a harried physician, Diana wasn't quite up to smiling for the photographers.

She is one of 18,700 children under 10 years of age participating in a mass inoculation with the new substance. All are residents of Macon County in Central Illinois.

French Troops Capture Town

WITH FRENCH FORCES AT LANG SON, Indochina, July 17 (AP) —Five thousand French Union parachute troops today captured and wrecked Lang Son, the key relay point for Red China's supplies to the Vietminh, in the most daring raid of the 7-year-old Indochinese War.

The red-bereted raiders, dropped in full daylight from transport planes provided by the United States, swiftly routed scattered detachments of the Communist-led garrison at the ancient fortress city only 10 miles from China's frontier.

Stricken Judge Weeps While Sentencing Mercy Slayer

DETROIT, July 17 (AP)—A judge, holding court from his sick bed, wept today in sentencing a man to prison for the mercy killing of his wife.

It was the climax to the case of William R. Jones, 62, who killed his invalid wife, Barbara, also 62.

Jones, a factory worker, electrocuted his wife in the bathtub at their home last Dec. 12.

He tied an exposed lamp cord around her wrist, then turned on the electric current.

Mrs. Jones had been incurably ill from diabetes. Both her legs had been amputated. She long had suffered agaonizing pain, according to trial court testimony.

A jury convicted Jones of second degree murder.

Today Circuit Judge Clyde I. Webster called court in the spacious bedroom at his home. He had been incapacitated for months with a bone ailment.

The 75-year-old jurist sentenced Jones to a year and a day to five years in prison.

The sentence may mean that Jones need spend only a short time in prison. He already has spent eight months in jail. Defense counsel said a request for parole would be made immediately.

Judge Webster prepared an urgent appeal to the State Parole Board for leniency.

ROK Regains 60 Miles In Korean War

Small Pockets Of Reds Resist Steady Advance

SEOUL, Saturday, July 18 (AP)—South Korean infantry advanced cautiously in the battle-devastated Kumsong River Valley yesterday, recovering some of the 60-square-mile area lost to Chinese Reds in the first open warfare in Korea in almost two years.

The foot sloggers of the Republic of Korea 2nd Corps, led by a few tanks, ran into small pockets of resistence left over from the big 10-division Red push Monday and Tuesday, when the Communists at high cost straightened out the Allied Kumsong bulge in East-Central Korea.

Disclose Reds' Push

In the first disclosure of how far the Reds pushed, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U. S. 8th Army commander, said Friday that the new Kumsong front now ran from a point slightly northeast of Kumhwa due east for 20 miles to the Pukhan River. This meant a Red advance of up to seven miles.

Official sources did not reveal whether American troops were involved in reclaiming some of the area overrun by the Chinese in their surge.

However, Gen. Taylor said the U. S. 9th Corps and the ROK 2nd Corps had manned the Kumsong bulge line which the Reds hit with possibly 80,000 men.

Latest available information showed that the 9th Corps consisted of the U. S. 3rd, 40th and 45th Divisions, the ROK 2nd and 3rd Divisions, with Turkish, Philippine and Greek troops attached to the U. S. 3rd Division.

Eighth Army restrictions for military security reasons prevented exact reporting of the front-line situation Friday.

There were reports of ROK gains of up to a mile in the ROK 2nd Corps' 3-division advance, but no details were given.

While ROK troops and officers were happy over their seemingly easy advance, some American advisers with the South Koreans suggested that this indicated the ROKs had pulled back too fast in the first place.

Lose 14,200 Killed

The 8th Army estimated Communist losses at the ghastly total of 14,200 killed and 6,800 wounded in the week ended Tuesday. Most of these were knocked from the 80,000 Reds who drove into the Kumsong bulge.

The Air Force put its heaviest effort Friday into bombing the Chinese in their newly won positions. The fliers dropped more than 600 tons of bombs in more than 500 sorties in the Kumsong area alone.

Allied Sabre jets patrolled MIG Alley in Northern Korea, but got only two damage claims in brushes with Red Jets.

4,000 Orphans To Be Admitted

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP) — Chairman Langer (R-ND) said the Senate Judiciary Committee agreed today on a provision to admit 4,000 orphans to the United States under legislation designed to help ease the strain on refugee-packed Western Europe.

Some of the children are homeless waifs who originally lived behind the Iron Curtain. Others lost their parents in World War II.

The provision was approved as part of an Eisenhower administration immigration bill. The bill as a whole, however, was still blocked by disagreements in the committee.

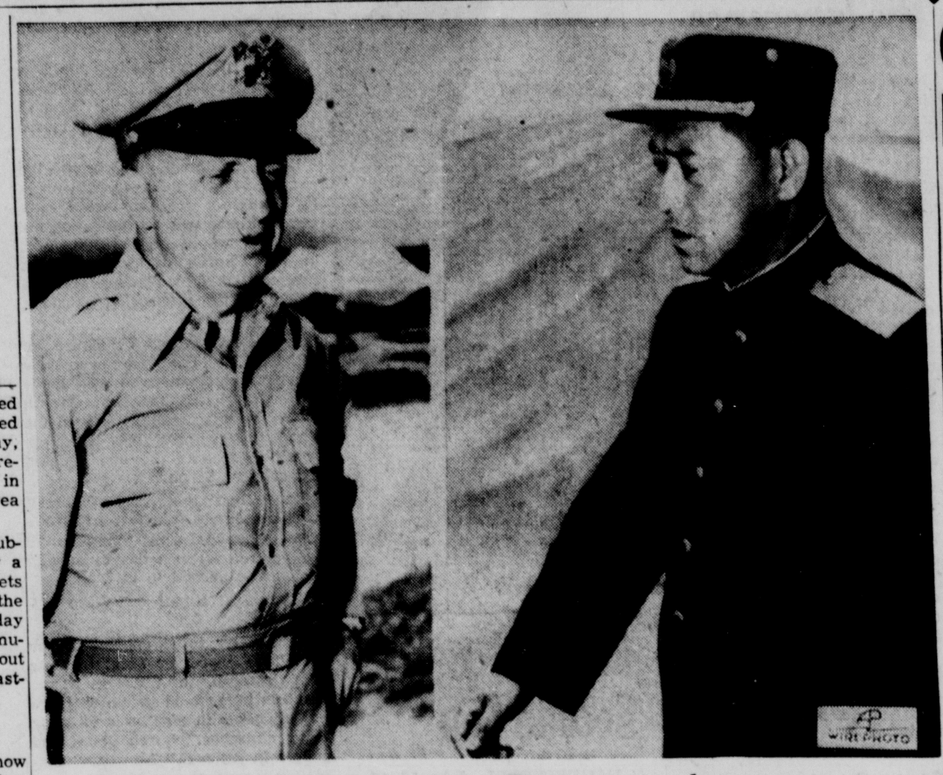
Langer called the committee into a special night session tonight in an attempt to reach final agreement on the measure.

President Eisenhower asked Congress last April 22 for legislation permitting 240,000 Iron Curtain refugees and other immigrants to enter the United States under "special quotas" — over and above regular quotas—in the next two years.

Head For Beaches

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—Thousands headed for the beaches and any kind of cool spot they could find today as a broiling sun sent the mercury soaring to 95.2—the highest mark ever recorded on this date.

The previous record was an even 95 in 1905.



Meeting Recessed

The important truce meeting between top negotiators Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison and North Korean Gen. Nam Il, was recessed once again last night as Allies granted the Reds an additional day in answering demands for quick Korean armistice.

Ammo Is Kept In Spinster's Deposit Box

BOSTON, July 17 (AP)—Bank officials were astounded when they discovered what a Boston spinster had stored in a safe deposit vault.

Live ammunition — grenades, rifle cartridges, primers for big artillery shells, parachute flares, American and foreign gas masks, plus some empty shell cases and barbed wire.

Sentimental souvenirs, they were, saved by Miss Sarah Battelle ever since she was a YMCA worker in World War I. Miss Battelle died several weeks ago and State Street trust officials disclosed today they found the "hot" mementoes when they began to settle her estate.

The explosives were turned over to the police.

Russian Tanks Prepare For New Berlin Revolts

BERLIN, July 17 (AP)—The Russians sent two tank divisions back to East Berlin today to choke off a new wave of anti-Communist strikes before they erupt into another revolt like that of June 17.

It was one month ago to the day that two million rioting workers shook the Red empire with their mass uprising throughout East Germany.

Alarmed by a creeping paralysis of strikes, the Russians moved quickly and menacingly. Columns of tanks began rumbling into East Berlin soon after midnight this morning.

They clanked along Stalin Allee—where the June 17 revolt began—in a display of force obviously intended to frighten still rebellious East Berliners into submission.

All day long new groups of tanks entered the city. By nightfall, unofficial estimates put the total at around 300.

The tanks took up strategic positions in the outskirts of the Soviet sector, ready to pounce quickly if the East Berlin workers got out of hand. It was assumed here that similar tank operations were developing in other Soviet zone cities where the strikers are most active.

Two big strike centers were the rubber plant at Merseburg and the Zeiss optical works at Jena.

The Buna plant has been paralyzed since Wednesday by a sitdown strike of 14,000 workers. Zeiss employes struck last Saturday. The Russian commander in Jena forced them back to work Tuesday with a threat to shoot every 10th striker, but they are reported to have been on a slow-down ever since.

The strikers demand release of their comrades arrested in the June riots, firing of their Communist bosses—and more food.

Food became perhaps the sorest point after Moscow rejected an offer of the United States to deliver 15 million dollars worth of supplies to East Germany.

Bombers Collide In Midair, Eight Crew Members Killed

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz., July 17 (AP) — Two B50 bombers collided in flight today, and one plunged to the desert. Eight airmen were killed, and four parachuted safely.

The second plane, with only minor damage to its tail surface, flew back to its station, Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Tucson.

Four men who parachuted were picked up by helicopter. A fifth parachutist died of injuries.

The big plane crashed on a ranch in view of a band of cowboys and burned.

The toll of dead was reported by the Williams Air Force Public Information Office. The collision occurred about 10 miles from Williams AFB.

Both of the planes were from Davis-Monthan.

Witnesses said the impact, at a 27,000-foot altitude, sent the first ship into a flat spin and it smashed with violent force.

The wreckage burned for two hours. The charred bodies of the seven still remained within the smashed hulk but rescue teams worked to recover them.

An Air Force spokesman said those who went down with the plane apparently were unable to parachute because of the centrifugal force created by the spin.

He said the dead parachutist "probably was hit by the plane after jumping."

One of the bombers was being flown on instrument training. This was believed to be the one which returned safely.

Margaret Returns From Africa Trip

LONDON, July 17 (AP)—Princess Margaret returned from Africa by jet airliner today amid controversy over her reported romance with a divorced air officer. She smiled and looked serene.

Queen Elizabeth II hurried aboard the gleaming Comet to give the princess a hug and, perhaps, some sisterly advice.

Food Ship Sails

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—The first American food relief ship for Eastern Germany sailed today with 1,609 tons of flour, dried milk and lard.

The flagship of the government's 15 million dollar program to combat hunger in the Red zone was the U. S. Lines freighter American Inventor.

Postal Rates Hike Doomed This Session

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Congress is likely to adjourn July 31 without acting on the administration's request for higher postal rates, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) reported today.

Knowland, acting majority leader in the Senate, also indicated that a proposal by Sen. Bricker (C-Ohio) for a constitutional amendment restricting the government's treaty-making powers will not come to a vote this session.

He passed along this information at a news conference held after a 2-hour session of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee. The group met privately to review the legislative program.

Adjournment at the end of the month looks "more likely today than ever before," Knowland said. Unless a national emergency arises, Congress will not convene again until January.

Knowland said much of the Senate's work between now and the end of the month will be on appropriation bills providing money to run the government during the fiscal year which began July 1.

Postmaster General Summerfield had hoped to get congressional approval of a 240 million dollar a year hike in postal rates during this sesssion of Congress. His proposals include raising the first class rate from 3 cents to 4 and upping airmail from 6 cents an ounce to 7.

Completes Report

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP) — Charles E. Bohlen, ambassador to Moscow, has completed his consultation with Secretary of State Dulles on the Beria purge and will be back at his post in about 10 days.

Girl, 16, Gives Birth While In Coma From Auto Injuries

MIAMI, Fla., July 17 (AP)—A 16-year-old girl-wife who has been in a coma since January and her baby son were both improving today at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

The father, also 16, was thinking about a name for his 5-pound son, born last night and placed in an incubator. He was cheered by reports that the infant was "improving steadily."

The mother, Mrs. Janice Cubbedge, was "doing as well as could be expected." She was critically injured in an automobile accident last Jan. 28 and only during the last few days has she rallied enough to say a few words.

Physicians reported the baby's birth was natural but they could not tell if it was premature because Mrs. Cubbedge was unable to give them the history of her pregnancy.

The father, Ronald Cubbedge, was injured in the accident and still has his neck in a brace.

Sweethearts in high school at LaBelle, Janice and Ronald eloped and were married at Dillon, S. C. They were en route to visit Janice's sister in Fayetteville, N. C., when the accident occurred. Mrs. Cubbedge later was transferred to the hospital here from a Charlotte, N. C., hospital.

Ronald will start his senior year at LaBelle High School in September.

Commies Ask For One-Day Extension

Peiping Radio Says Americans Responsible For Delay In Peace

MUNSAN, Saturday, July 18 (AP)—The Reds today asked for and got a 1-day extension until tomorrow of the truce talk recess called Thursday after the Allies had made clear their position that it was time for an armistice.

The Communist request was made at a morning meeting of liaison officers which lasted only one minute. The additional delay could mean that the Reds had not formulated their reply to the firm Allied demand that it was time to get down to business.

The next session now is set for 2 p.m. tomorrow (Midnight Saturday, EST).

Blast Americans

A Peiping radio broadcast insisted today that "the Americans are responsible for holding up the talks." It asked rhetorically whether "the American side is prepared to break off the negotiations."

Washington sources said the Reds were told Thursday they have all the assurances they need that President Syngman Rhee will not obstruct a truce and the time for signing has come.

In Seoul, the boycotting South Korean truce delegate, Maj. Gen. Choi Duk Shin, told The Associated Press the present truce offer was "entirely unacceptable to the Korean people" and he has no intention of taking part in the talks so long as the terms are unchanged.

Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. Far East commander, flew to Munsan Friday and conferred for three hours with Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief U. N. truce delegate. Later he declined comment, stressing that his command would abide by the secrecy agreement covering the Panmunjom negotiations.

Similar Situation

Some observers believe the Reds now face a situation similar to that of last October. At that time, Gen. Harrison walked out and said the U. N. team would not be back until the Reds either accepted the U. N. plan for a prisoner exchange or came up with something concrete.

After six months the Reds came back. They bickered over rephrasing the U. N. offer, then agreed on a plan. It placed a time limit on custody of more than 47,000 anti-Red prisoners while Communist "persuasion teams" worked on them.

President Rhee upset that plan by an order June 18 which freed more than 27,000 anti-Red North Koreans. The present crisis is over that, with the Reds insisting Rhee has proved he will do everything he can to obstruct a truce and the U. N. side insisting Rhee since has put down in writing his promise not to obstruct.

Rainfall Brings Nation Relief

By The Associated Press

A multimillion dollar rain fell on dry crops and pastures across a vast stretch of the nation Friday.

Intermittent showers or thunderstorms pelted all sections of the nation except the northwestern and northeastern states.

The rains brought only slight and spotty relief to drought stricken areas of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, but some parched areas in the Midwest got a good soaking.

The rains were so heavy near Abilene in west-central Texas that floodwaters swept over several sections of the city. The 4.25 inch rain sent creeks out of their banks and several blocks in the southwest part of the city were waist deep in water.

In the heart of the west Texas drought section, however, Big Spring got only .05 of an inch and Lubbock, .07.

Southern Illinois farmers said the one half to 2 inches of rain that drenched their crops was worth millions of dollars and relieved a critical situation.

A small twister spun along the outskirts of New Orleans, wrecking a church and damaging another building.

Mesta Home Robbed

NEWPORT, R. I., July 17 (AP)—The unoccupied Newport home of Mrs. Perle Mesta, former U. S. minister to Luxemburg, was ransacked this week by thieves who took only a few dishes and ashtrays, police reported today.

Mrs. Mesta now is visiting in Russia at the invitation of the Soviet government.

Kremlin Deals With Western Nations

[By The Associated Press]

Soviet Russia — beset by economic ills in its restive Red empire — has begun reaching beyond the Iron Curtain to negotiate a series of important trade pacts.

Yesterday the Kremlin paved the way for three major deals with Western nations.

The French and Soviet governments announced jointly that they had signed a 3-year commercial treaty—their first since 1934—envisioning the exchange of 12 billion francs ($34,285,760) worth of goods in the next 12 months.

Miss Adams was hospitalized for several weeks last spring for pleurisy and bronchitis. But Mrs. McKenna said she had enjoyed good health since than and had kept up her normal activities until about a week ago.

Her last public activity was as a teacher of drama at Stephens College in Columbia, Mo., from 1937 to 1950. Shortly after that she came to live with Mrs. McKenna in a five-room cottage about a mile from this village.

Miss Adams was born in Salt Lake City, Nov. 11, 1872, the daughter of James and Annie Adams Kiskadden. Her mother was leading lady of a stock company who retained her maiden name of Adams on the stage.

She made her New York debut in September, 1888, as Moyna in "The Paymaster." Her first pronounced success came in 1892 as leading lady to John Drew in "The Masked Ball."

Later, when she had become an established actress, her performances in "Peter Pan" and other plays of Sir James M. Barrie were milestones of stage history. It was in "The Little Minister" in 1897 that she became a star in her own right.

100,000 Child Is Inoculated

DECATUR, Ill., July 17 (AP) — Diana Sue Deardorff, 5, of Decatur, won fame and a king-size lollypop today as the 100,000th youngster in the nation to be inoculated against polio with gamma globulin.

But it was a painful experience, and she was quite vocal about it.

Even 30 minutes after she was needled by a harried physician, Diana wasn't quite up to smiling fo the photographers.

She is one of 18,700 children under 10 years of age participating in a mass inoculation with the new substance. All are residents of Macon County in Central Illinois.

French Troops Capture Town

WITH FRENCH FORCES AT LANG SON, Indochina, July 17 (AP) —Five thousand French Union parachute troops today captured and wrecked Lang Son, the key relay point for Red China's supplies to the Vietminh, in the most daring raid of the 7-year-old Indochinese War.

The red-bereted raiders, dropped in full daylight from transport planes provided by the United States, swiftly routed scattered detachments of the Communist-led garrison at the ancient fortress city only 10 miles from China's frontier.

Stricken Judge Weeps While Sentencing Mercy Slayer

DETROIT, July 17 (AP)—A judge, holding court from his sick bed, wept today in sentencing a man to prison for the mercy killing of his wife.

It was the climax to the case of William R. Jones, 62, who killed his invalid wife, Barbara, also 62.

Jones, a factory worker, electrocuted his wife in the bathtub at their home last Dec. 12.

He tied an exposed lamp cord around her wrist, then turned on the electric current.

Mrs. Jones had been incurably ill from diabetes. Both her legs had been amputated. She long had suffered agaonizing pain, according to trial court testimony.

A jury convicted Jones of second degree murder.

Today Circuit Judge Clyde I. Webster called court in the spacious bedroom at his home. He had been incapacitated for months with a bone ailment.

The 75-year-old jurist sentenced Jones to a year and a day to five years in prison.

The sentence may mean that Jones need spend only a short time in prison. He already has spent eight months in jail. Defense counsel said a request for parole would be made immediately.

Judge Webster prepared an urgent appeal to the State Parole Board for leniency.

Small Pockets Of Reds Resist Steady Advance

SEOUL, Saturday, July 18 (AP)—South Korean infantry advanced cautiously in the battle-devastated Kumsong River Valley yesterday, recovering some of the 60-square-mile area lost to Chinese Reds in the first open warfare in Korea in almost two years.

The foot sloggers of the Republic of Korea 2nd Corps, led by a few tanks, ran into small pockets of resistence left over from the big 10-division Red push Monday and Tuesday, when the Communists at high cost straightened out the Allied Kumsong bulge in East-Central Korea.

Disclose Reds' Push

In the first disclosure of how far the Reds pushed, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U. S. 8th Army commander, said Friday that the new Kumsong front now ran from a point slightly northeast of Kumhwa due east for 20 miles to the Pukhan River. This meant a Red advance of up to seven miles.

Official sources did not reveal whether American troops were involved in reclaiming some of the area overrun by the Chinese in their surge.

However, Gen. Taylor said the U. S. 9th Corps and the ROK 2nd Corps had manned the Kumsong bulge line which the Reds hit with possibly 80,000 men.

Latest available information showed that the 9th Corps consisted of the U. S. 3rd, 40th and 45th Divisions, the ROK 2nd and 3rd Divisions, with Turkish, Philippine and Greek troops attached to the U. S. 3rd Division.

Eighth Army restrictions for military security reasons prevented exact reporting of the front-line situation Friday.

There were reports of ROK gains of up to a mile in the ROK 2nd Corps' 3-division advance, but no details were given.

While ROK troops and officers were happy over their seemingly easy advance, some American advisers with the South Koreans suggested that this indicated the ROKs had pulled back too fast in the first place.

Lose 14,200 Killed

The 8th Army estimated Communist losses at the ghastly total of 14,200 killed and 6,800 wounded in the week ended Tuesday. Most of these were knocked from the 80,000 Reds who drove into the Kumsong bulge.

The Air Force put its heaviest effort Friday into bombing the Chinese in their newly won positions. The fliers dropped more than 600 tons of bombs in more than 500 sorties in the Kumsong area alone.

Allied Sabre jets patrolled MIG Alley in Northern Korea, but got only two damage claims in brushes with Red Jets.

4,000 Orphans To Be Admitted

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP) — Chairman Langer (R-ND) said the Senate Judiciary Committee agreed today on a provision to admit 4,000 orphans to the United States under legislation designed to help ease the strain on refugee-packed Western Europe.

Some of the children are homeless waifs who originally lived behind the Iron Curtain. Others lost their parents in World War II.

The provision was approved as part of an Eisenhower administration immigration bill. The bill as a whole, however, was still blocked by disagreements in the committee.

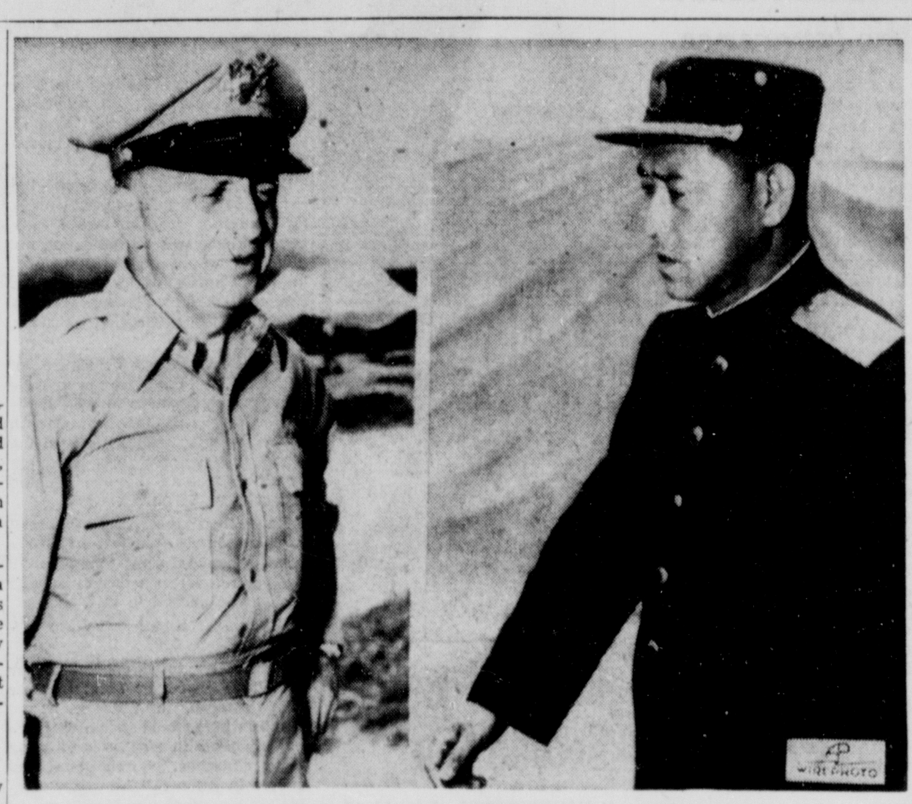
Langer called the committee into a special night session tonight in an attempt to reach final agreement on the measure.

President Eisenhower asked Congress last April 22 for legislation permitting 240,000 Iron Curtain refugees and other immigrants to enter the United States under "special quotas" — over and above regular quotas—in the next two years.

Head For Beaches

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—Thousands headed for the beaches and any kind of cool spot they could find today as a broiling sun sent the mercury soaring to 95.2—the highest mark ever recorded on this date.

The previous record was an even 95 in 1905.



Meeting Recessed

The important truce meeting between top negotiators Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison and North Korean Gen. Nam Il, was recessed once again last night as Allies granted the Reds an additional day in answering demands for quick Korean armistice.

Ammo Is Kept In Spinster's Deposit Box

BOSTON, July 17 (AP)—Bank officials were astounded when they discovered what a Boston spinster had stored in a safe deposit vault.

Live ammunition — grenades, rifle cartridges, primers for big artillery shells, parachute flares, American and foreign gas masks, plus some empty shell cases and barbed wire.

Sentimental souvenirs, they were, saved by Miss Sarah Battelle ever since she was a YMCA worker in World War I. Miss Battelle died several weeks ago and State Street trust officials disclosed today they found the "hot" mementoes when they began to settle her estate.

The explosives were turned over to the police.

Russian Tanks Prepare For New Berlin Revolts

BERLIN, July 17 (AP)—The Russians sent two tank divisions back to East Berlin today to choke off a new wave of anti-Communist strikes before they erupt into another revolt like that of June 17.

It was one month ago to the day that two million rioting workers shook the Red empire with their mass uprising throughout East Germany.

Alarmed by a creeping paralysis of strikes, the Russians moved quickly and menacingly. Columns of tanks began rumbling into East Berlin soon after midnight this morning.

They clanked along Stalin Allee—where the June 17 revolt began—in a display of force obviously intended to frighten still rebellious East Berliners into submission.

All day long new groups of tanks entered the city. By nightfall, unofficial estimates put the total at around 300.

The tanks took up strategic positions in the outskirts of the Soviet sector, ready to pounce quickly if the East Berlin workers got out of hand. It was assumed here that similar tank operations were developing in other Soviet zone cities where the strikers are most active.

Two big strike centers were the rubber plant at Merseburg and the Zeiss optical works at Jena.

The Buna plant has been paralyzed since Wednesday by a sitdown strike of 14,000 workers. Zeiss employes struck last Saturday. The Russian commander in Jena forced them back to work Tuesday with a threat to shoot every 10th striker, but they are reported to have been on a slow-down ever since.

The strikers demand release of their comrades arrested in the June riots, firing of their Communist bosses—and more food.

Food became perhaps the sorest point after Moscow rejected an offer of the United States to deliver 15 million dollars worth of supplies to East Germany.

Bombers Collide In Midair, Eight Crew Members Killed

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz., July 17 (AP) — Two B50 bombers collided in flight today, and one plunged to the desert. Eight airmen were killed, and four parachuted safely.

The second plane, with only minor damage to its tail surface, flew back to its station, Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Tucson.

Four men who parachuted were picked up by helicopter. A fifth parachutist died of injuries.

The big plane crashed on a ranch in view of a band of cowboys and burned.

The toll of dead was reported by the Williams Air Force Public Information Office. The collision occurred about 10 miles from Williams AFB.

Both of the planes were from Davis-Monthan.

Witnesses said the impact, at a 27,000-foot altitude, sent the first ship into a flat spin and it smashed with violent force.

The wreckage burned for two hours. The charred bodies of the seven still remained within the smashed hulk but rescue teams worked to recover them.

An Air Force spokesman said those who went down with the plane apparently were unable to parachute because of the centrifugal force created by the spin.

He said the dead parachutist "probably was hit by the plane after jumping."

One of the bombers was being flown on instrument training. This was believed to be the one which returned safely.

Margaret Returns From Africa Trip

LONDON, July 17 (AP)—Princess Margaret returned from Africa by jet airliner today amid controversy over her reported romance with a divorced air officer. She smiled and looked serene.

Queen Elizabeth II hurried aboard the gleaming Comet to give the princess a hug and, perhaps, some sisterly advice.

Food Ship Sails

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—The first American food relief ship for Eastern Germany sailed today with 1,609 tons of flour, dried milk and lard.

The flagship of the government's 15 million dollar program to combat hunger in the Red zone was the U. S. Lines freighter American Inventor.

Postal Rates Hike Doomed This Session

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—Congress is likely to adjourn July 31 without acting on the administration's request for higher postal rates, Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) reported today.

Knowland, acting majority leader in the Senate, also indicated that a proposal by Sen. Bricker (C-Ohio) for a constitutional amendment restricting the government's treaty-making powers will not come to a vote this session.

He passed along this information at a news conference held after a 2-hour session of the Senate's Republican Policy Committee. The group met privately to review the legislative program.

Adjournment at the end of the month looks "more likely today than ever before," Knowland said. Unless a national emergency arises, Congress will not convene again until January.

Knowland said much of the Senate's work between now and the end of the month will be on appropriation bills providing money to run the government during the fiscal year which began July 1.

Postmaster General Summerfield had hoped to get congressional approval of a 240 million dollar a year hike in postal rates during this sesssion of Congress. His proposals include raising the first class rate from 3 cents to 4 and upping airmail from 6 cents an ounce to 7.

Completes Report

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP) — Charles E. Bohlen, ambassador to Moscow, has completed his consultation with Secretary of State Dulles on the Beria purge and will be back at his post in about 10 days.

Girl, 16, Gives Birth While In Coma From Auto Injuries

MIAMI, Fla., July 17 (AP)—A 16-year-old girl-wife who has been in a coma since January and her baby son were both improving today at Jackson Memorial Hospital.

The father, also 16, was thinking about a name for his 5-pound son, born last night and placed in an incubator. He was cheered by reports that the infant was "improving steadily."

The mother, Mrs. Janice Cubbedge, was "doing as well as could be expected." She was critically injured in an automobile accident last Jan. 28 and only during the last few days has she rallied enough to say a few words.

Physicians reported the baby's birth was natural but they could not tell if it was premature because Mrs. Cubbedge was unable to give them the history of her pregnancy.

The father, Ronald Cubbedge, was injured in the accident and still has his neck in a brace.

Sweethearts in high school at LaBelle, Janice and Ronald eloped and were married at Dillon, S. C. They were en route to visit Janice's sister in Fayetteville, N. C., when the accident occurred. Mrs. Cubbedge later was transferred to the hospital here from a Charlotte, N. C., hospital.

Ronald will start his senior year at LaBelle High School in September.

Commies Ask For One-Day Extension

Peiping Radio Says Americans Responsible For Delay In Peace

MUNSAN, Saturday, July 18 (AP)—The Reds today asked for and got a 1-day extension until tomorrow of the truce talk recess called Thursday after the Allies had made clear their position that it was time for an armistice.

The Communist request was made at a morning meeting of liaison officers which lasted only one minute. The additional delay could mean that the Reds had not formulated their reply to the firm Allied demand that it was time to get down to business.

The next session now is set for 2 p.m. tomorrow (Midnight Saturday, EST).

Blast Americans

A Peiping radio broadcast insisted today that "the Americans are responsible for holding up the talks." It asked rhetorically whether "the American side is prepared to break off the negotiations."

Washington sources said the Reds were told Thursday they have all the assurances they need that President Syngman Rhee will not obstruct a truce and the time for signing has come.

In Seoul, the boycotting South Korean truce delegate, Maj. Gen. Choi Duk Shin, told The Associated Press the present truce offer was "entirely unacceptable to the Korean people" and he has no intention of taking part in the talks so long as the terms are unchanged.

Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. Far East commander, flew to Munsan Friday and conferred for three hours with Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief U. N. truce delegate. Later he declined comment, stressing that his command would abide by the secrecy agreement covering the Panmunjom negotiations.

Similar Situation

Some observers believe the Reds now face a situation similar to that of last October. At that time, Gen. Harrison walked out and said the U. N. team would not be back until the Reds either accepted the U. N. plan for a prisoner exchange or came up with something concrete.

After six months the Reds came back. They bickered over rephrasing the U. N. offer, then agreed on a plan. It placed a time limit on custody of more than 47,000 anti-Red prisoners while Communist "persuasion teams" worked on them.

President Rhee upset that plan by an order June 18 which freed more than 27,000 anti-Red North Koreans. The present crisis is over that, with the Reds insisting Rhee has proved he will do everything he can to obstruct a truce and the U. N. side insisting Rhee since has put down in writing his promise not to obstruct.

Rainfall Brings Nation Relief

By The Associated Press

A multimillion dollar rain fell on dry crops and pastures across a vast stretch of the nation Friday.

Intermittent showers or thunderstorms pelted all sections of the nation except the northwestern and northeastern states.

The rains brought only slight and spotty relief to drought stricken areas of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, but some parched areas in the Midwest got a good soaking.

The rains were so heavy near Abilene in west-central Texas that floodwaters swept over several sections of the city. The 4.25 inch rain sent creeks out of their banks and several blocks in the southwest part of the city were waist deep in water.

In the heart of the west Texas drought section, however, Big Spring got only .05 of an inch and Lubbock, .07.

Southern Illinois farmers said the one half to 2 inches of rain that drenched their crops was worth millions of dollars and relieved a critical situation.

A small twister spun along the outskirts of New Orleans, wrecking a church and damaging another building.

Mesta Home Robbed

NEWPORT, R. I., July 17 (AP)—The unoccupied Newport home of Mrs. Perle Mesta, former U. S. minister to Luxemburg, was ransacked this week by thieves who took only a few dishes and ashtrays, police reported today.

Mrs. Mesta now is visiting in Russia at the invitation of the Soviet government.

State Crops Situation Becomes Critical With Lack Of Rainfall

[By The Associated Press]

Maryland farms are drying up and if it doesn't rain within a week the crop situation is going to be critical, an Associated Press survey of county agricultural agents showed today.

The long lack of rain has farmers really worried. And the weather forecaster was able to give them little promise of aid in the immediate future.

The first possibility of rain is showers next Tuesday or Wednesday.

No Rain For Six Weeks

There hasn't been rain generally in the state for 5½ weeks. The driest sections are in Central Maryland, the Dorchester-Wicomico section, some parts of Southern Maryland and extreme Western Maryland.

While there has been some loss, farmers generally believe that most of their crops can be saved by a good soaking if it comes within another week.

The hardest hit are the pasture lands which are brown and stunted. They are needed to feed dairy cattle and some farmers already have been forced to dig into their hay storage to supplement the nourishment.

Early corn also is being harmed by the drought. Some tomato fields and tobacco also are showing signs of the arid conditions, but those plants can take a lot of dry, hot weather.

Here are comments of county agricultural agents in a spot check of the state:

Frederick, Henry R. Shoemaker—"Serious, but not critical. Every day now that we don't get rain will cost money. If we do get a good soaking rain within the next week, the dollar damage will not be too great.

Corn Can Come Back

"The corn will come back quickly. Grass will come back quickly.

Some dairymen have started feeding hay and grass silage because the cows cannot get enough to eat from the dried pastures. Luckily, most of them have a good supply of hay, but having to use it now increases production costs and might cause a shortage next winter.

Washington, M. K. Miller—"Certain corn fields are suffering beyond the point of recovery, particularly the early plantings. Alfalfa and pastures are very dry. Apples need rain and peaches soon will. Some farmers really are interested in irrigation systems today."

Calvert, Robert Hall—"So far, not too badly hurt. We have gone longer without rain. The main thing is tobacco and that can stand a lot of hot, dry weather. But by next week, some rain will really be needed."

Caroline, Francis Rogers—"The pastures in most sections are in pretty bad shape. If it rains within a couple of days, the corn won't be hurt. Nor will the cucumbers, tomatoes and lima beans. Otherwise, there will be considerable damage."

Crops Not Too Bad

Queen Anne's, J. W. Eby—"Our crops are not too badly affected at the present time. Corn is beginning to curl quite a bit. The second hay crop is short and very bad. Tomatoes aren't too bad yet."

Somerset, C. Z. Keller—"It's not too serious at present. We have had some local showers recently. The tomatoes are beginning to show a little effect, although they can stand it fairly well. Corn has been hurt somewhat. The pastures are short."

Worcester, R. T. Grant—"Everything needs more rain. If it goes another week or 10 days, the damage could be heavy. In a number of places, the corn's twisting and the soybeans wilting. Some spots have had showers. Tomatoes need rain, but generally are doing all right. A root soaking rain is needed and soybeans and corn would come back. Potatoes are being harvested."

The lack of rain has caused a growing number of towns to start conserving water, although there is no serious shortage yet. Baltimore Frederick, and Thurmont have banned sprinkling laws and washing cars between 4 p.m. and 10 p.m. Mount Airy limited use to household necessities.

Shaulis Pleads His Innocence

ANNAPOLIS, July 17 (AP) — Francis Shaulis Jr., quietly asserting his innocence, today was ordered to stand trial Aug. 10 for the murder of his wife.

The date was set after the 31-year-old bricklayer, father of five boys, pleaded innocent in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court.

His arraignment before Judge Benjamin Michaelson was brief. Speaking hardly above a whisper, Shaulis said he had seen the charge leveled against him and then repeated the plea he had made at an earlier magistrate's hearing.

He was taken back to the county jail, where he has been imprisoned since turning himself in to police at Hagerstown June 13. Authorities had undertaken an intensive search for the former Army Ranger after finding the body of his 27-year-old wife at their Harundale home the previous afternoon.

With the five youngsters in the car, Shaulis unexpectedly drove up to the home of his wife's cousin in Hagerstown.

The woman and police quoted him as saying the shooting was accidental. They said he told of rousing the boys and fleeing in fright.

State Swelters Under Blistering Record Hot Spell

By The Associated Press

Maryland sweltered under a blistering heat wave Friday and the Weather Bureau said the hot spell which tied record temperatures in Baltimore and Hagerstown would continue into the weekend.

A blazing sun sent the mercury soaring to 100 degrees at Friendship International Airport near Baltimore Friday, matching a 53-year-old record for the date.

The thermometer read 97 in downtown Baltimore.

The Keedysville weather station near Hagerstown reported a blistering 105, the highest since the same reading was recorded July 6, 1949.

There was little promise of an early rain to break the heat and provide moisture needed by farmers for their parched fields.

Cards Tell Tale

Couple Loses Second Son

HAGERSTOWN, July 17 (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Blevins of near Mauginsville have been notified they have lost a second son in the Korean war.

He was 19-year-old PFC H. K. Blevins, missing in action since Dec. 2, 1950. A brother, Lonnie Blevins, 20, was killed Jan. 25, 1951. A third son, Archie, is in the Army in Germany.

A telegram yesterday from the Army's Quartermaster General in Washington advised the parents that "several men recently repatriated following imprisonment have informed my office that your son . . . died of malnutrition shortly after he was captured."

The quartermaster said "the date of death" was not definitely known but was set at Jan. 31, 1951.

Belgium House To Take Recess

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 17 (AP) — The House of Representatives spurned government recommendations today and voted to take its summer recess before debating and voting on the European Defense Community Treaty.

This means the treaty, which has won approval of a special House committee, cannot be ratified in this country before fall. Only West Germany has ratified the pact.

City Requests Minister Quit Tent Meetings

SALISBURY, Md., July 17 (AP)—A minister who had said he'd go on with a tent meeting in spite of an order from the mayor, gave up today and apparently planned to do his preaching in a church.

Mayor Rollie W. Hastings said there had been preaching at the tent "vilifying other churches, church goers and people in general" and he ordered the tent removed.

A man who said he was the Rev. Wallace Hager, 40, of Bluefield, W. Va., a member of the "Church of God," had said the tent services would go on tonight.

Later, without explaining the change in plans, Hager said plans for tonight's meeting were cancelled. There was an indication the meetings would be held, instead, in the Church of God-House of Prayer, listed by another minister as one of the sponsoring churches of the meeting.

The Rev. Leroy J. Howe of Salisbury, part time wholesale grocery salesman, who said he is pastor of the Evangelical Church of God in Cambridge, received the tent removal order from the mayor since he was the one granted the original $1 permit.

Howe had told the mayor it would be impossible to remove the tent immediately but that it could be taken down in a day or so and the mayor agreed to this.

Howe said Hager owns the 450-seat tent.

In a letter to Howe the mayor said "the character of statements being made by the preacher at the services being held in the tent are objectionable in that he is vilifying other churches, church goers and people in general." He said "complaints against continuance of these services have been made by the citizens of Salisbury."

The mayor told newsmen later he referred to Hager in his letter.

Howe said Hager is not "knocking churches, he's knocking the sin in churhces." He said Hager can "back up what he says in the Bible."

The services, which include guitar and piano music, were held in a tent just off the main street about eight blocks from the center of town.

Original plans called for the two-week tent meeting to wind up this Sunday and a sponsor said the next stop may be Carlisle, Pa.

Two Are Arrested In Fatal Stabbing

BALTIMORE, July 17 (AP)—Police late today charged two Baltimore men with murder in the fatal stabbing of Clyde E. Winston, 28-year-old Negro cab driver.

They were identified as Clarence Appleman, 21, a clerk, and Noel Corkran, 20, sheet metal worker.

Winston was found dying alongside his cab early today. There was $13 in his wallet, but his money bag in the cab was empty.

A nearby resident said he saw two men running away from the scene.

Winston was married and the father of four children.

Priest Is Found Slain, Missing For Two Days

KANSAS CITY, July 17 (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest who had been missing since Wednesday was found shot to death today on a bank of the Little Blue River east of here.

He was the Rev. Robert A. Hodges, 36, chaplain at the St. Joseph's Hospital. His car had been found earlier about a quarter of a mile away.

The body was identified by the Rev. William D. Baskett, vice-chancellor of the Kansas City Diocese.

Father Hodges had been shot in the right eye, but officers said they found no weapon in the area. His body was found lying face up on the bank of the stream.

He was dressed in sports clothes. Friends said he was fond of taking hikes. Clerical clothing was found in his car.

Man Is Killed In Auto Crash

ELKTON, Md., July 17 (AP)—One man was killed and seven other persons were injured tonight when two cars collided at the intersection of State Routes 273 and 280 at Fair Hill, Md., about 7 miles north of here.

Dead on arrival at Union Hospital here was Thomas Tyson, 174 E. Main St., Newark, Del.

Reserves Break Camp Today To Finish Training

CAMP PICKETT, Va., July 17 (AP) — Reservists of the 80th Infantry Division break camp tomorrow to return to their families and jobs. These citizen-soldiers from Virginia, Maryland and District of Columbia have just completed two weeks of intensive field training here at this huge military reservation.

Infantrymen, artillerymen, tankmen, and special troops have concentrated on developing their military skills which will keep them prepared to help meet a national emergency.

The past three days have been spent in the forward area under simulated combat conditions. During the day and night tactical operations, the infantry regiments participated in offensive defensive, and withdrawal problems. The artillery conducted service firing with fire adjustment by the aviation section of the division. In addition to the regular firing problems, the tanks served to support the infantry.

Included in the division were some 240 recruits who have received excellent basic training.

The morale of the troops has been unusually high, and weather conditions have been exceptionally favorable for training, officers said.

The "Blue Ridge" division is under the command of Brig. Gen. William M. Stokes of Lynchburg, Va. Gen. Stokes has given high praise to the manner in which the training has been conducted and the enthusiasm exhibited by the entire personnel of the division.

The division was given superior rating by higher headquarters for its training last year. This is the seventh tour of training for the division since World War II.

Maj. Gen. L. D. Carter, commanding general of the 2nd Army, was on the post today to inspect the division in the field.

26 Beauties Vie For Title In "Miss Universe" Contest

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 17 (AP) — Twenty - six international beauties, trying hard not to bite their fingernails, await the verdict of the judges who will pick Miss Universe tonight.

The contest arbiters selected 16 semi-finalists after last night's colorful preliminaries but withheld announcement. From 16, the field will be pared to five finalists. Miss Universe will be crowned between 1:30 and 2 a.m., EST, Saturday.

The winner and four runners-up will receive short-term movie contracts, with Miss Universe also getting an imported sports car, an expensive watch and other jewelry.

Speculation on the winner centered around a half dozen girls: Ayten Akyol, Turkey; Christiane Martel, France; Rita Stazi, Italy; Emita Arosemena, Panama; Kinuko Ito, Japan; and Miss United States, Myrna Hansen of Chicago.

The contest was so close that none of the girls appeared overly confident at final rehearsals today. Even Miss United States, with one victory to bolster her morale, said: "I'll be lucky to make the finals."

Miss Italy, franker than most, said: "If they judge on the body, I'll do all right."

There has been no criticism of Miss Italy's facial beauty, but she was an admitted standout in the bathing suit competition. The most buxom girl in the contest, she has measurements of 38, 24, 37 inches for bust, waist, hips.

State Crops Situation Becomes Critical With Lack Of Rainfall

[By The Associated Press]

Maryland farms are drying up and if it doesn't rain within a week the crop situation is going to be critical, an Associated Press survey of county agricultural agents showed today.

The long lack of rain has farmers really worried. And the weather forecaster was able to give them little promise of aid in the immediate future.

The first possibility of rain is showers next Tuesday or Wednesday.

No Rain For Six Weeks

There hasn't been rain generally in the state for 5½ weeks. The driest sections are in Central Maryland, the Dorchester-Wicomico section, some parts of Southern Maryland and extreme Western Maryland.

While there has been some loss, farmers generally believe that most of their crops can be saved by a good soaking if it comes within another week.

The hardest hit are the pasture lands which are brown and stunted. They are needed to feed dairy cattle and some farmers already have been forced to dig into their hay storage to supplement the nourishment.

Early corn also is being harmed by the drought. Some tomato fields and tobacco also are showing signs of the arid conditions, but those plants can take a lot of dry, hot weather.

Here are comments of county agricultural agents in a spot check of the state:

Frederick, Henry R. Shoemaker—"Serious, but not critical. Every day now that we don't get rain will cost money. If we do get a good soaking rain within the next week, the dollar damage will not be too great.

Corn Can Come Back

"The corn will come back quickly. Grass will come back quickly. Some dairymen have started feeding hay and grass silage because the cows cannot get enough to eat from the dried pastures. Luckily, most of them have a good supply of hay, but having to use it now increases production costs and might cause a shortage next winter.

Washington, M. K. Miller—"Certain corn fields are suffering beyond the point of recovery, particularly the early plantings. Alfalfa and pastures are very dry. Apples need rain and peaches soon will. Some farmers really are interested in irrigation systems today."

Calvert, Robert Hall—"So far, not too badly hurt. We have gone longer without rain. The main thing is tobacco and that can stand a lot of hot, dry weather. But by next week, some rain will really be needed."

Caroline, Francis Rogers—"The pastures in most sections are in pretty bad shape. If it rains within a couple of days, the corn won't be hurt. Nor will the cucumbers, tomatoes and lima beans. Otherwise, there will be considerable damage."

Crops Not Too Bad

Queen Anne's, J. W. Eby—"Our crops are not too badly affected at the present time. Corn is beginning to curl quite a bit. The second hay crop is short and very bad. Tomatoes aren't too bad yet."

Somerset, C. Z. Keller—"It's not too serious at present. We have had some local showers recently. The tomatoes are beginning to show a little effect, although they can stand it fairly well. Corn has been hurt somewhat. The pastures are short."

Worcester, R. T. Grant—"Everything needs more rain. If it goes another week or 10 days, the damage could be heavy. In a number of places, the corn's twisting and the soybeans wilting. Some spots have had showers. Tomatoes need rain, but generally are doing all right. A root soaking rain is needed and soybeans and corn would come back. Potatoes are being harvested."

The lack of rain has caused a growing number of towns to start conserving water, although there is no serious shortage yet. Baltimore Frederick, and Thurmont have banned sprinkling laws and washing cars between 4 p.m. and 10 p.m. Mount Airy limited use to household necessities.

Shaulis Pleads His Innocence

ANNAPOLIS, July 17 (AP) — Francis Shaulis Jr., quietly asserting his innocence, today was ordered to stand trial Aug. 10 for the murder of his wife.

The date was set after the 31-year-old bricklayer, father of five boys, pleaded innocent in Anne Arundel County Circuit Court.

His arraignment before Judge Benjamin Michaelson was brief. Speaking hardly above a whisper, Shaulis said he had seen the charge leveled against him and then repeated the plea he had made at an earlier magistrate's hearing.

He was taken back to the county jail, where he has been imprisoned since turning himself in to police at Hagerstown June 13. Authorities had undertaken an intensive search for the former Army Ranger after finding the body of his 27-year-old wife at their Harundale home the previous afternoon.

With the five youngsters in the car, Shaulis unexpectedly drove up to the home of his wife's cousin in Hagerstown.

The woman and police quoted him as saying the shooting was accidental. They said he told of rousing the boys and fleeing in fright.

State Swelters Under Blistering Record Hot Spell

By The Associated Press

Maryland sweltered under a blistering heat wave Friday and the Weather Bureau said the hot spell which tied record temperatures in Baltimore and Hagerstown would continue into the weekend.

A blazing sun sent the mercury soaring to 100 degrees at Friendship International Airport near Baltimore Friday, matching a 53-year-old record for the date.

The thermometer read 97 in downtown Baltimore.

The Keedysville weather station near Hagerstown reported a blistering 105, the highest since the same reading was recorded July 6, 1949.

Cards Tell Tale

TORONTO, July 17 (AP) —There was a burglary here last night at the scene of which were found 35 playing cards, including both jokers. Picked up later, a man named Brock Johnson had 19 playing cards in his jacket. So they booked him.

MISS UNITED STATES—Smiling prettily after winning the title of Miss United States in the Miss Universe contest at Long Beach, Calif., Miss Myrna Hansen, 19, a blonde from Chicago, vied for the coveted title in finals last night.

Couple Loses Second Son

HAGERSTOWN, July 17 (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Blevins of near Mauginsville have been notified they have lost a second son in the Korean war.

He was 19-year-old PFC H. K. Blevins, missing in action since Dec. 2., 1950. A brother, Lonnie Blevins, 20, was killed Jan. 25, 1951. A third son, Archie, is in the Army in Germany.

A telegram yesterday from the Army's Quartermaster General in Washington advised the parents that "several men recently repatriated following imprisonment have informed my office that your son . . . died of malnutrition shortly after he was captured."

The quartermaster said "the date of death" was not definitely known but was set at Jan. 31, 1951.

Belgium House To Take Recess

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 17 (AP) — The House of Representatives spurned government recommendations today and voted to take its summer recess before debating and voting on the European Defense Community Treaty.

This means the treaty, which has won approval of a special House committee, cannot be ratified in this country before fall. Only West Germany has ratified the pact.

City Requests Minister Quit Tent Meetings

SALISBURY, Md., July 17 (AP)—A minister who had said he'd go on with a tent meeting in spite of an order from the mayor, gave up today and apparently planned to do his preaching in a church.

Mayor Rollie W. Hastings said there had been preaching at the tent "vilifying other churches, church goers and people in general" and he ordered the tent removed.

A man who said he was the Rev. Wallace Hager, 40, of Bluefield, W. Va., a member of the "Church of God," had said the tent services would go on tonight.

Later, without explaining the change in plans, Hager said plans for tonight's meeting were cancelled. There was an indication the meetings would be held, instead, in the Church of God-House of Prayer, listed by another minister as one of the sponsoring churches of the meeting.

The Rev. Leroy J. Howe of Salisbury, part time wholesale grocery salesman, who said he is pastor of the Evangelical Church of God in Cambridge, received the tent removal order from the mayor since he was the one granted the original $1 permit.

Howe had told the mayor it would be impossible to remove the tent immediately but that it could be taken down in a day or so and the mayor agreed to this.

Howe said Hager owns the 450-seat tent.

In a letter to Howe the mayor said "the character of statements being made by the preacher at the services being held in the tent are objectionable in that he is vilifying other churches, church goers and people in general." He said "complaints against continuance of these services have been made by the citizens of Salisbury."

The mayor told newsmen later he referred to Hager in his letter.

Howe said Hager is not "knocking churches, he's knocking the sin in churhces." He said Hager can "back up what he says in the Bible."

The services, which include guitar and piano music, were held in a tent just off the main street about eight blocks from the center of town.

Original plans called for the two-week tent meeting to wind up this Sunday and a sponsor said the next stop may be Carlisle, Pa.

Two Are Arrested In Fatal Stabbing

BALTIMORE, July 17 (AP)—Police late today charged two Baltimore men with murder in the fatal stabbing of Clyde E. Winston, 28-year-old Negro cab driver.

They were identified as Clarence Appleman, 21, a clerk, and Noel Corkran, 20, sheet metal worker.

Winston was found dying alongside his cab early today. There was $13 in his wallet, but his money bag in the cab was empty.

A nearby resident said he saw two men running away from the scene.

Winston was married and the father of four children.

Priest Is Found Slain, Missing For Two Days

KANSAS CITY, July 17 (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest who had been missing since Wednesday was found shot to death today on a bank of the Little Blue River east of here.

He was the Rev. Robert A. Hodges, 36, chaplain at the St. Joseph's Hospital. His car had been found earlier about a quarter of a mile away.

The body was identified by the Rev. William D. Baskett, vice-chancellor of the Kansas City Diocese.

Father Hodges had been shot in the right eye, but officers said they found no weapon in the area. His body was found lying face up on the bank of the stream.

He was dressed in sports clothes. Friends said he was fond of taking hikes. Clerical clothing was found in his car.

Man Is Killed In Auto Crash

ELKTON, Md., July 17 (AP)—One man was killed and seven other persons were injured tonight when two cars collided at the intersection of State Routes 273 and 280 at Fair Hill, Md., about 7 miles north of here.

Dead on arrival at Union Hospital here was Thomas Tyson, 174 E. Main St., Newark, Del.

Reserves Break Camp Today To Finish Training

CAMP PICKETT, Va., July 17 (AP) — Reservists of the 80th Infantry Division break camp tomorrow to return to their families and jobs. These citizen-soldiers from Virginia, Maryland and District of Columbia have just completed two weeks of intensive field training here at this huge military reservation.

Infantrymen, artillerymen, tankmen, and special troops have concentrated on developing their military skills which will keep them prepared to help meet a national emergency.

The past three days have been spent in the forward area under similated combat conditions. During the day and night tactical operations, the infantry regiments participated in offensive defensive, and withdrawal problems. The artillery conducted service firing with fire adjustment by the aviation section of the division. In addition to the regular firing problems, the tanks served to support the infantry.

Included in the division were some 240 recruits who have received excellent basic training.

The morale of the troops has been unusually high, and weather conditions have been exceptionally favorable for training, officers said.

The "Blue Ridge" division is under the command of Brig. Gen. William M. Stokes of Lynchburg, Va. Gen. Stokes has given high praise to the manner in which the training has been conducted and the enthusiasm exhibited by the entire personnel of the division.

The division was given superior rating by higher headquarters for its training last year. This is the seventh tour of training for the division since World War II.

Maj. Gen. L. D. Carter, commanding general of the 2nd Army, was on the post today to inspect the division in the field.

26 Beauties Vie For Title In "Miss Universe" Contest

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 17 (AP) — Twenty - six international beauties, trying hard not to bite their fingernails, await the verdict of the judges who will pick Miss Universe tonight.

The contest arbiters selected 16 semi-finalists after last night's colorful preliminaries but withheld announcement. From 16, the field will be pared to five finalists. Miss Universe will be crowned between 1:30 and 2 a.m., EST, Saturday.

The winner and four runners-up will receive short-term movie contracts, with Miss Universe also getting an imported sports car, an expensive watch and other jewelry.

Speculation on the winner centered around a half dozen girls: Ayten Akyol, Turkey; Christiane Martel, France; Rita Stazi, Italy; Emita Arosemena, Panama; Kinuko Ito, Japan; and Miss United States, Myrna Hansen of Chicago.

The contest was so close that none of the girls appeared overly confident at final rehearsals today. Even Miss United States, with one victory to bolster her morale, said: "I'll be lucky to make the finals."

Miss Italy, franker than most, said: "If they judge on the body, I'll do all right."

There has been no criticism of Miss Italy's facial beauty, but she was an admitted standout in the bathing suit competition. The most buxom girl in the contest, she has measurements of 38, 24, 37 inches for bust, waist, hips.

National Debt Reaches Record Peacetime High $272,361,259,803

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The Treasury today added nearly six billion dollars to the national debt, bringing it to a peacetime record high of $272,361,259,803.91.

That is about $1,700 for every man, woman and child in the country.

The boost made it appear likely that Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey will have to ask Congress, before the present session ends, to increase the 275 billion dollar ceiling set by law on the national debt.

However, Humphrey, in a statement announcing the increase, did not refer to the ceiling.

The debt increase resulted from a new borrowing of more than $5,900,000,000. This was in the form of an issue of 2½ per cent "tax anticipation certificates" offered to investors on July 6.

Humphrey's statement noted the new total debt is the "highest in history outside of World War II." He said it reflects "the situation which the spending program of the past few years have produced."

"This administration is determined to get government spending under control so that this trend of increasing deficits and increasing public debt will be checked," he said.

"We have already cut 8½ billion dollars from the budget (appropriation) proposed by the previous administration, and in fiscal 1954 we shall spend at least 4½ billion dollars less than was previously planned."

The highest debt ever rolled up by the government was 279 billion dollars in February, 1946, reflecting wartime spending.

By the time of Korean hostilities in mid-1950, the debt was 257 billion, an increase of six billion from the postwar low of 251 billion in April, 1949.

Jane Withers Ill, Ailment Unknown

LOS ANGELES, July 17 (AP) — Actress Jane Withers is in St. Vincent's Hospital today undergoing tests for an ailment as yet undiagnosed.

The former child star was hit a few days ago by muscular pains which her mother said caused paralysis of her legs and arms. She was hospitalized last night when her condition took a turn for the worse.

Dr. Louis Boonshaft, Miss Withers' stepfather, says he "won't know for a couple of days what the trouble is. She is rundown, exhausted and very weak. There is apparently a disturbance in her blood."

NEW DELHI, India, July 17 (AP)—Sixty workers were drowned today in swirling currents which overturned a ferryboat in the Sutlej River, reports reaching here tonight said.

Reject Extra Tax Month

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee today tentatively rejected a proposal to give some 50 million individual taxpayers an extra month to file returns and make income tax payments.

The committee, in a closed session, was reported to have turned down a bill by Rep. Curtis (R-Neb) extending the income tax return deadline from the traditional March 15 to April 15.

The plan was left out of a far-ranging omnibus tax bill being prepared for a rush through Congress just before scheduled adjournment in two weeks.

The omnibus bill, tentatively approved today, wraps up 19 separate tax measures, mostly non-controversial, a majority of them aimed at removing inequities in present laws and extending expiring provisions. It is not the general tax overhaul planned for next year.

One section would repeal present laws granting a complete exemption on income earned by U. S. citizens during any 18-month period in which they spend 17 months abroad. Some congressmen have complained that under the current law high paid movie stars have taken their operations abroad to avoid taxes.

It is believed that the first movable metal type for printing was cast in Korea in 1403.

Blind Man Aids 60-Year-Old To Escape Flames

CLAREMONT, N. H., July 17 (AP) — A blind man and an unidentified passerby smashed through an apartment door today and crawled through flames to rescue a 60-year-old man who had collapsed inside.

William Gilman, the blind man, is also credited with saving 10 other persons from injury or death in the two upstairs apartments of a 3-apartment building by shouting warnings to them.

Led from the flames was John Brady, who told firefighters he had attempted to escape but was partially overcome by smoke.

Awakened by the heat, Gilman related he heard the feeble cries of the trapped man and came to his aid.

New Casualty List

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 110 Korean War casualties in a new list (No. 857) that included 11 killed, 93 wounded, one missing and five injured.

20,000 Housing Units Planned

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—A Senate-House conference committee revived the public housing program today, recommending that 20,000 low-cost units be started in the current fiscal year.

This is 15,000 less than President Eisenhower asked for, but it probably will insure continuance of the program for another 12 months at least.

The House had voted to close down the program, under which the federal government assists states and cities in providing housing for low-income families. Shutting off all further loans and contributions, the House claimed, would save 795 million dollars.

In the Senate, however, Sen. Taft of Ohio, then active as majority leader, led a fight to restore the housing funds. The Senate approved starts for 35,000 units, the same number authorized for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The compromise was worked out behind closed doors, but three senators confirmed that an agreement had been reached. Both the House and Senate must still approve the compromise.

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) has said that if the Senate went along with the House for an end of the program it would prevent the building of about 5,000 new units in St. Louis and about 1,300 planned for Kansas City.

Probe Finds Mail Flaws

DENVER, July 17 (AP)—Assistant Postmaster General John C. Allen said today a nationwide investigation has shown "some extensive irregularities" in the transport of U. S. mail.

He said a study of the situation showed the irregularities varied "tremendously — some of minor nature and other quite serious."

Allen, in charge of post office transportation, said the investigation centered in the Pittsburgh area concerned the abandonment of runs— "where the mail clerk left the car before the end of his tour of duty."

Allen said filing of charges in some cases was doubtful. He emphasized the abandonment procedure "had been going on for 20 years or longer"and personnel concerned were "loyal career men."

By the time of Korean hostilities in mid-1950, the debt was 257 billion, an increase of six billion from the postwar low of 251 billion in April, 1949.

Jane Withers Ill, Ailment Unknown

LOS ANGELES, July 17 (AP) — Actress Jane Withers is in St. Vincent's Hospital today undergoing tests for an ailment as yet undiagnosed.

The former child star was hit a few days ago by muscular pains which her mother said caused paralysis of her legs and arms. She was hospitalized last night when her condition took a turn for the worse.

Dr. Louis Boonshaft, Miss Withers' stepfather, says he "won't know for a couple of days what the trouble is. She is rundown, exhausted and very weak. There is apparently a disturbance in her blood."

NEW DELHI, India, July 17 (AP)—Sixty workers were drowned today in swirling currents which overturned a ferryboat in the Sutlej River, reports reaching here tonight said.

Reject Extra Tax Month

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee today tentatively rejected a proposal to give some 50 million individual taxpayers an extra month to file returns and make income tax payments.

The committee, in a closed session, was reported to have turned down a bill by Rep. Curtis (R-Neb) extending the income tax return deadline from the traditional March 15 to April 15.

The plan was left out of a far-ranging omnibus tax bill being prepared for a rush through Congress just before scheduled adjournment in two weeks.

The omnibus bill, tentatively approved today, wraps up 19 separate tax measures, mostly non-controversial, a majority of them aimed at removing inequities in present laws and extending expiring provisions. It is not the general tax overhaul planned for next year.

One section would repeal present laws granting a complete exemption on income earned by U. S. citizens during any 18-month period in which they spend 17 months abroad. Some congressmen have complained that under the current law high paid movie stars have taken their operations abroad to avoid taxes.

It is believed that the first movable metal type for printing was cast in Korea in 1403.

Blind Man Aids 60-Year-Old To Escape Flames

CLAREMONT, N. H., July 17 (AP) — A blind man and an unidentified passerby smashed through an apartment door today and crawled through flames to rescue a 60-year-old man who had collapsed inside.

William Gilman, the blind man, is also credited with saving 10 other persons from injury or death in the two upstairs apartments of a 3-apartment building by shouting warnings to them.

Led from the flames was John Brady, who told firefighters he had attempted to escape but was partially overcome by smoke.

Awakened by the heat, Gilman related he heard the feeble cries of the trapped man and came to his aid.

New Casualty List

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 110 Korean War casualties in a new list (No. 857) that included 11 killed, 93 wounded, one missing and five injured.

20,000 Housing Units Planned

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—A Senate-House conference committee revived the public housing program today, recommending that 20,000 low-cost units be started in the current fiscal year.

This is 15,000 less than President Eisenhower asked for, but it probably will insure continuance of the program for another 12 months at least.

The House had voted to close down the program, under which the federal government assists states and cities in providing housing for low-income families. Shutting off all further loans and contributions, the House claimed, would save 795 million dollars.

In the Senate, however, Sen. Taft of Ohio, then active as majority leader, led a fight to restore the housing funds. The Senate approved starts for 35,000 units, the same number authorized for the fiscal year which ended June 30.

The compromise was worked out behind closed doors, but three senators confirmed that an agreement had been reached. Both the House and Senate must still approve the compromise.

Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) has said that if the Senate went along with the House for an end of the program it would prevent the building of about 5,000 new units in St. Louis and about 1,300 planned for Kansas City.

Probe Finds Mail Flaws

DENVER, July 17 (AP)—Assistant Postmaster General John C. Allen said today a nationwide investigation has shown "some extensive irregularities" in the transport of U. S. mail.

He said a study of the situation showed the irregularities varied "tremendously — some of minor nature and other quite serious."

Allen, in charge of post office transportation, said the investigation centered in the Pittsburgh area concerned the abandonment of runs— "where the mail clerk left the car before the end of his tour of duty."

Allen said filing of charges in some cases was doubtful. He emphasized the abandonment procedure "had been going on for 20 years or longer" and personnel concerned were "loyal career men."

ANTS

There's a new and better way to kill ants. It's called Roach Filmz. When applied to any surface with the built-in cap-applicator, it leaves a hard, dry, clean, invisible film. The film can't harm or soil any surface; but, when ants touch it, their legs become paralyzed and they die in two hours. A single application remains effective for months. You never see it, but it sure does get rid of ants and roaches! Roach Filmz is available at ROSENBAUM'S

Alaska Blowoffs

With three and perhaps more peaks in Alaska's Aleutian range blowing their tops, and with unlooked for underwater shocks occurring in mid-Atlantic, the non-geologist can hardly be blamed for asking what's cooking.

Air Force pilots at Anchorage, Alaska, have been the best sources of information about the series of eruptions in the continent's northwestern corner. Two or more peaks, about 11,000 feet high, literally blew up with a crashing roar, plus plenty of smoke and flame. A pilot said the smoke pall, rising to 50,000 feet, reminded him of the pillar that follows an atomic blast.

Anchorage had a noon blackout from the smoke which drifted easterly from the site of the eruptions. Air Force installations nearby reported almost all flights halted as ash clogged runways and cut visibility to a minimum.

The Atlantic quake's arrival at approximately the same time was probably coincidence, although a folding or slippage of opposed faces of rock may have been the unrelated cause of both phenomena. It is entirely possible that the Alaska eruptions are linked to the same ground tremors which caused death and destructions in California last year. The Aleutian peaks and the California Sierras are part of the same giant volcanic belt which encircles the whole Pacific Ocean basin.

This belt, on the eastern side of the Pacific, extends all the way from Cape Horn to Alaska. The location of the present volcanic activity is at a point where the volcanic belt noted above makes a turn to the westward, along the Aleutian chain, then southwest and south to the Kamchatka Peninsula and Japan.

Up to this point there has been little, if any, loss of life in the Alaskan blowoff, and damage to man-made installations appear to entail more a dirty cleanup job than anything else. But such occurrences are enough to shake the average reader out of his midsummer torpor.

While it may be the general impression that man, through his engineering and scientific accomplishments, has become to a large extent the boss of all he surveys, this premise unfortunately turns out to be superficial when nature decides to enter the act.

Texas Isn't Bragging

In the six-state map of the southwestern drought, Texas is right out there in front, big as you please. But Texans aren't happy. The Texans themselves may be making a wry change in one of their rare lapses into modesty. They always used to say, "Texas is the place where you can go farthest and see less than anywhere else." Now they can insert the word "water" after the word "less."

A timely publication at this point is the Reclamation Bureau's survey of the Texas water problem. After three years of study, the bureau has some suggestions that run into more than a billion dollars in public works. (Doubtless the idea is for the federal government to do most of the financing). We'll touch on the plans in a moment.

The booming oil, chemical, and other industries plus irrigation of farmland, have increased use of water in Texas by 150 per cent since 1940. The study says that at the present rate of growth the water supply will have to be doubled to quintupled for differing sections of the state. If it is not, Texas is bound to find itself in a straitjacket from now on, while the water table drops steadily.

The proposed remedy? For the Panhandle, an $80,000,000 aqueduct from the headwaters of the Canadian River near Amarillo. For the lower Rio Grande area (Brownsville and vicinity) a great "water supply canal" cutting across all the rivers flowing through the wet (eastern) part of Texas, thus saving for arid regions the surplus rainfall that now flows into the Gulf of Mexico.

The report figures this one project would raise the area's income from $3,000,000,000 to over $8,000,000,000. If that's so, and if Texas has the oomph we've been led to think it has—perhaps the people there could work out a way to finance themselves into their own security.

Million Dollar Legs

One must be a veritable oldster to remember at her apogee Frankie Bailey, dead in Los Angeles at the age of 94, who was known to the theatrical profession and its patrons as the original "girl with the million dollar legs."

Miss Bailey's rise to what for her was fame was contemporary with municipal admonitions everywhere not to spit on the sidewalk. For ladies, who did not have legs so far as public awareness was concerned, wore skirts with two-inch trains upon the street, which were in imminent danger of bringing dread tuberculosis germs into their homes.

The mores do change—some of them, though others are firmly imbedded—and the aesthetic appeal of the well modulated feminine leg will not be denied, as witness Miss Every State, Miss Soda Pop, Miss Universe and fair bathers at every beach. A rather cynical gentleman remarked the other day that "million dollar legs now are a dime a dozen."

Certainly Miss Bailey would have no monopoly today. And in private yards and even on suburban streets, it is evident that there are other "short shorts" than the aspiring writer mails to magazines.

More Butter?

Reports of widespread hunger in East Europe and in parts of Russia may force a fundamental change in Soviet policy that could be beneficial to the West, but at the moment this is only a possibility.

A recent replacement of the premier of Hungary was followed by cancellation of fines on farmers for failure to deliver crops to the state. In Hungary and some of the other satellites there seems to be lessened emphasis on heavy industrial production for war and a stepping up of the production of consumer goods.

The United States has been producing weapons with little visible disturbance to consumer goods industries, except a continuation of the inflationary spiral. In the satellites—and perhaps in Russia as well—living standards are extremely low.

Russia has been making progress in weapons procurement by denying its people the necessities. If the Soviet tyrants are now forced to give the people what they need, Soviet military strength might suffer.

How To Keep Well

"Breaking Out" After Sun Exposure

Not every one can tolerate the sun. Some individuals never tan and they have learned through experience not to expose themselves for more than a few minutes at a time. They buy the biggest sun hats, walk on the shady side of the street, and rely heavily upon the latest protective sun creams and lotions.

However, their troubles are insignificant compared with those of persons who are sensitive to ultra-violet rays. They develop eczema, hives, or different types of dermatitis. In solar eczema, for example, the victim feels a burning and stinging sensation as soon as the skin is exposed on the first clear day of the year. The upper rims of the ears, the cheeks, lower lip, the backs of the hands, and the arms bear the brunt. Unless the parts are protected they become red and swollen, followed by blister formation such as occurs with ordinary sunburn. When the blisters rupture, however, the escaping fluid tries to form crusts. Within a few days the acute reaction subsides unless exposure is repeated. Most sufferers go through several episodes before they associate cause and effect but thereafter they protect themselves in every possible way. This is necessary to prevent scarring.

In solar urticaria, the process is essentially the same except that hives will develop, instead of blisters. The lesions itch and burn and occasionally there is seepage with crust formation. The same areas on the hands and face are involved. In girls and boys the outbreak may persist, especially on the ears, nose, cheeks, and hands. No one knows why, but the condition has a tendency to improve after adolescence.

Berlock dermatitis is the name of the eruption that arises on sensitive skin when the use of perfume is combined with exposure to the sun. Apparently one of the ingredients, possibly bergamot oil, causes hypersensitivity to ultra-violet light. Perspiration also may play a role. Wherever perfume is applied, the areas become discolored and the patches may last several months before fading.

During the war considerable research was done on sun tan lotions in an effort to find an effective protective product. Several were discovered and one, para-aminobenzoic acid, is capable of absorbing all sunburn rays. It is nontoxic, nonirritating, and does not change even after intense irradiation. This chemical is now the active ingredient in many preparations of this type. The antihistaminic drugs also have been helpful. Pyribenzamine cream, for example, absorbs the rays, thereby preventing them from reaching the skin. It also has been reported that these remedies in tablet form discourage development of redness.

PAIN IN THE FACE

J. E. writes: Is there any effective medical treatment of tic douloureux?

REPLY

Pain killing drugs have a temporary effect on this type of facial neuralgia. Occasionally vitamin B. (thiamin chloride), is helpful. But in severe and projected cases it is necessary to deaden the affected nerve through an injection of alcohol or to sever the nerve surgically.

SURGERY IN BRONCHIECTASIS

L. S. writes: Is there any cure for bronchiectasis besides surgery?

REPLY

None to my knowledge. In this condition the bronchi are overstretched and thickened by scar tissue. The damage is permanent and medicine like the antibiotics and newer enzymes offer only temporary relief. Surgery is advised as a last resort and usually is recommended only when bronchiectasis is confined to one or two lobes of the lungs.

ANGINAL PAIN

J. H. writes: Does angina pectoris show on an electrocardiogram?

REPLY

Angina pectoris occurs with and without electrocardiographic changes. In other words, this test is not necessary to make the diagnosis. Much more suggestive is the familiar story of developing chest pain on exertion which disappears after a few moments of rest.

FLUID ACCUMULATION

W. F. writes: Why do the body tissues fill up with water and what can be done about it?

REPLY

This condition, known to the layman as dropsy and to the scientist as edema, occurs in certain forms of heart and kidney disorders. Puffiness also is noted in glandular disturbances such as thyroid deficiency as well as in malnutrition, cirrhosis of the liver, and venous disorders. Treatment depends upon the cause of the retention of fluids and is too long a story to tell in a few words.

WAKEFUL CHILDREN

Mrs. W. writes: Do children ever suffer from insomnia?

REPLY

Not in the true sense of the word; they are unwilling rather than unable to go to sleep.

Sen. Ferguson Worries That Gen. Vandenberg Will Run Against Him; Secretary Dulles Says Wrong Thing Again; Foreign Trout May Have To Be Marked

WASHINGTON — GOP Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, who faces a tough re-election fight next year, is so jittery over Harry Truman's talk with Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg urging him to run for the Senate in Michigan, that he summoned Gen. Nate Twining, Vandenberg's successor as Air Force chief of staff, up to Capitol Hill to a secret luncheon. He then proceeded to pressure him to discredit Gen. Vandenberg's testimony regarding the Air Force budget.

Ferguson wanted Twining to testify that Vandenberg had exaggerated budget Air Force needs and had been insubordinate to his superior, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

Twining refused. Whereupon Senator Ferguson called a Senate hearing which in effect put Twining on the spot. He had to testify. Subordinates at the Pentagon advised Twining that the wisest course was for him to get along with the Senate and disavow Gen. Vandenberg.

In the end, however, Twining took a middle course, told senators that, while the Air Force needed the money, it could probably get along on Secretary Wilson's proposed budget.

Dulles Keeps Talking

Secretary of State Dulles just can't seem to get away from saying the wrong thing at the wrong time.

The other day Robert D. Stuart, head of the Quaker Oats Company, was being sworn in as ambassador to Canada. The ceremony took place in Dulles' office with newsmen and photographers present, including, of course, the newsmen whose reports reach various foreign countries.

"Mr. Ambassador," said Dulles, making a brief speech to Stuart, "it seems to me that I have participated in quite a few ceremonies for new ambassadors lately. And it gives me great pleasure to swear in a man who is going to a decent country."

"Truth-For-Trout" Act

Congress has discovered a new way to make sure its constituents are kept happy. A bill recently passed by the Senate, but still in committee in the House, would make it a law that a fish fancier know from whence his trout cometh.

All trout imported into the United States, under this bill must be conspicuously labeled as to the country of origin. Furthermore, all restaurants must carry the country or origin on their menus.

Purpose of the law is to prevent imported trout from being falsely represented as "Brook Trout," or "Rocky Mountain Trout." Western trout farmers who raise trout commercially for Eastern markets maintain their product is superior to imported trout, yet imported trout sells for about 40 cents a pound less than its domestic brother.

Trout farmers from Mamie's free and unfettered state of Colorado are among the most active lobbyists for the "trout-labelling" act. However, this is going to cause problems for Mamie's husband's budget and for his policy of unfettered business. For the Pure Food and Drug people, who will have to enforce the act, make this practical point. Only $979,000 worth of trout was imported into this country last year. Yet to make sure that none of the 525,000 restaurants of the nation misrepresented their trout on their menus will cost half a million dollars.

This money has not been included in Ike's already overtaxed budget. Even so, trout farmers claim that, unlike Romeo's rose, a trout by any other name would not taste as sweet.

NOTE — About two million pounds of trout are imported annually. Importers of 700,000,000 pounds of other kinds of fish, Canadian mackerel, Portuguese sardines, and Norwegian herring, are wondering whether their fish will soon have to be stamped too.

Unfettered Gas Rates

It has gone unnoticed, but the natural gas lobby is pushing legislation through Congress that will virtually wipe out the federal government's authority to regulate natural gas rates. This will boost the housewives' cooking and heating bill by billions.

What is even more shocking, however, is that the Federal Power Commission is actually helping to put itself out of business. Under new Republican management, the commission has notified Congress that it approves "in theory" the legislation that would strip its authority over natural gas rates.

Specifically, the new legislation would abolish the commission's authority to regulate the wholesale price of natural gas sold by pipeline companies at state borders. This goes much further than the Kerr Bill, which would have deprived the commission of its authority over natural gas prices at the wellhead. The Kerr bill was vetoed by President Truman, despite his friendship for Senator Kerr of Oklahoma, its author, and many Republicans, coming from gas-consuming states in the North, voted to uphold his veto.

However, the natural gas lobby has now got three old friends to carry the ball in Congress—Representatives Cal Hinshaw of California, John Beamer of Indiana, both Republicans, and Oren Harris of Arkansas, a Democrat. They have introduced three identical bills, which would practically put the housewives at the mercy of the gas companies.

The natural gas lobby also seems to be dictating policy to the Federal Power Commission, which is supposed to be the public's watchdog over the gas companies. For the commission seems strangely willing to relinquish most of its rate-making authority and allow the companies free reign. This abdiction of authority was expressed by new GOP general counsel, Willard Gatchell, who told the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee that his agency approved the Hinshaw-Beamer-Harris bills "in theory."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Printed Word

When I lived in China, it was a common sight to see a begging monk walk the streets with a stick at the end of which was a nail. He used this stick to pick up every scrap of printed paper, which he put in a bag. What he did with these useless scraps of paper, plucked out of the filth of the streets, I do not know. They were probably put in book cemeteries of which there are many in Asia. In such a country as China, perhaps they are eaten by mice and rats.

The Genizah of Cairo and other book cemeteries in Egypt and Asia Minor have proved very valuable, particularly as regards the Bible and the writings of the early Christians. Dr. Solomon Schechter, late president of the Jewish Theological Seminary, achieved an outstanding reputation for his work among these rescued manuscripts.

Of course, in those ancient days, books were written on parchment, papyrus, and even leather. Some of the manuscripts of parts of the Bible recently found in a cave in Jordan are on leather. Books were few, written slowly and thoughtfully, and their reproduction was laborious and a task of love.

In recent years, books rain upon us to keep the presses running and the overhead low. Many of these books, particularly the paper editions that can be bought in every drug and stationery store and even in automatic vending machines, are not usually works of scholarship nor can they be classed exactly as literature. They are commercial products in a mass production medium.

The plethora of detective stories, crime novels, all of a kind, written often in harsh language unusual among decent people, forces upon us the problem of how to keep them from young children. The sex stories are atrocities of the printed word. I fear I am as guilty as President Eisenhower of reading detective stories occasionally. When Chic Sales' out-houses were the fashion, they could, after being read, be used as a substitute for the Sears catalogue. That use is not for our generation.

I heard a publisher recently say in an awed voice that no book should be burned. I immediately thought of my vast collection of books on China. Unfortunately for my peace of mind, I purchase every book that comes on the market dealing with China. During the past 20 years, most of them have been badly done, journalistic efforts of a propagandistic nature. As I weed them out, I put them in the attic of a garage. My son uses part of that attic for other purposes and he has now issued an ultimatum that my weeded-out books are encroaching on his domain.

So I have been going through this stuff to see what I can contribute to a small library. Some of these books I would not pass on to a blind man. So what shall I do with them? Of course, I shall use them as wastepaper to help build the fire in my barbecue. In some of them, there is not a word of truth and their only value is as paper.

I recently tried to sell a lot of this stuff and piles of old magazines and newspapers to a junk dealer. He would not touch them up here in the hills unless I paid him to cart them away. He said the price of wastepaper was so low that it would not pay gasoline charges. I did not investigate. Maybe he was trying to get a couple of dollars out of me, which I could use for cigars to better purpose.

So, some day I shall make a bonfire of all this stuff, including some of my own ancient manuscripts which represent hours of conceit and feeding the ego. Perhaps I shall not make a bonfire, but bury the stuff in the woods to let nature take its course. My farmer, however, tells me that paper, printed or unprinted, does not make fertilizer.

The great excitement over book burning is a fraud. Government departments and other large organizations use a shredding machine to cut up useless papers. Is it more moral to shred than to burn? I wonder what Doubleday has done with the withdrawn 5,000 copies of Jowitt's book on Alger Hiss? Did they shred or burn the copies? Or are they keeping them as a monument to bad judgment?

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, Republican, seems to have won his main point in his skirmish with the International Information Administration of the Department of State about books in overseas libraries, though one would hardly guess it from a reading of most of the dispatches out of Washington.

An important part of the text of the State Department's directive of instructions to the custodians of its libraries overseas was not generally printed. The key point in the controversy has been whether there will be permitted on government library shelves books written by avowed Communists or by persons who — citing the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination—refuse to answer questions before congressional investigating committees. Here is the full text of the paragraph as issued by the Department of State on the afternoon of July 15:

What McCarthy Wanted

Works of avowed Communists, persons convicted of crimes involving a threat to the security of the United States, or persons who publicly refuse to answer questions of congressional committees regarding their connections with the Communist movement, shall not be used, even if their content is unobjectionable, unless it is determined that a particular item is clearly useful for the special purposes of the program. Application of this rule to authors who refuse to testify does not mean that they are presumed to be Communists or Communist sympathizers, but simply reflects the fact that such action by an author normally gives him a public reputation which raises serious questions as to the usefulness of his books in the program. This paragraph does not apply to anthologies, other compilations, and periodicals which only incidentally include material written by persons described above, if the writers included in the entire publication are predominantly non-Communist."

That's exactly what Senator McCarthy argued for when he said it was ridiculous to put on the shelves of government libraries abroad books by known Communists or by persons who refused to answer questions, claiming immunity under the Fifth Amendment.

The press instead played up some vague remarks in the lengthy statement issued on Wednesday of this week by the director of the International Information Administration decrying the attacks on the government libraries and its program of information abroad.

Unfortunately, there are some contradictions as between the words of the directive quoted above and the action reported by the International Information Administration as having been taken in one instance under the directive. For, after revealing that "the removal of all works of persons refusing to testify as to Communist affiliations" was ordered on April 23, 1953, and after noting also that on May 13 a message was sent giving specific names and ordering that no books be restored pending a re-examination, an exception was made in the case of Dashiell Hammett. The State Department's statement of July 15 says: "Instructions accompanying the new directive authorize restoration of books by Dashiell Hammett."

Violated Department Rule

This action is inexplicable. It violates the State Department's own rule, because the author in question certainly now has a reputation not only for refusing to answer a congressional committee but for refusing to answer the questions of a court. He served a six-month sentence in jail, and the Supreme Court of the United States affirmed a lower court ruling which declared that his claim to immunity had no legal or factual basis. Hammett was a chairman of a bail fund which provided bond money for Communists. When some of them, including Gerhard Eisler, escaped and the court wanted Hammett to identify the bail fund records and the minutes of his organization, he refused to do so on the ground that it would be self-incriminating.

It so happens that Hammett writes detective stories, and it stretches the law to say that the overseas libraries are compelled to spend American taxpayers' money to furnish any entertainment or fiction books to foreign readers.

One explanation for the exception in Hammett's case is that President Eisenhower made a slip at a press conference and declared that Hammett's books must have been removed by somebody who was frightened. Perhaps the bureaucracy in the State Department, feeling that it must uphold a President's mistakes even if it jeopardizes the integrity of the department's own directive, decided to make an exception and let Hammett' books be restored. It certainly doesn't put the President in a good light to assume that he would want any such palpable violation of the department's own rule to save face for a mistake.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON — There are increasing signs Russia will replace her ambassadors to the United States and Great Britain, and the big question is: Is it a routine rotation or does it represent a shift in Soviet foreign policy?

Several weeks ago the Kremlin summoned home its ambassadors from Washington, London and Paris. There was no explanation. But the coincidence of the withdrawal of the Red diplomats from the Western Big Three aroused wide speculation of some obscure Russian maneuver. Now, Moscow has announced that its ambassador to France has been replaced by Sergei A. Vinogradov, the Soviet's World War II emissary to Turkey. Diplomatic circles have become convinced this foreshadows new ambassadors to Washington and London as well. But the significance of the shift still remains a mystery. Most educated guessing centers around the belief that the move has some connection with the spreading revolt against communism in the European satellites.

Some sources go so far as to speculate any new Soviet envoys will bring to their posts a changed diplomatic "line" designed to ease East-West tensions, liberalize life in the iron curtain countries and slow down mounting free world pressures against communism — all moves to quell anti-Communist riots that have made headlines.

Giant "Whirlybird"

The civil aviation world is waiting expectantly for the flight of the first commercially feasible passenger helicopter, expected to hop into the air at the Piasecki factory in the fall.

The giant 44-passenger "whirlybird" is being readied now for its first flight tests. Late this summer it will undergo static ground tests.

Designed the XH-16 for the Air Force, for whom it will be produced, the rotary-winged craft is equal in size to a DC-4 and is expected to be used primarily as a troop carrier.

However, civil aviation experts predict that when it comes up for civilian use it will find a great market in replacing regular airplanes on flights of less than 300 miles. Such a craft could cut actual flying times between comparatively close metropolitan areas by at least one-third.

"Food Weapon"

It may prove futile, but the administration intends to plump hard for President Eisenhower's request that he be given sweeping authority to send surplus food overseas when famine threatens.

The humanitarian aspects of the request are obvious. The administration will stress the political factors involved.

The idea is more cold war strategy than anything else. Mr. Eisenhower would like to have a free hand in rushing food wherever necessary, not only to feed hungry people but to keep them from turning Communist.

White House Timing

Veteran politicos are puzzled at the timing of the recent White House demand for extension of the excess profits tax by a maneuver to by-pass the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

The move, originating in a bill in the Rules Committee, later was withdrawn. But it left political scars on Capitol Hill which may prove malignant.

The big puzzle is: Why didn't the administration wait until the deficit —far larger than expected—was revealed?

Had the size been released earlier from July 1, most of the steam would have been taken from the tax-cutting advocates, led by Rep. Daniel Reed (R), New York, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

Instead, the administration tried to shove the excess profits tax through without revealing the nature of the problem. Now the extension probably will go through, but at the expense of making an enemy of Reed.

Alaska Blowoffs

With three and perhaps more peaks in Alaska's Aleutian range blowing their tops, and with unlooked for underwater shocks occurring in mid-Atlantic, the non-geologist can hardly be blamed for asking what's cooking.

Air Force pilots at Anchorage, Alaska, have been the best sources of information about the series of eruptions in the continent's northwestern corner. Two or more peaks, about 11,000 feet high, literally blew up with a crashing roar, plus plenty of smoke and flame. A pilot said the smoke pall, rising to 50,000 feet, reminded him of the pillar that follows an atomic blast.

Anchorage had a noon blackout from the smoke which drifted easterly from the site of the eruptions. Air Force installations nearby reported almost all flights halted as ash clogged runways and cut visibility to a minimum.

The Atlantic quake's arrival at approximately the same time was probably coincidence, although a folding or slippage of opposed faces of rock may have been the unrelated cause of both phenomena. It is entirely possible that the Alaska eruptions are linked to the same ground tremors which caused death and destructions in California last year. The Aleutian peaks and the California Sierras are part of the same giant volcanic belt which encircles the whole Pacific Ocean basin.

This belt, on the eastern side of the Pacific, extends all the way from Cape Horn to Alaska. The location of the present volcanic activity is at a point where the volcanic belt noted above makes a turn to the westward, along the Aleutian chain, then southwest and south to the Kamchatka Peninsula and Japan.

Up to this point there has been little, if any, loss of life in the Alaskan blowoff, and damage to man-made installations appear to entail more a dirty cleanup job than anything else. But such occurrences are enough to shake the average reader out of his midsummer torpor.

While it may be the general impression that man, through his engineering and scientific accomplishments, has become to a large extent the boss of all he surveys, this premise unfortunately turns out to be superficial when nature decides to enter the act.

Texas Isn't Bragging

In the six-state map of the southwestern drought, Texas is right out there in front, big as you please. But Texans aren't happy. The Texans themselves may be making a wry change in one of their rare lapses into modesty. They always used to say, "Texas is the place where you can go farthest and see less than anywhere else." Now they can insert the word "water" after the word "less."

A timely publication at this point is the Reclamation Bureau's survey of the Texas water problem. After three years of study, the bureau has some suggestions that run into more than a billion dollars in public works. (Doubtless the idea is for the federal government to do most of the financing). We'll touch on the plans in a moment.

The booming oil, chemical, and other industries plus irrigation of farmland, have increased use of water in Texas by 150 per cent since 1940. The study says that at the present rate of growth the water supply will have to be doubled to quintupled for differing sections of the state. If it is not, Texas is bound to find itself in a straitjacket from now on, while the water table drops steadily.

The proposed remedy? For the Panhandle, an $80,000,000 aqueduct from the headwaters of the Canadian River near Amarillo. For the lower Rio Grande area (Brownsville and vicinity) a great "water supply canal" cutting across all the rivers flowing through the wet (eastern) part of Texas, thus saving for arid regions the surplus rainfall that now flows into the Gulf of Mexico.

The report figures this one project would raise the area's income from $3,000,000,000 to over $8,000,000,000. If that's so, and if Texas has the oomph we've been led to think it has—perhaps the people there could work out a way to finance themselves into their own security.

Million Dollar Legs

One must be a veritable oldster to remember at her apogee Frankie Bailey, dead in Los Angeles at the age of 94, who was known to the theatrical profession and its patrons as the original "girl with the million dollar legs."

Miss Bailey's rise to what for her was fame was contemporary with municipal admonitions everywhere not to spit on the sidewalk. For ladies, who did not have legs so far as public awareness was concerned, wore skirts with two-inch trains upon the street, which were in imminent danger of bringing dread tuberculosis germs into their homes.

The mores do change—some of them, though others are firmly imbedded—and the aesthetic appeal of the well modulated feminine leg will not be denied, as witness Miss Every State, Miss Soda Pop, Miss Universe and fair bathers at every beach. A rather cynical gentleman remarked the other day that "million dollar legs now are a dime a dozen."

Certainly Miss Bailey would have no monopoly today. And in private yards and even on suburban streets, it is evident that there are other "short shorts" than the aspiring writer mails to magazines.

More Butter?

Reports of widespread hunger in East Europe and in parts of Russia may force a fundamental change in Soviet policy that could be beneficial to the West, but at the moment this is only a possibility.

A recent replacement of the premier of Hungary was followed by cancellation of fines on farmers for failure to deliver crops to the state. In Hungary and some of the other satellites there seems to be lessened emphasis on heavy industrial production for war and a stepping up of the production of consumer goods.

The United States has been producing weapons with little visible disturbance to consumer goods industries, except a continuation of the inflationary spiral. In the satellites—and perhaps in Russia as well—living standards are extremely low.

Russia has been making progress in weapons procurement by denying its people the necessities. If the Soviet tyrants are now forced to give the people what they need, Soviet military strength might suffer.

How To Keep Well

"Breaking Out" After Sun Exposure

Not every one can tolerate the sun. Some individuals never tan and they have learned through experience not to expose themselves for more than a few minutes at a time. They buy the biggest sun hats, walk on the shady side of the street, and rely heavily upon the latest protective sun creams and lotions.

However, their troubles are insignificant compared with those of persons who are sensitive to ultra-violet rays. They develop eczema, hives, or different types of dermatitis. In solar eczema, for example, the victim feels a burning and stinging sensation as soon as the skin is exposed on the first clear day of the year. The upper rims of the ears, the cheeks, lower lip, the backs of the hands, and the arms bear the brunt. Unless the parts are protected they become red and swollen, followed by blister formation such as occurs with ordinary sunburn. When the blisters rupture, however, the escaping fluid tries to form crusts. Within a few days the acute reaction subsides unless exposure is repeated. Most sufferers go through several episodes before they associate cause and effect but thereafter they protect themselves in every possible way. This is necessary to prevent scarring.

In solar urticaria, the process is essentially the same except that hives will develop, instead of blisters. The lesions itch and burn and occasionally there is seepage with crust formation. The same areas on the hands and face are involved. In girls and boys the outbreak may persist, especially on the ears, nose, cheeks, and hands. No one knows why, but the condition has a tendency to improve after adolescence.

Berlock dermatitis is the name of the eruption that arises on sensitive skin when the use of perfume is combined with exposure to the sun. Apparently one of the ingredients, possibly bergamot oil, causes hypersensitivity to ultra-violet light. Perspiration also may play a role. Wherever perfume is applied, the areas become discolored and the patches may last several months before fading.

During the war considerable research was done on sun tan lotions in an effort to find an effective protective product. Several were discovered and one, para-aminobenzoic acid, is capable of absorbing all sunburn rays. It is nontoxic, nonirritating, and does not change even after intense irradiation. This chemical is now the active ingredient in many preparations of this type. The antihistaminic drugs also have been helpful. Pyribenzamine cream, for example, absorbs the rays, thereby preventing them from reaching the skin. It also has been reported that these remedies in tablet form discourage development of redness.

PAIN IN THE FACE

J. E. writes: Is there any effective medical treatment of tic douloureux?

REPLY

Pain killing drugs have a temporary effect on this type of facial neuralgia. Occasionally vitamin B$_1$ (thiamin chloride), is helpful. But in severe and projected cases it is necessary to deaden the affected nerve through an injection of alcohol or to sever the nerve surgically.

SURGERY IN BRONCHIECTASIS

L. S. writes: Is there any cure for bronchiectasis besides surgery?

REPLY

None to my knowledge. In this condition the bronchi are overstretched and thickened by scar tissue. The damage is permanent and medicine like the antibiotics and newer enzymes offer only temporary relief. Surgery is advised as a last resort and usually is recommended only when bronchiectasis is confined to one or two lobes of the lungs.

ANGINAL PAIN

J. H. writes: Does angina pectoris show on an electrocardiogram?

REPLY

Angina pectoris occurs with and without electrocardiographic changes. In other words, this test is not necessary to make the diagnosis. Much more suggestive is the familiar story of developing chest pain on exertion which disappears after a few moments of rest.

FLUID ACCUMULATION

W. F. writes: Why do the body tissues fill up with water and what can be done about it?

REPLY

This condition, known to the layman as dropsy and to the scientist as edema, occurs in certain forms of heart and kidney disorders. Puffiness also is noted in glandular disturbances such as thyroid deficiency as well as in malnutrition, cirrhosis of the liver, and venous disorders. Treatment depends upon the cause of the retention of fluids and is too long a story to tell in a few words.

WAKEFUL CHILDREN

Mrs. W. writes: Do children ever suffer from insomnia?

REPLY

Not in the true sense of the word; they are unwilling rather than unable to go to sleep.

Sen. Ferguson Worries That Gen. Vandenberg Will Run Against Him; Secretary Dulles Says Wrong Thing Again; Foreign Trout May Have To Be Marked

WASHINGTON — GOP Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, who faces a tough re-election fight next year, is so jittery over Harry Truman's talk with Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg urging him to run for the Senate in Michigan, that he summoned Gen. Nate Twining, Vandenberg's successor as Air Force chief of staff, up to Capitol Hill to a secret luncheon. He then proceeded to pressure him to discredit Gen. Vandenberg's testimony regarding the Air Force budget.

Ferguson wanted Twining to testify that Vandenberg had exaggerated budget Air Force needs and had been insubordinate to his superior, Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

Twining refused. Whereupon Senator Ferguson called a Senate hearing which in effect put Twining on the spot. He had to testify. Subordinates at the Pentagon advised Twining that the wisest course was for him to get along with the Senate and disavow Gen. Vandenberg.

In the end, however, Twining took a middle course, told senators that, while the Air Force needed the money, it could probably get along on Secretary Wilson's proposed budget.

Dulles Keeps Talking

Secretary of State Dulles just can't seem to get away from saying the wrong thing at the wrong time.

The other day Robert D. Stuart, head of the Quaker Oats Company, was being sworn in as ambassador to Canada. The ceremony took place in Dulles' office with newsmen and photographers present, including, of course, the newsmen whose reports reach various foreign countries.

"Mr. Ambassador," said Dulles, making a brief speech to Stuart, "it seems to me that I have participated in quite a few ceremonies for new ambassadors lately. And it gives me great pleasure to swear in a man who is going to a decent country."

"Truth-For-Trout" Act

Congress has discovered a new way to make sure its constituents are kept happy. A bill recently passed by the Senate, but still in committee in the House, would make it a law that a fish fancier know from whence his trout cometh.

All trout imported into the United States, under this bill must be conspicuously labeled as to the country of origin. Furthermore, all restaurants must carry the country or origin on their menus.

Purpose of the law is to prevent imported trout from being falsely represented as "Brook Trout," or "Rocky Mountain Trout." Western trout farmers who raise trout commercially for Eastern markets maintain their product is superior to imported trout, yet imported trout sells for about 40 cents a pound less than its domestic brother.

Trout farmers from Mamie's free and unfettered state of Colorado are among the most active lobbyists for the "trout-labelling" act. However, this is going to cause problems for Mamie's husband's budget and for his policy of unfettered business. For the Pure Food and Drug people, who will have to enforce the act, make this practical point. Only $979,000 worth of trout was imported into this country last year. Yet to make sure that none of the 525,000 restaurants of the nation misrepresented their trout on their menus will cost half a million dollars.

This money has not been included in Ike's already overtaxed budget. Even so, trout farmers claim that, unlike Romeo's rose, a trout by any other name would not taste as sweet.

NOTE — About two million pounds of trout are imported annually. Importers of 700,000,000 pounds of other kinds of fish, Canadian mackerel, Portuguese sardines, and Norwegian herring, are wondering whether their fish will soon have to be stamped too.

Unfettered Gas Rates

It has gone unnoticed, but the natural gas lobby is pushing legislation through Congress that will virtually wipe out the federal government's authority to regulate natural gas rates. This will boost the housewives' cooking and heating bill by billions.

What is even more shocking, however, is that the Federal Power Commission is actually helping to put itself out of business. Under new Republican management, the commission has notified Congress that it approves "in theory" the legislation that would strip its authority over natural gas rates.

Specifically, the new legislation would abolish the commission's authority to regulate the wholesale price of natural gas sold by pipeline companies at state borders. This goes much further than the Kerr Bill, which would have deprived the commission of its authority over natural gas prices at the wellhead. The Kerr bill was vetoed by President Truman, despite his friendship for Senator Kerr of Oklahoma, its author, and many Republicans, coming from gas-consuming states in the North, voted to uphold his veto.

However, the natural gas lobby has now got three old friends to carry the ball in Congress—Representatives Cal Hinshaw of California, John Beamer of Indiana, both Republicans, and Oren Harris of Arkansas, a Democrat. They have introduced three identical bills, which would practically put the housewives at the mercy of the gas companies.

The natural gas lobby also seems to be dictating policy to the Federal Power Commission, which is supposed to be the public's watchdog over the gas companies. For the commission seems strangely willing to relinquish most of its rate-making authority and allow the companies free reign. This abdiction of authority was expressed by new GOP general counsel, Willard Gatchell, who told the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee that his agency approved the Hinshaw-Beamer-Harris bills "in theory."

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Printed Word

When I lived in China, it was a common sight to see a begging monk walk the streets with a stick at the end of which was a nail. He used this stick to pick up every scrap of printed paper, which he put in a bag. What he did with these useless scraps of paper, plucked out of the filth of the streets, I do not know. They were probably put in book cemeteries of which there are many in Asia. In such a country as China, perhaps they are eaten by mice and rats.

The Genizah of Cairo and other book cemeteries in Egypt and Asia Minor have proved very valuable, particularly as regards the Bible and the writings of the early Christians. Dr. Solomon Schechter, late president of the Jewish Theological Seminary, achieved an outstanding reputation for his work among these rescued manuscripts.

Of course, in those ancient days, books were written on parchment, papyrus, and even leather. Some of the manuscripts of parts of the Bible recently found in a cave in Jordan are on leather. Books were few, written slowly and thoughtfully, and their reproduction was laborious and a task of love.

In recent years, books rain upon us to keep the presses running and the overhead low. Many of these books, particularly the paper editions that can be bought in every drug and stationery store and even in automatic vending machines, are not usually works of scholarship nor can they be classed exactly as literature. They are commercial products in a mass production medium.

The plethora of detective stories, crime novels, all of a kind, written often in harsh language unusual among decent people, forces upon us the problem of how to keep them from young children. The sex stories are atrocities of the printed word. I fear I am as guilty as President Eisenhower of reading detective stories occasionally. When Chic Sales' out-houses were the fashion, they could, after being read, be used as a substitute for the Sears catalogue. That use is not for our generation.

I heard a publisher recently say in an awed voice that no book should be burned. I immediately thought of my vast collection of books on China. Unfortunately for my peace of mind, I purchase every book that comes on the market dealing with China. During the past 20 years, most of them have been badly done, journalistic efforts of a propagandistic nature. As I weed them out, I put them in the attic of a garage. My son uses part of that attic for other purposes and he has now issued an ultimatum that my weeded-out books are encroaching on his domain.

So I have been going through this stuff to see what I can contribute to a small library. Some of these books I would not pass on to a blind man. So what shall I do with them? Of course, I shall use them as wastepaper to help build the fire in my barbecue. In some of them, there is not a word of truth and their only value is as paper.

I recently tried to sell a lot of this stuff and piles of old magazines and newspapers to a junk dealer. He would not touch them up here in the hills unless I paid him to cart them away. He said the price of wastepaper was so low that it would not pay gasoline charges. I did not investigate. Maybe he was trying to get a couple of dollars out of me, which I could use for cigars to better purpose.

So, some day I shall make a bonfire of all this stuff, including some of my own ancient manuscripts which represent hours of conceit and feeding the ego. Perhaps I shall not make a bonfire, but bury the stuff in the woods to let nature take its course. My farmer, however, tells me that paper, printed or unprinted, does not make fertilizer.

The great excitement over book burning is a fraud. Government departments and other large organizations use a shredding machine to cut up useless papers. Is it more moral to shred than to burn? I wonder what Doubleday has done with the withdrawn 5,000 copies of Jowitt's book on Alger Hiss? Did they shred or burn the copies? Or are they keeping them as a monument to bad judgment?

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, Republican, seems to have won his main point in his skirmish with the International Information Administration of the Department of State about books in overseas libraries, though one would hardly guess it from a reading of most of the dispatches out of Washington.

An important part of the text of the State Department's directive of instructions to the custodians of its libraries overseas was not generally printed. The key point in the controversy has been whether there will be permitted on government library shelves books written by avowed Communists or by persons who — citing the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination—refuse to answer questions before congressional investigating committees. Here is the full text of the paragraph as issued by the Department of State on the afternoon of July 15:

What McCarthy Wanted

Works of avowed Communists, persons convicted of crimes involving a threat to the security of the United States, or persons who publicly refuse to answer questions of congressional committees regarding their connections with the Communist movement, shall not be used, even if their content is unobjectionable, unless it is determined that a particular item is clearly useful for the special purposes of the program. Application of this rule to authors who refuse to testify does not mean that they are presumed to be Communists or Communist sympathizers, but simply reflects the fact that such action by an author normally gives him a public reputation which raises serious questions as to the usefulness of his books in the program. This paragraph does not apply to anthologies, other compilations, and periodicals which only incidentally include material written by persons described above, if the writers included in the entire publication are predominantly non-Communist."

That's exactly what Senator McCarthy argued for when he said it was ridiculous to put on the shelves of government libraries abroad books by known Communists or by persons who refused to answer questions, claiming immunity under the Fifth Amendment.

The press instead played up some vague remarks in the lengthy statement issued on Wednesday of this week by the director of the International Information Administration decrying the attacks on the government libraries and its program of information abroad.

Unfortunately, there are some contradictions as between the words of the directive quoted above and the action reported by the International Information Administration as having been taken in one instance under the directive. For, after revealing that "the removal of all works of persons refusing to testify as to Communist affiliations" was ordered on April 23, 1953, and after noting also that on May 13 a message was sent giving specific names and ordering that no books be restored pending a re-examination, an exception was made in the case of Dashiell Hammett. The State Department's statement of July 15 says: "Instructions accompanying the new directive authorize restoration of books by Dashiell Hammett."

Violated Department Rule

This action is inexplicable. It violates the State Department's own rule, because the author in question certainly now has a reputation not only for refusing to answer a congressional committee but for refusing to answer the questions of a court. He served a six-month sentence in jail, and the Supreme Court of the United States affirmed a lower court ruling which declared that his claim to immunity had no legal or factual basis. Hammett was a chairman of a bail fund which provided bond money for Communists. When some of them, including Gerhard Eisler, escaped and the court wanted Hammett to identify the bail fund records and the minutes of his organization, he refused to do so on the ground that it would be self-incriminating.

It so happens that Hammett writes detective stories, and it stretches the law to say that the overseas libraries are compelled to spend American taxpayers' money to furnish any entertainment or fiction books to foreign readers.

One explanation for the exception in Hammett's case is that President Eisenhower made a slip at a press conference and declared that Hammett's books must have been removed by somebody who was frightened. Perhaps the bureaucracy in the State Department, feeling that it must uphold a President's mistakes even if it jeopardizes the integrity of the department's own directive, decided to make an exception and let Hammett' books be restored. It certainly doesn't put the President in a good light to assume that he would want any such palpable violation of the department's own rule to save face for a mistake.

Beamer Request For Deferment Is Turned Down

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP) — A 22-year-old Indiana congressman's son, whose induction deferment led to the resignation of his local draft board, now faces a call for service next month.

Selective Service national headquarters decided today that the case for John V. Beamer Jr., son of the Republican congressman from Indiana's 5th District, was too weak to warrant condideration by the presidential appeal board.

An occupational deferment sought by young Beamer's employer, Procter & Gamble Co. of Cincinnati, previously had been turned down by Indiana Selective Service headquarters. The company then appealed to Washington.

Rep. Beamer, who served with the field artillery in World War I and who has been a member of the American Legion ever since, said he had never intervened in his son's behalf.

"I never tried to keep him out," he said.

The office of Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of Selective Service, confirmed this.

The uproar began last Monday when Hershey's office ordered that Beamer's induction, scheduled for July 27, be postponed until his file could be reviewed in Washington.

The 3-man Wabash County draft board resigned in protest.

Hershey's office said, however, that it had no authority to change the local board's reclassification of Beamer from 2A—occupational deferment—to 1A.

It said its study of the file, at Procter & Gamble's request, was only to determine whether the case merited study by the highest appeal board.

Jabara Returns To Desk Job

SEOUL, Saturday, July 18 (AP)—Maj. James Jabara, America's first jet ace and second triple jet ace, reports today to headquarters on the way back home to a desk job, disappointed at failing to at least tie the top mark of 16 Red MIGs shot down.

The Wichita, Kan., flier wound up his second tour yesterday by prowling the skies in a vain search for his 16th victim.

"I want to keep flying Sabre jets," he said after concluding the 100th mission of his second tour," but I'm going to be sitting out one of those jet desk jobs.

"I got one of those between my two tours out here."

Friday he flew his 163rd mission of the Korean war but couldn't even sight a Red MIG. He got his 15th Wednesday, putting him within one of the record held by Capt. Joseph McConnel Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif., since rotated home.

Guatemala Power Plants Are Seized

GUATEMALA, Guatemala, July 17 (AP) — Electric power service was restored in Guatemala today after the government intervened in a strike by 400 workers for more pay at Empresa Electrica, a subsidiary of the American - owned Electric Bond & Share Co.

A government commission headed by Alfonso Bauer Paiz, former minister of economy, seized control of the plants pending a settlement. Representatives of management and workers were reported trying to reach an agreement, with both anxious to avoid government control.

Special Prayer Room Provided For Congress

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The House today decided to provide a special room for prayer and meditation by members of Congress.

It passed and sent to the Senate a resolution directing the Capitol custodian to furnish the room, a little cubbyhole near the center of the Capitol.

There will be no formal religious services and no denominational altars. The idea is to have a place where senators and representatives may find solitude for meditation or prayer.

SCOUT JAMBOREE OPENS — The Third National Boy Scout Jamboree was opened officially yesterday at Headquarters Quadrangle in Jamboree City, Calif., with the raising of the American Flag. The flags of 55 other nations which recognize scouting then went up simultaneously on poles surrounding the quadrangle. In the foreground is a replica of the Liberty Bell.

Europe Council Head Is Killed In Collision

BORDEAUX, France, July 17 (AP)—Jacquest Camille Paris, 50, secretary general of the Council of Europe, was killed today when his car collided with a truck on the highway near here.

Six passengers in his car were seriously injured. They were his three daughters, his mother, a friend of the family and a servant. The hospital at Talence, to which they were taken, said none of them was in critical condition.

Police said Paris was speeding on the highway when the truck suddenly turned from a side road too quickly for Paris to avoid a collision.

45,000 Scouts Open Third National Jamboree Camp

JAMBOREE CITY, Calif., July 17 (AP)—An Eagle Scout raised the American flag to the top of a tall pole here today and suddenly, after months of preparation, the Third National Boy Scout Jamboree was in full swing.

Eagle Scout Tom Haag of Salt Lake City, Utah, waited for the sound of an aerial bomb and then pulled the Stars and Stripes to the top of a pole at headquarters to open the jamboree. A drum and bugle corps played and the flags of 55 other nations that recognize scouting then went up in the quadrangle area. More than a thousand other American flags were hoisted in jamboree sections and troop sites.

Then without speeches or further ceremony, the estimated 45,000 Scouts and leaders began the activities that make up a jamboree. Large baloons were hoisted over jamboree sections where demonstrations were scheduled.

For instance in the California-Hawaii area Ray Nakamure, 16, of Wailuku, Hawaii, explained how boys from his area were making neckerchief slides out of kukui nuts and piggy banks out of cocoanuts. There are 85 Scouts at the jamboree from the Hawaiian Islands.

In the New Jersey section auditions began for a talent contest. There also were demonstrations of making fire with flint and steel, and physical drills and Indian dances.

More than 10,000 boys went by buses to a mile of reserved beach at nearby Huntington Beach for ocean swimming. For many of them it was their first dip in an ocean. This is the first time that a jamboree has been held on the coast. The first one, in 1937, was in Washington, D. C., and the second, in 1950, at Valley Forge, Pa.

Dr. Charles Naegele of San Francisco, deputy medical officer for the jamboree, said the incidence of communicable disease has been very low for such a huge gathering. He reported that 16 boys were in the nearby Orange County Hospital at Santa Ana, most of them with mumps and measles. Another 23 were at the Corona Naval Hospital for treatments of colds and minor ailments. A few bruises and cuts were treated in camp on the first day. The doctor emphasized that no cases were serious.

GOOD IDEA OVERDONE

AS IN any other phase of human activity, the very best idea in bridge becomes a bad one if it is overdone. That applies as definitely to the choice of suits, when a pair has two that fit well, as to anything else connected with the game. Ordinarily, it will pay to choose as trump the suit in which the two partners have holdings of even length, or closest to even length, leaving on the side the suit which is less close to a balance, so that the longer holding can furnish discards. But if that suit contains too large a total number of cards between the two hands, there is grave danger that one defender will have no cards of it and may be able to ruff it if it is not the trump.

	♠ A Q 9 8 3 ♥ A K 7 5 4 ♦ 8 4 ♣ A
♠ 7 ♥ 9 2 ♦ K J 10 ♣ K J 8 7 6 4 3	N W E S	♠ 6 2 ♥ None ♦ Q 9 7 6 5 3 2 ♣ Q 10 9 2

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	2 ♣	3 ♣	3 ♦
3 ♠	4 ♦	4 NT	5 ♣
5 ♦	Pass	5 NT	Pass
6 ♦	Pass	7 ♠

West apparently had done a better job of thinking over the bidding than did North. Reckoning that South, having shown greater length in hearts than spades, and that North had enthusiastically supported hearts with his cue-bid of 3-Clubs after West's 2-Clubs, he noted the possibility that East might be entirely void of hearts. His further reflection on the fact that East, who could not possibly have anything appreciable in high cards, had shown extreme length in both minors with his bids of them, made him feel more than ever that a defensive ruff might beat the contract.

Acting in pursuance of his logic, West led the heart 9, and it was all over as East ruffed with the spade 2.

North had spoiled a beautiful sequence of bidding with a poor final call. His reason for choosing the spade suit for the grand slam instead of hearts was that he reckoned the side had a more evenly balanced holding in it, so that the unbalanced hearts could be used for any required discards in the minors. With so many hearts held by the side, however, he should have feared just what did happen with spades as trumps. If he had bid 7-Hearts, no power on earth could have prevented making of the contract.

Taft Is Unable To Start Work

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft, hospitalized with a hip ailment, today gave up any prospect of getting back into the legislative harness before the present term of Congress ends.

But the Ohio Republican is expected to continue in close touch with affairs at the Capitol.

From his bed in New York Hospital, the 63-year-old senator sent out word that he doesn't intend to get back to Washington by the time Congress winds up its session late this month or early next.

Nine days ago, Taft underwent an operation. A hospital bulletin today said "no complications of any kind have developed," his condition is "good," and bandages and stitches will be removed next week.

But the hospital, noting that no date has been set for Taft's departure from the hospital, said:

"Sen. Taft does not intend to return to his duties at this session of Congress, which apparently will end in August."

The Republican target for adjournment is July 31 or Aug. 1.

Taft, troubled by a bad hip for several months, gave up active Republican floor leadership of the Senate to Sen. Knowland of California last June 10, but retained the title of majority floor leader.

Taft was treated for the ailing hip last May at Walter Reed Medical Center. He said afterward his condition was serious, and later turned over active floor leadership to Knowland.

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved today a proposal to study the possibility of transatlantic television. Gen. Grow's Court Martial Sentence Appeal Is Denied

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP)—The U. S. Court of Military Appeals today upheld the court martial conviction of Maj. Gen. Robert W. Grow, whose secret diary was filched by Soviet agents and served as the background for Red propaganda blasts against the United States.

The court said that instead of keeping the diary under lock and key, the 58-year-old general admitted that he left it lying around like "a letter from his congressman or a copy of the Saturday Evening Post."

Soviet propagandists claimed that Grow, former military attache at the American Embassy in Moscow, had written such things as this in his diary:

"War! As soon as possible! Now!"

"The time is ripe for a blow this year (1951)."

"We must learn that in this war it is fair to hit below the belt."

The Army has branded all three of those statements as falsified and twisted excerpts from Grow's diary.

Although the full text of the diary has never been published—and Grow himself has kept silent—the Army released key passages a year ago showing Grow was convinced that Soviet leaders believed 1951 was the ripe time for war in Europe.

The Communists, the Army said, twisted Grow's notation to indicate America wanted war in 1951.

Beamer Request For Deferment Is Turned Down

WASHINGTON, July 17 (AP) — A 22-year-old Indiana congressman's son, whose induction deferment led to the resignation of his local draft board, now faces a call for service next month.

Selective Service national headquarters decided today that the case for John V. Beamer Jr., son of the Republican congressman from Indiana's 5th District, was too weak to warrant condideration by the presidential appeal board.

An occupational deferment sought by young Beamer's employer, Procter & Gamble Co. of Cincinnati, previously had been turned down by Indiana Selective Service headquarters. The company then appealed to Washington.

Rep. Beamer, who served with the field artillery in World War I and who has been a member of the American Legion ever since, said he had never intervened in his son's behalf.

"I never tried to keep him out," he said.

The office of Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of Selective Service, confirmed this.

The uproar began last Monday when Hershey's office ordered that Beamer's induction, scheduled for July 27, be postponed until his file could be reviewed in Washington.

The 3-man Wabash County draft board resigned in protest.

Hershey's office said, however, that it had no authority to change the local board's reclassification of Beamer from 2A—occupational deferment—to 1A.

It said its study of the file, at Procter & Gamble's request, was only to determine whether the case merited study by the highest appeal board.

Take Someone To Church This Week . . . You'll Both Be Richer For It

TO INSURE PUBLICATION in Saturday's paper, all church notices must be in The Cumberland News office by 11 o'clock each Thursday night.

GRANDPA'S SCRAPBOOK

It's all there—in Grandpa's Scrapbook. The story of his life. His baptismal certificate, the newspaper clipping about his kicking that winning field goal, the now-yellowed wedding invitation, the snapshot of their house-warming, the announcement of Mama's birth, the blue ribbon that Grandpa's steer won at the county fair.

And, on a page all by itself, is a Children's Day program from our little Church, the day I sang "Jesus Loves Me" with Danny Andrews!

And then with a far-away look in his eyes he says, "You keep up yer fine work in Sunday School, Lad. Whether yer kickin' a field goal, or plantin' yer corn, or servin' God in yer own humble way—you have to keep goin' in the right direction!"

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Take Someone To Church This Week . . . You'll Both Be Richer For It

TO INSURE PUBLICATION in Saturday's paper, all church notices must be in The Cumberland News office by 11 o'clock each Thursday night.

GRANDPA'S SCRAPBOOK

It's all there—in Grandpa's Scrapbook. The story of his life. His baptismal certificate, the newspaper clipping about his kicking that winning field goal, the now-yellowed wedding invitation, the snapshot of their house-warming, the announcement of Mama's birth, the blue ribbon that Grandpa's steer won at the county fair.

And, on a page all by itself, is a Children's Day program from our little Church, the day I sang "Jesus Loves Me" with Danny Andrews!

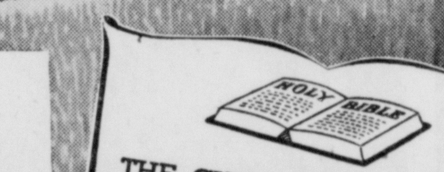
And then with a far-away look in his eyes he says, "You keep up yer fine work in Sunday School, Lad. Whether yer kickin' a field goal, or plantin' yer corn, or servin' God in yer own humble way—you have to keep goin' in the right direction!"



THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Amcelle Honors Mrs. McCrorie

Mrs. Bertha Winfield McCrorie, 4 Harrison Street, was honored at Amcelle yesterday as she completed 25 years of service. To mark the date, R. F. Thompson, plant manager, presented her with a gold wrist watch.

In the Textile Department where she works as an operator in cake-twisting, Harry A. Smith, assistant textile superintendent, awarded her the gold five-star Celanese service emblem that denotes long service at Amcelle. An engraved certificate also was presented.

Born in Cumberland, Mrs. McCrorie worked for several local textile mills for over 10 years before joining Celanese.

She is a member of the D & H Club.

Two Transients To Face Charges

Criminal informations against two transients who have been confined in the County Jail here since the latter part of June were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

One charges Walter J. L. Hodil, 21-year old magazine salesman of Buffalo, N. Y., with statutory burglary. He is accused of breaking into the Eckhart home of George Coddington, former State Trooper who now runs a tavern in Eckhart. Hodil is charged with stealing a $25 wrist watch and a $15 ring from the premises June 23. State police at the time of Hodil's arrest said that he broke into two other Eckhart residences.

In the other information, Robert Y. Sadler, 49, Fairfax, Va., is accused of false pretenses in the cashing of a $50 worthless check on an Alexandria, Va., bank at the Fort Cumberland Hotel June 27. He was taken into custody by city police June 27 when he attempted to cash a check in Rosenbaum's store and employes became suspicious. It was not until two days later that Robert Blair, manager of the Fort Cumberland Hotel, identified Sadler as the man who had passed a worthless check there.

City Insurance Bids To Be Opened Monday

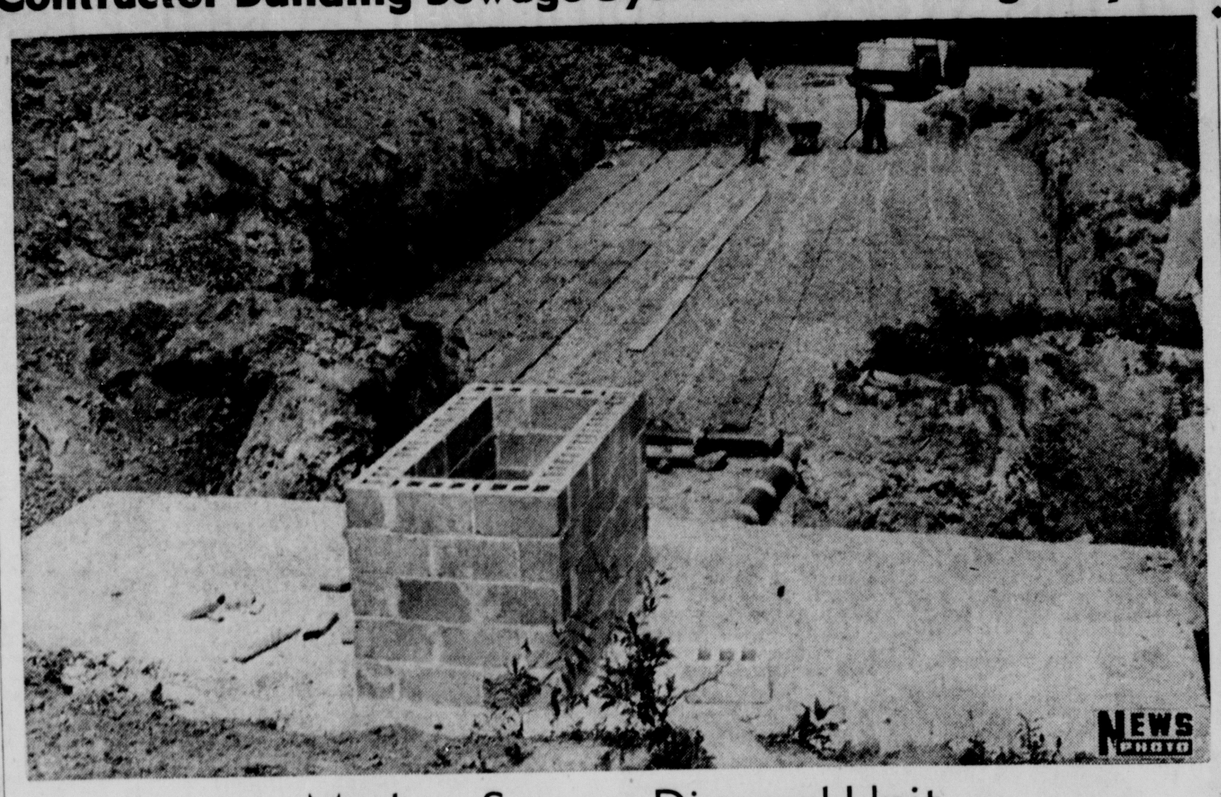
Contractor Building Sewage System For Housing Project In LaVale



Modern Sewage Disposal Unit

Ralph G. Cover, Bowling Green contractor, is seen directing the completion of a modern sewage system which will treat the sanitary wastes from a 45-home housing development he is building in LaVale off Route 40 near LaVale Boulevard. In the foreground is the 6,000 gallon settling tank which leads to the 26 by 70 foot distribution field which is being covered up. The $7,000 system, designed to take care of 1,200 persons, has been approved by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, and J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian.

An area contractor this week completed the installation of a modern sewage treatment system in connection with a 45-unit housing development in LaVale.

The $7,000 sanitary project is one of the major units of a number of sewage treatment projects which will be completed in this area this year at a cost of about $250,000.

Similar large sewage systems will be provided for schools and businesses and hundreds of smaller sewage systems will be built or modernized in homes of Allegany County.

The system built by Cover is designed to care for the needs of a population of 1,200 persons and has been approved by the County Health Department.

Included in the sewage system is a 6,000 gallon concrete settling tank. Clear sewage will flow from the tank to a 26 by 70 foot distribution field, where it is filtered through 50 inches of sand and stone.

The clarified sewage is collected at the bottom of the distribution field and fed from 770 feet of drainage tile into a 300 gallon chlorine contact tank, where chlorine is added before the water is discharged in to an area stream.

The housing development, officials said, will be restricted to homes. There will be no fences, in the development, no outbuildings except garages, and streets, sidewalks and curbs are being laid by the contractor.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

MRS. ANNA CENTOFONTI

Mrs. Anna Centofonti, 72, Potomac Park, widow of Peter Centofonti, died yesterday at Sacred Heart Hospital where she had been a patient since Monday.

Mrs. Centofonti was a native of Sulmona, Italy, a daughter of the late Salvatore and Phillippi (Ladretta) Porziella. She was a member of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church.

Surviving are five daughters, Misses Connie, Frances and Lucie Centofonti, all at home; Mrs. Mary Ricottille, Youngstown, Ohio, and Mrs. Amelia Del Signore, Beckley, W. Amcelle Honors Mrs. McCrorie

Mrs. Bertha Winfield McCrorie, 4 Harrison Street, was honored at Amcelle yesterday as she completed 25 years of service. To mark the date, R. F. Thompson, plant manager, presented her with a gold wrist watch.

In the Textile Department where she works as an operator in cake-twisting, Harry A. Smith, assistant textile superintendent, awarded her the gold five-star Celanese service emblem that denotes long service at Amcelle. An engraved certificate also was presented.

Born in Cumberland, Mrs. McCrorie worked for several local textile mills for over 10 years before joining Celanese.

Two Transients To Face Charges

Criminal informations against two transients who have been confined in the County Jail here since the latter part of June were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

One charges Walter J. L. Hodil, 21-year old magazine salesman of Buffalo, N. Y., with statutory burglary. He is accused of breaking into the Eckhart home of George Coddington, former State Trooper who now runs a tavern in Eckhart. Hodil is charged with stealing a $25 wrist watch and a $15 ring from the premises June 23. State police at the time of Hodil's arrest said that he broke into two other Eckhart residences.

In the other information, Robert Y. Sadler, 49, Fairfax, Va., is accused of false pretenses in the cashing of a $50 worthless check on an Alexandria, Va., bank at the Fort Cumberland Hotel June 27. He was taken into custody by city police June 27 when he attempted to cash a check in Rosenbaum's store and employes became suspicious. It was not until two days later that Robert Blair, manager of the Fort Cumberland Hotel, identified Sadler as the man who had passed a worthless check there.

City Insurance Bids To Be Opened Monday

Bids for insurance on 82 pieces of motor equipment operated by the city will be opened by the Mayor and Council Monday at 10 a. m.

The insurance will include fire, theft, comprehensive and, where needed, public liability and property damage.

The present policy which covers the city vehicles cost $276.95 for fire, theft and comprehensive and $2,357 for public liability and property damage.

Claims paid on the present policy total $113, with three claims, including two bodily injury, pending.

Local Man Released On Bond In Assault

William D. Trozzo, 802 Gephart Drive, was released under $500 bond yesterday after he took an appeal on a jail sentence imposed by Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

At a hearing Thursday in Trial Magistrate Court, Trozzo was found guilty of assaulting his wife, Mrs. Betty Trozzo on Tuesday. Magistrate Dick sentenced him to 15 days in the County Jail.

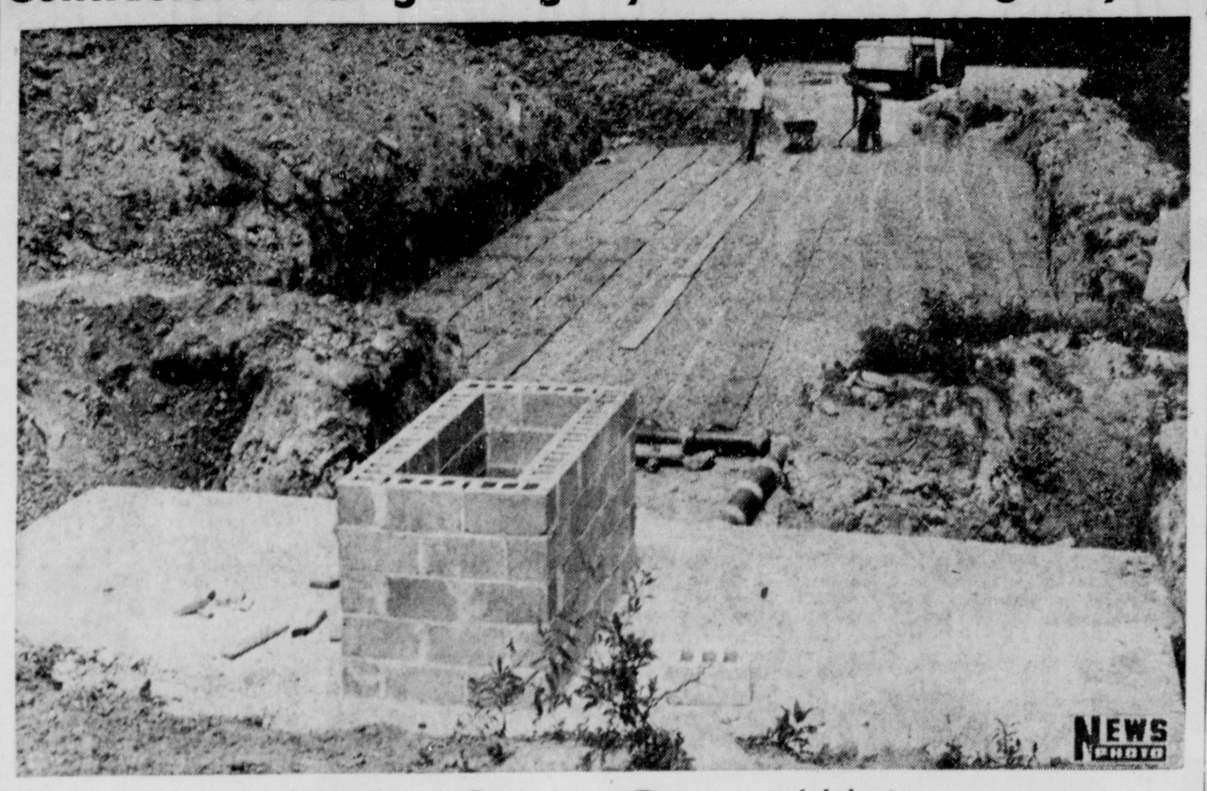
Contractor Building Sewage System For Housing Project In LaVale



Modern Sewage Disposal Unit

Ralph G. Cover, Bowling Green contractor, is seen directing the completion of a modern sewage system which will treat the sanitary wastes from a 45-home housing development he is building in LaVale off Route 40 near LaVale Boulevard. In the foreground is the 6,000 gallon settling tank which leads to the 26 by 70 foot distribution field which is being covered up. The $7,000 system, designed to take care of 1,200 persons, has been approved by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, and J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian.

An area contractor this week completed the installation of a modern sewage treatment system in connection with a 45-unit housing development in LaVale.

The $7,009 sanitary project is one of the major units of a number of sewage treatment projects which will be completed in this area this year at a cost of about $250,000.

Similar large sewage systems will be provided for schools and businesses and hundreds of smaller sewage systems will be built or modernized in homes of Allegany County.

The system built by Cover is designed to care for the needs of a population of 1,200 persons and has been approved by the County Health Department.

Included in the sewage system is a 6,000 gallon concrete settling tank. Clear sewage will flow from the tank to a 26 by 70 foot distribution field, where it is filtered through 50 inches of sand and stone.

The clarified sewage is collected at the bottom of the distribution field and fed from 770 feet of drainage tile into a 300 gallon chlorine contact tank, where chlorine is added before the water is discharged in to an area stream.

The housing development, officials said, will be restricted to homes. There will be no fences, in the development, no outbuildings except garages, and streets, sidewalks and curbs are being laid by the contractor.

Tuesday Games

Frostburg at Grantsville
Cumberland at Midland

Grantsville Post of Garrett county provided a stunning upset in the Mountain District American Legion Junior Baseball League by rallying for seven runs in the final inning to crack the seven-game winning streak of the league-leading Fort Cumberland Post team yesterday at Grantsville by the score of 7-6.

Wayne Murray, Cumberland's starting pitcher, had a no-run, no-hit game within his grasp and was leading by the score of 6-0 when the league's last place aggregation exploded for seven runs and turned defeat into victory.

Interference by Catcher Puffenberger gave Sylvester "Sonny" Morgan the life that started the last ditch rally. Then Howard Sweitzer's walk, Bob Baker's double, singles by Allen Georg, Fred Colaw and Morgan and three errors completed the rout. Murray put the winning run on the paths and Morgan, batting for the second time in the inning, came through with the single that decided the issue with Bobby Dawson on the mound.

Kirtley Hits 3rd Homer

Fort Cumberland scored one run in the first inning and chased five more tallies over the platter in the top of the 7th. During this rally Bob Kirtley blasted his third home run of the season with two mates aboard.

Fred Colaw went all the way for Grantsville. He yielded eight hits, six of which were shared by Allen. Hoffman and Puffenberger, gave up two pases and fanned five. Murray yielded two of the four hits credited to Grantsville, walked three and struck out seven.

Farrady Thumps Midland

Farrady Post of Frostburg took over the runer-up position, three full games back of Cumberland by handing Midland Post an 11-5 trouncing at Frostburg.

The Mountain City aggregation racked up 13 hits, including four triples, to notch its fourth win in eight starts and broke the deadlock with Midland for second place.

Rickey Harris paced the Farrady clubbers with four hits in five trips and starred afield with an unassisted double play. Walter Crowe larruped a pair of three-baggers, Nolan banged a triple and single and Clark helped himself to two one-base knocks.

Bobby Blank limited Midland to five hits, including a double by Winters and triples by Cuthbertson and Lloyd, isued eight passes and fanned three. Henry Lloyd went the route for the losers, fanned six and walked seven.

Baltimore School Gets New Coach

BALTIMORE, July 17 (AP) — Mitchell Tullai, Western Maryland College grid star who graduated in 1952, has been appointed football coach and director of athletics at St. Paul's School here.

Tullai, who has been assistant coach at Atlantic Highlands (N. J.) High School since his graduation, replaces Jimmy Adams, who resigned last month.

Tullai, a native of Glen Lion, Pa., played four years of varsity football for the Terrors and was picked to play in a North-South game on the basis of his performance.

He totaled 20 touchdowns in his last three years of play.

Sand Improves Oval • • • Lefty's Mark Stands

By C. V. BURNS

WHEN WHEELING DOWNS opens its 61-day race meeting today horsemen will find a much safer oval and one that will resist rainfall.

During the spring meet the Downs was plagued by "off" tracks because the heavy strip refused to dry properly.

After the meeting the management ordered a complete reconditioning of the track.

Approximately 400 truckloads of golden sand from a huge mound believed to be of Indian origin in Martins Ferry was transported to the track. So fine is the texture of this sandy loam that it resembles powder.

Trainers and riders who have inspected the reconditioned oval agree that the sandy base and the three to four inch cushion has greatly improved the West Virginia track.

GENE SHUE, the University of Maryland's varsity basketball star, who starred in the local YMCA tournament, is in the Catskill Mountains in New York this summer playing for Sha-Wan-Ga Lodge.

BALTIMORE holds its annual Soap Box Derby today and 164 boys are expected to drive their gravity-powered cars in the event.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove won 31 games and lost four for the Philadelphia Athletics. This record still stands as the highest winning percentage in modern baseball.

In 1913 Walter Johnson won 36 games and lost 7 for a weak Washington team and he turned in the remarkable earned run average of 1.14.

Nowadays when a major league pitcher wins 20 games a season he's the toast of the baseball world.

THE BEAR POPULATION must be on the increase in Pennsylvania judging from the number of damage claims paid by the Game Commission.

Total claims for the year ending May 31 was sixty for $2,566.11 in 20 counties. This was $1,000 more than the previous year when claims were filed from 13 counties.

MORRIS FROCK Post's undefeated American Legion junior baseball team made it 17 wins this week by beating Grantley Post of Baltimore, 6-3, and Thurmont 10-0.

Jack Melzer struck out 18 batsmen in the game with Baltimore.

THREE BILLS that would have legalized horse racing with parimutuel betting in Pennsylvania were practically killed this week by the Law and Order Committee in Harrisburg.

One of the bills called for a referendum and if the voters approved racing at the fall election three one mile tracks and five half mile ovals would have been authorized.

Bedford has a half mile track and if racing is legalized in the Keystone state they'll probably go for the runners there. Harness races, minus wagering, is now held there annually in conjunction with the fair.

RALEIGH BURROUGHS, writing in the July issue of The Maryland Horse, says:

"Remember those steaming Labor Days at Timonium, when the promenade was jammed solid with investors, the two-dollar line reached to the eighth pole and torn up mutuel tickets fell through cracks in the grandstand floor and onto your ice cream cone, if you happened to be eating an ice cream cone in the wagering department?

"Well, things are going to be different this year. They've stopped up the cracks in the grandstand floor."

AL SPOHRER, former Boston Braves' catcher, was noted as a needler.

One day in Boston the mighty Robers Hornsby came to beat at a critical point and Al, knowing Hornsby liking for a steak, attempt to take Rogers' mind off the situation at hand.

"I've found the best steak house in Boston," Spohrer said as Hornsby set his feet in the batter's box. "Two inches thick, no kidding, and after the game I want you to be my guest. How do you like it cooked, Rogers?"

The pitcher threw and Hornsby hit the ball into the left field stands for a home run. As he crossed the plate, Rogers said to Spohrer:

Red Sox Win, 13-2 In Dapper Circuit

The Red Sox, front runners in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Baseball League, scored their eighth victory in nine starts yesterday by defeating the Pirates at Allegany Field by the score of 13-6.

"Buddy" Schwartz and Jimmy O'Neal belted home runs for the Sox and drove in three runs each. Jimmy Rice and Schwartz had thre hits each while Whitey Slonaker and Denny Smith had two safeties apiece. Kean, Smith and Abe shared six of the Pirates' seven blows.

Announcement was made that the recent Giants win over the Red Sox has been nullified because of several Giants being over the age limit and the game must be replayed. Score:

CHICAGO, July 17 (AP) — Virgil Trucks, the aging fireballer who has been a brilliant part of the Chicago White Sox recent pennant drive, came through again tonight, blazing by the Washington Senators with a three-hit 4-1 victory.

Only damaging blow by the Senators was Eddie Yost's ninth inning homer, his seventh of the season. The other two hits were wasted doubles by Jim Busby and Mickey Vernon.

Hercules Powder Kegs extended their winning streak to eleven games and increased their lead in the County Softball League to 2½ games by defeating the Potomac Valley Cubs yesterday at Hercules Field by the score of 5-2.

Two of the league's top drawer pitchers hooked up in this one and Kenny Carder was returned the winner over Hayden Phillips. The win was Carder's tenth against three setbacks and his seventh consecutive triumph. Phillips suffered his second reverse against 14 wins.

Hercules fathomed the slants of Phillips for six safeties and four went for extra bases. Ronnie Cage socked a homer with Lou Baker aboard in the first inning. while Frank Urbas garnered two doubles and a triple. Pete Cecil drove in two of Potomac Valley's runs with a timely double in the initial frame. He and Donnie Lease shared four of the Cubs' nine safeties.

Russ Miller tossed a two-hitter as Cunningham's Grocery blanked Central Quick Lunch at Stitcher Field by the score of 5-0. In beating Claget McAlister, the Grocers obtained five hits, including two singles by Reuschel and two-baggers by Collins and Stotler. Basilio's double and Keyser's single were the only hits credited to Central.

Joe Sager pilfered home in the 7th inning to give Stringtown a 6-5 decision over the Sports Shoppe at Stringtown. Going into the home half of the final frame, Stringtown squeezed over two runs on bunts to deadlock the score of 5-all. On a double steal, Sager, running for Kauffman, swiped home with the winning marker. Kenny Troutman hit a home run for the winners. Scores:

Whips Exchange 33-5 In Hot Stove League

Scoring 18 runs in the fourth inning, the Times-News tossers hung up a record in the Hot Stove Baseball League by swamping the Exchange Club yesterday at East Side Field by the score of 33-5.

The win gave the Newsies a lead of one full game over the runner-up Rotary Club.

During the wild third stanza the league leaders coupled seven bases on balls with five errors and nine hits for their 18 tallies. Eleven of the runs were chalked up after two out.

Diehl, Cioni and Washington paced the attack with three hits each. Diehl had two triples and a double, Cioni blasted a homer and two singles and Washington rapped three singles. Hanekamp had two singles and Washington rapped three singles. Hanekamp had two hits for the winners. T. Smith and Minnicks smacked two hits each and Appold hit a round-tripper for the Exchange Club. Haas Sets Pace In St. Paul Open

Leads By Two Strokes At The Halfway Mark

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 17 (AP)—Freddie Haas dismantled Keller course's already battered par 72 today with a blazing 64 to take the lead at the halfway mark in the St. Paul Open golf tournament.

Haas' superb eight-under-par gave him a 36-hole total of 132, two strokes in front of the early leader, slim Ted Rhodes, Chicago.

Rhodes' solid iron game withstood the challenge of all the other big name pros to keep him in the runnerup spot.

Clustered at 136 were Al Besselink, Grossinger, N.Y.; Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., and Shelley Mayfield, Cedarhurst, N.Y.

Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif., co-leader at 66 with Rhodes after the first round, slipped to a 71 for 137.

Tuesday Games

Frostburg at Grantsville
Cumberland at Midland

Grantsville Post of Garrett county provided a stunning upset in the Mountain District American Legion Junior Baseball League by rallying for seven runs in the final inning to crack the seven-game winning streak of the league-leading Fort Cumberland Post team yesterday at Grantsville by the score of 7-6.

Wayne Murray, Cumberland's starting pitcher, had a no-run, no-hit game within his grasp and was leading by the score of 6-0 when the league's last place aggregation exploded for seven runs and turned defeat into victory.

Interference by Catcher Puffenberger gave Sylvester "Sonny" Morgan the life that started the last ditch rally. Then Howard Sweitzer's walk, Bob Baker's double, singles by Allen Georg, Fred Colaw and Morgan and three errors completed the rout. Murray put the winning run on the paths and Morgan, batting for the second time in the inning, came through with the single that decided the issue with Bobby Dawson on the mound.

Kirtley Hits 3rd Homer

Fort Cumberland scored one run in the first inning and chased five more tallies over the platter in the top of the 7th. During this rally Bob Kirtley blasted his third home run of the season with two mates aboard.

Fred Colaw went all the way for Grantsville. He yielded eight hits, six of which were shared by Allen. Hoffman and Puffenberger, gave up two pases and fanned five. Murray yielded two of the four hits credited to Grantsville, walked three and struck out seven.

Farrady Thumps Midland

Farrady Post of Frostburg took over the runer-up position, three full games back of Cumberland by handing Midland Post an 11-5 trouncing at Frostburg.

The Mountain City aggregation racked up 13 hits, including four triples, to notch its fourth win in eight starts and broke the deadlock with Midland for second place.

Rickey Harris paced the Farrady clubbers with four hits in five trips and starred afield with an unassisted double play. Walter Crowe larruped a pair of three-baggers, Nolan banged a triple and single and Clark helped himself to two one-base knocks.

Bobby Blank limited Midland to five hits, including a double by Winters and triples by Cuthbertson and Lloyd, isued eight passes and fanned three. Henry Lloyd went the route for the losers, fanned six and walked seven.

Baltimore School Gets New Coach

BALTIMORE, July 17 (AP) — Mitchell Tullai, Western Maryland College grid star who graduated in 1952, has been appointed football coach and director of athletics at St. Paul's School here.

Tullai, who has been assistant coach at Atlantic Highlands (N. J.) High School since his graduation, replaces Jimmy Adams, who resigned last month.

Tullai, a native of Glen Lion, Pa., played four years of varsity football for the Terrors and was picked to play in a North-South game on the basis of his performance.

He totaled 20 touchdowns in his last three years of play.

Sand Improves Oval • • • Lefty's Mark Stands

By C. V. BURNS

WHEN WHEELING DOWNS opens its 61-day race meeting today horsemen will find a much safer oval and one that will resist rainfall.

During the spring meet the Downs was plagued by "off" tracks because the heavy strip refused to dry properly.

After the meeting the management ordered a complete reconditioning of the track.

Approximately 400 truckloads of golden sand from a huge mound believed to be of Indian origin in Martins Ferry was transported to the track. So fine is the texture of this sandy loam that it resembles powder.

Trainers and riders who have inspected the reconditioned oval agree that the sandy base and the three to four inch cushion has greatly improved the West Virginia track.

GENE SHUE, the University of Maryland's varsity basketball star, who starred in the local YMCA tournament, is in the Catskill Mountains in New York this summer playing for Sha-Wan-Ga Lodge.

BALTIMORE holds its annual Soap Box Derby today and 164 boys are expected to drive their gravity-powered cars in the event.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS AGO Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove won 31 games and lost four for the Philadelphia Athletics. This record still stands as the highest winning percentage in modern baseball.

In 1913 Walter Johnson won 36 games and lost 7 for a weak Washington team and he turned in the remarkable earned run average of 1.14.

Red Sox Win, 13-2 In Dapper Circuit

The Red Sox, front runners in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan Baseball League, scored their eighth victory in nine starts yesterday by defeating the Pirates at Allegany Field by the score of 13-6.

"Buddy" Schwartz and Jimmy O'Neal belted home runs for the Sox and drove in three runs each. Jimmy Rice and Schwartz had thre hits each while Whitey Slonaker and Denny Smith had two safeties apiece. Kean, Smith and Abe shared six of the Pirates' seven blows.

Announcement was made that the recent Giants win over the Red Sox has been nullified because of several Giants being over the age limit and the game must be replayed. Score:

Hercules Powder Kegs extended their winning streak to eleven games and increased their lead in the County Softball League to 2½ games by defeating the Potomac Valley Cubs yesterday at Hercules Field by the score of 5-2.

Two of the league's top drawer pitchers hooked up in this one and Kenny Carder was returned the winner over Hayden Phillips. The win was Carder's tenth against three setbacks and his seventh consecutive triumph. Phillips suffered his second reverse against 14 wins.

Hercules fathomed the slants of Phillips for six safeties and four went for extra bases. Ronnie Cage socked a homer with Lou Baker aboard in the first inning, while Frank Urbas garnered two doubles and a triple. Pete Cecil drove in two of Potomac Valley's runs with a timely double in the initial frame. He and Donnie Lease shared four of the Cubs' nine safeties.

Russ Miller tossed a two-hitter as Cunningham's Grocery blanked Central Quick Lunch at Stitcher Field by the score of 5-0. In beating Claget McAlister, the Grocers obtained five hits, including two singles by Reuschel and two-baggers by Collins and Stotler. Basilio's double and Keyser's single were the only hits credited to Central.

Joe Sager pilfered home in the 7th inning to give Stringtown a 6-5 decision over the Sports Shoppe at Stringtown. Going into the home half of the final frame, Stringtown squeezed over two runs on bunts to deadlock the score of 5-all. On a double steal, Sager, running for Kauffman, swiped home with the winning marker. Kenny Troutman hit a home run for the winners. Scores:

Brooklyn Beats Cardinals Twice

BROOKLYN, July 17 (AP)—Brooklyn's power hitting Dodgers crushed the St. Louis Cardinals in a doubleheader tonight and stretched their National League lead to three games. The Dodgers took the first game 14-0, the most lop-sided shutout in the majors this season, and the second 7-4 on Jackie Robinson's two home runs.

Whips Exchange 33-5 In Hot Stove League

Scoring 18 runs in the fourth inning, the Times-News tossers hung up a record in the Hot Stove Baseball League by swamping the Exchange Club yesterday at East Side Field by the score of 33-5.

The win gave the Newsies a lead of one full game over the runner-up Rotary Club.

During the wild third stanza the league leaders coupled seven bases on balls with five errors and nine hits for their 18 tallies. Eleven of the runs were chalked up after two out.

Diehl, Cioni and Washington paced the attack with three hits each. Diehl had two triples and a double, Cioni blasted a homer and two singles and Washington rapped three singles. Hanekamp had two singles and Washington rapped three singles. Hanekamp had two hits for the winners. T. Smith and Minnicks smacked two hits each and Appold hit a round-tripper for the Exchange Club.

Haas Sets Pace In St. Paul Open

Leads By Two Strokes At The Halfway Mark

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 17 (AP)—Freddie Haas dismantled Keller course's already battered par 72 today with a blazing 64 to take the lead at the halfway mark in the St. Paul Open golf tournament.

Haas' superb eight-under-par gave him a 36-hole total of 132, two strokes in front of the early leader, slim Ted Rhodes, Chicago.

Rhodes' solid iron game withstood the challenge of all the other big name pros to keep him in the runnerup spot.

Clustered at 136 were Al Besselink, Grossinger, N.Y.; Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., and Shelley Mayfield, Cedarhurst, N.Y.

Twelve more were jammed up at 137 and 138, including tournament favorite Sammy Snead, who produced a second-round 66 to give him 138.

Stanky Predicts Four-Club Fight For N. L. Pennant

Leaves Out Braves, Fears New Yorkers

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP) — Eddie Stanky says he expects four clubs to fight it out for the National League pennant and he wouldn't be at all surprised if another play-off is necessary to decide the champion.

Besides his own Cardinals, the St. Louis manager picked the Brooklyn Dodgers, Philadelphia Phillies and New York Giants to be in the thick of the race down to the end.

"I've said all along it's going to be a four-team race and I'm not the sort to change my mind," the Redbird pilot added.

Pitching Will Decide

"I don't think there's a thumbnail's difference between these teams right now. The club that gets the pitching down the stretch will take it.

"But I don't think the pennant will be decided until the last two days of the season and there's a good chance for a two-way or three-way tie."

How about Milwaukee, now in second place 2½ games behind Brooklyn going into tonight's games?

"I'm not saying anything about Milwaukee, except it's the most improved team in the league. I'll just stick to my previous prediction—that it's between the Dodgers, Cards, Phillies and Giants."

Stanky, once a Giant himself, said he feared the late season surge of Leo Durocher's New Yorkers.

Figures Giants Tough

"Leo is getting some fine pitching now with those new fellows Worthington (AL) and Gomez (Ruben). They're going to be awfully tough. I've never figured out why the Giants get off to such a slow start and then finish with such a rush.

"It's a reputation the Cards always had, you know. I guess it's just a matter of getting the team jelled. The Giants look pretty jelled right now."

How To Stop An Umpire

AP Newsfeatures

PITTSBURGH—The curiosity of Umpire Dusty Boggess got the better of him during a recent Pittsburgh-Milwaukee game.

As Pitcher Max Surkont of the Braves came to bat, Pirate Catcher Mike Sandlock started to talk to him in Polish. Boggess couldn't stand it any longer and inquired what was going on. Surkont turned around and said:

"Why, suh, that's how we talk in Texas. Aren't you-all from Texas?"

"Play ball," Boggess roared and the conversation ended.

Half Million Cleats Are Free For Asking

OTTUMWA, Ia., July 17 (AP) — Know anybody who wants half a million football cleats?

They're not much good, say Ottumwa school officials who are trying to get rid of them. But the "price" is attractive—they're free for the asking.

It is estimated that half a million cleats seven cleats to a football shoe would supply 25,000 gridironers for one year.

Woman Receives Year For Parole Violation

A local woman was sentenced to one year in the Maryland Reformatory for Women this week in Allegany County Juvenile Court on a charge of violating her parole.

Authorities said Betty J. Reynolds, Fairfax Street, was put on probation about eight months ago during a hearing in which she was charged with contributing to the delinquency of two minor children.

COLTS GET PARSONS END — Paul Nestor, former Parsons (W.Va.) High School gridder, who starred as an end on the University of Maryland's victorious Sugar Bowl eleven in 1951, is now the property of the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League. Nestor, shown above, is going to attend the university's dental school at Baltimore. He came to Baltimore yesterday in a trade with the Chicago Bears.

Colts Obtain Paul Nestor From Bears

Williams, Barwegan Figure In Trade

BALTIMORE, July 17 (AP) — The Baltimore Colts fortified themselves today for their return to the National Football League by retrieving All-America quarterback Bob Williams and all-league guard Dick Barwegen whom they once traded away.

And in a third swap with the Chicago Bears they obtained a rookie end, Paul Nestor, to get a trio of players well known to football fans in the Baltimore area. Nestor played with the University of Maryland.

The Colts, who come back to the league after a two-year absence, gave the Bears two of their picks in next year's draft for Williams and Nestor. They swapped Andy Hillhouse, a rookie end from Texas A & M, for Barwegen.

Barwegen made the All-America Conference all-star team in 1950 with the Colts and then was traded to Chicago. He since has made the all-league teams. The 31-year-old former Purdue star has maintained a fish market here.

The Colts gave the Bears their No. 1 draft pick in 1951 for fullback Jim Spavital. The Bears used it to get Williams, the Notre Dame All-America native of Baltimore.

Nestor played on Maryland's victorious Sugar Bowl eleven in 1951. A native of Parsons, W. Va., he is going to attend the university's dental school here.

Carpenter Charged In Knife Slaying

JOPPA, Md., July 17 (AP)—Oliver R. Kellis, 35-year-old carpenter, was charged today with the stabbing murder of Bernard C. Farley of Baltimore, State's Attorney Robert Archer said.

Farley was killed last night on a visit to tourist cabins he owns on Route 40.

Miss Hodgson Will Admitted To Probate

The will of Miss Katherine Elizabeth Hodgson, of LaVale, who died June 5, was admitted to probate yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

She bequeathed her entire estate to her sisters, Miss Lillian Parker Hodgson and Miss Ella Carter Hodgson, both at home, LaVale.

A nephew, William C. Hodgson, of Washington, was named executor.

County Sanitarian Files June Report

The sanitation section of the County Health Department made 438 field trips last month, J. Byron Dowling, sanitarian, reported yesterday.

Of these, 158 were for sewage inspections, 101 for investigation of nuisance complaints, and the rest were for miscellaneous purposes.

A total of 265 milk samples were analyzed, 15 milk permits were issued, 32 septic tanks were installed and 12 septic tank permits were granted.

Johnson Will Attend Foresters' Meeting

District Forester William H. Johnson plans to attend the annual summer meeting of the Allegheny Section of the Society of American Foresters scheduled August 6, 7 and 8 at the Penn State Blue Jay Summer Forestry Camp near Marienville, in Forest County, Pa.

Foresters from Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey will attend. The host organizations will be the Allegheny National Forest, the Armstrong Forest Company and the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Water.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be an inspection of the Armstrong Forest Company's woodland and pulpwood operations.

Westvaco Hosts Old Germans In Fight For Lead

Westernport Scene Of Today's Battle

A battle for first place is in store for Bi-State Baseball League fans today when Cumberland's Old Germans oppose the Westvaco Papermakers at Memorial Park, Westernport, at 3:30 p. m.

Westvaco, now tied with the Brewers for the league leadership, put an eight-game winning streak on the line today and the Papermakers, no doubt, will pitch Bobby Raines, whose record is 9-0 for the current campaign.

Last Sunday Westvaco knotted up the race by whipping the Old Germans at Penn Avenue Field, 11 to 10, scoring five runs in the ninth to bag the victory.

Norman Geatz, Ronnie Sisk or Jack Kauffman will work on the firing line for the Old Germans.

Westvaco holds a 2-1 edge in its series with Cumberland. The Old G's won the opener, 9-5, but lost the second and third games, 11-4 and 11-10.

Tomorrow Westvaco hosts Frostburg while Grantsville plays the Old Germans at Penn Avenue Field. Both games are set for 2:30.

Carl "Pete" Dicken, league secretary, last night announced that the Frostburg Demons have signed George Drew, who will be eligible for league games today and Sunday.

The schedule for sandlot league teams in the tri-state area today and tomorrow is as follows:

BI-STATE LEAGUE

TODAY:
Cumberland at Westvaco (3:30)
Mt. Savage at Grantsville (3:30)
McCoole at Frostburg (3:30)

SUNDAY:
Grantsville at Cumberland (2:30) (Penn Avenue Field)
Frostburg at Westvaco (2:30)
McCoole at Mt. Savage (2:30)

PEN-MAR LEAGUE

SUNDAY:
Wellersburg at Keyser Ridge (2:30)
Meyersdale at Barrelville (2:30)
Salisbury at Zihlman (2:30)

MOUNTAIN TOP LEAGUE

SUNDAY:
Bittinger at Loch Lynn (2:30 EST)
Terra Alta at Swanton (2:30 EDT)

SOUTH BRANCH LEAGUE

SUNDAY:
Petersburg at Romney (1:00 EST) (doubleheader)
Lost City at Moorefield (2:00 EST)
Wardensville at Franklin (2:00 EST)

Eleven To Start In $100,000 Race

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 17—(INS)—A triple entry by Calumet Farm today headed an 11-horse field entered for tomorrow's marathonlike $100,000 Sunset handicap at Hollywood Park.

Trainer Jimmy Jones entered a gleam, which will carry 116 pounds, fleet bird, weighted at 120, and Dixie Lad, 106, to carry Calumet's Devil-Red Silks in the rich race.

The distance is one and five-eighths miles.

Youth For Christ To Hear Researcher

William Seit, a medical research chemist at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, will address the Tri-State Youth for Christ at a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Seit, who is active in youth work in the Baltimore area, is seeking a cure for polio.

Hokamp To Manage Westernport Store

PIEDMONT — A. F. Hokamp, first assistant manager of Cumberland G. C. Murphy Company store, has been named manager of the company's store here.

Williard D. Young, manager of the Piedmont store for five years, has assumed his duties as manager of a larger Murphy Company Store at McDonald, Pa.

Frostburg Briefs

The Frostburg 4-H Girls will meet Monday at 11 a. m. at the Frostburg Swimming Pool for a meeting and picnic.

The First Presbyterian Church and Sunday School will hold a picnic today at the Celanese swimming pool. Earl Richardson, Sunday school superintendent, announced that a bus will leave the church at 1 p. m.

Mrs. Zella Bittinger, secretary, announced that the annual Hansel family reunion will be held at New Germany, Sunday, July 26. Families and friends are invited to attend and bring their own picnic baskets.

Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, announced that the college will resume Wednesday, September 9.

East Side Homemakers Hear Short Course Report

Mrs. Jacob Minke, Short Course delegate, gave a resume of her week at College Park at the meeting of the East Side Homemakers at the home of Mrs. Carl Smith, Yale Street.

The meeting opened with the flag salute and the singing of "America" by the group.

Mrs. William Flora reported on Civil Defense and Mrs. Irene MacDonald talked on the garden tour at the home of Mrs. Holmes Cessna.

Native Dancer To Waltz In "Graveyard Of Champs"

Many Turf Hot-Shots Have Lost In Classic

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, July 17 (AP)—Native Dancer tomorrow waltzes in the "graveyard of champions," an expected 1-2 favorite to whip Jamie K and seven other thoroughbreds in the $155,000 Arlington Classic, richest race ever for 3-year-olds.

Arlington Park, and particularly the classic, traditionally tumbles turfdom's hot-shots. Johnstown, Bimelech, Whirlaway, Assault and Sub Fleet—all have eaten dust in the classic.

Will Carry 126 Pounds

The Dancer, burdened with six pounds more than the rest of the field at 126, well might stumble to his second defeat in a 17-race career.

The classic will be televised nationally over the Columbia Broadcasting Co. There will be no radio broadcast of the event scheduled for approximately 4:45 p.m. (EST).

The handlers of Jamie K, nipped by a neck against the Dancer in the Preakness and Belmont Stakes, think the time has come for a turnabout on Alfred W. Vanderbilt's grey.

Said Jamie K's trainer, John B. Partridge: "We're getting six pounds, which, according to the experts, is equal to two or two and a half lengths. That would mean if Jamie K runs his race again, we can make that winner's circle this time."

Winner To Get $98,475

An expected throng of 40,000 may see the Dancer also get a run for the top bundle—$98,475 if all nine start—from P. L. Grissom's Van Crosby; Eugene Constantin Jr's Royal Bay Gem, third in both the Preakness and Belmont; and Col. E.P. Taylor's Navy Page, who won his last two starts at Toronto.

The track may be heavy for the 26th running of the classic. Heavy rains deluged the strip this morning and scattered thundershowers are predicted for this area tomorrow afternoon.

The Dancer, again to be ridden by Eric Guerin, has piled up $560,845 in winning 15 of 16 starts. A classic triumph would place him fifth on the list of all-time money winners with $659,320. But even finishing fourth (good for $10,000), the Dancer would forge ahead of Whirlaway ($561,161). Assault is fourth with $675,470.

Arcaro Aboard Jamie K

Rounding out the field are Dixiana Stable's Berseem; Harry N. Eads' Sir Mango; and Mrs. O. S. Deming's Thaxter.

The mile classic will be televised and broadcast nationally by the Columbia Broadcasting System with Chicago shut out. Post time is 4:45 p.m., EST, with TV-radio coverage beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Quiz Song Wins Capra Handicap

JAMAICA, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—John Howard Clark's Quiz Song, rank outsider in the field of eight, stepped six furlongs in the snappy time of 1:11 3/5 to win the $10,000 added Capra Handicap at Jamaica Race Track today.

Under apprentice Willie Lester, Quiz Song, a 5-year-old daughter of Sun Again-Clever Song, scored by 1¼ lenghts over Harry La Montagne's Valadium, who finished a half length ahead of Joe W. Brown's Parading Lady, the 7-5 favorite.

T. F. White's Miss Weesie, the early pace-setter, faded badly in the final quarter. Quiz Song took command at the top of the stretch and drew off to a commanding lead.

Quiz Song returned mutuels of $37.60, $12.70 and $5.50. Valadium paid $6.00 and $3.60 and Parading Lady was $2.60 to show.

St. Louis Browns May Be Shifted To Kansas City

Veeck, However, Says He's Unaware Of Move

ST. LOUIS, July 17 (AP) — The Sporting News today unveiled Kansas City as a possible major league city, with emphasis on the present minor league stadium there becoming the new home of the St. Louis Browns.

The story said the city council of the Western Missouri city — with 1¼ million dollars available —has asked Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, to set a price on the Kansas City stadium.

The Yanks own the stadium as the home grounds of their American Association farm club, the Kansas City Blues.

Bill Veeck, owner of the money-troubled Browns, said he was unaware of any move to shift his club to Kansas City. "It seems to be just another one of those stories," said Veeck, whose Browns were on the move to Baltimore last year before the American League vetoed the idea.

The Sporting News which correctly forecast the intended Browns' shift to Baltimore and the successful move of the Boston Braves to Milwaukee.

Louis Says LaStarza Is "Greatly Improved"

BOSTON, July 17 (AP) — Former heavyweight titlist Joe Louis today warned successor Rocky Marciano that challenger Roland LaStarza will be "greatly improved" for their coming championship boxing bout.

"I'm not saying LaStarza will beat Rocco but I do say he's greatly improved," Louis said. "LaStarza will surprise a lot of people, but not me."

Stanky Predicts Four-Club Fight For N. L. Pennant

Leaves Out Braves, Fears New Yorkers

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, July 17 (AP) — Eddie Stanky says he expects four clubs to fight it out for the National League pennant and he wouldn't be at all surprised if another playoff is necessary to decide the champion.

Besides his own Cardinals, the St. Louis manager picked the Brooklyn Dodgers, Philadelphia Phillies and New York Giants to be in the thick of the race down to the end.

"I've said all along it's going to be a four-team race and I'm not the sort to change my mind," the Redbird pilot added.

Pitching Will Decide

"I don't think there's a thumbnail's difference between these teams right now. The club that gets the pitching down the stretch will take it.

"But I don't think the pennant will be decided until the last two days of the season and there's a good chance for a two-way or three-way tie."

How about Milwaukee, now in second place 2½ games behind Brooklyn going into tonight's games?

"I'm not saying anything about Milwaukee, except it's the most improved team in the league. I'll just stick to my previous prediction—that it's between the Dodgers, Cards, Phillies and Giants."

Stanky, once a Giant himself, said he feared the late season surge of Leo Durocher's New Yorkers.

Figures Giants Tough

"Leo is getting some fine pitching now with those new fellows Worthington (AL) and Gomez (Ruben). They're going to be awfully tough. I've never figured out why the Giants get off to such a slow start and then finish with such a rush.

'It's a reputation the Cards always had, you know. I guess it's just a matter of getting the team jelled. The Giants look pretty jelled right now."

How To Stop An Umpire

AP Newsfeatures

PITTSBURGH—The curiosity of Umpire Dusty Boggess got the better of him during a recent Pittsburgh-Milwaukee game.

As Pitcher Max Surkont of the Braves came to bat, Pirate Catcher Mike Sandlock started to talk to him in Polish. Boggess couldn't stand it any longer and inquired what was going on. Surkont turned around and said:

"Why, suh, that's how we talk in Texas. Aren't you-all from Texas?"

"Play ball," Boggess roared and the conversation ended.

Half Million Cleats Are Free For Asking

OTTUMWA, Ia., July 17 (AP) — Know anybody who wants half a million football cleats?

They're not much good, say Ottumwa school officials who are trying to get rid of them. But the "price" is attractive—they're free for the asking.

It is estimated that half a million cleats seven cleats to a football shoe would supply 25,000 gridironers for one year.

Woman Receives Year For Parole Violation

A local woman was sentenced to one year in the Maryland Reformatory for Women this week in Allegany County Juvenile Court on a charge of violating her parole.

Authorities said Betty J. Reynolds, Fairfax Street, was put on probation about eight months ago during a hearing in which she was charged with contributing to the delinquency of two minor children.

COLTS GET PARSONS END — Paul Nestor, former Parsons (W.Va.) High School gridder, who starred as an end on the University of Maryland's victorious Sugar Bowl eleven in 1951, is now the property of the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League. Nestor, shown above, is going to attend the university's dental school at Baltimore. He came to Baltimore yesterday in a trade with the Chicago Bears.

Colts Obtain Paul Nestor From Bears

Williams, Barwegan Figure In Trade

BALTIMORE, July 17 (AP) — The Baltimore Colts fortified themselves today for their return to the National Football League by retrieving All-America quarterback Bob Williams and all-league guard Dick Barwegen whom they once traded away.

And in a third swap with the Chicago Bears they obtained a rookie end, Paul Nestor, to get a trio of players well known to football fans in the Baltimore area. Nestor played with the University of Maryland.

The Colts, who come back to the league after a two-year absence, gave the Bears two of their picks in next year's draft for Williams and Nestor. They swapped Andy Hillhouse, a rookie end from Texas A & M, for Barwegen.

Barwegen made the All-America Conference all-star team in 1950 with the Colts and then was traded to Chicago. He since has made the all-league teams. The 31-year-old former Purdue star has maintained a fish market here.

The Colts gave the Bears their No. 1 draft pick in 1951 for fullback Jim Spavital. The Bears used it to get Williams, the Notre Dame All-America native of Baltimore.

Nestor played on Maryland's victorious Sugar Bowl eleven in 1951. A native of Parsons, W. Va., he is going to attend the university's dental school here.

Carpenter Charged In Knife Slaying

JOPPA, Md., July 17 (AP)—Oliver R. Kellis, 35-year-old carpenter, was charged today with the stabbing murder of Bernard C. Farley of Baltimore, State's Attorney Robert Archer said.

Farley was killed last night on a visit to tourist cabins he owns on Route 40.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Ernest Herman Browning vs. Mary Jane Browning.

Horseshoe, Box Hockey Tournament Planned

Horseshoe and box hockey play will get underway in earnest next week as players on the city's 16 playgrounds plan for the intra-city championship games Thursday and Friday.

The semi-finals will be played Thursday to name Northern and Southern division champions. Finals in both sports will be held next Friday night.

Miss Hodgson Will Admitted To Probate

The will of Miss Katherine Elizabeth Hodgson, of LaVale, who died June 5, was admitted to probate yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

She bequeathed her entire estate to her sisters, Miss Lillian Parker Hodgson and Miss Ella Carter Hodgson, both at home, LaVale.

A nephew, William C. Hodgson, of Washington, was named executor.

County Sanitarian Files June Report

The sanitation section of the County Health Department made 438 field trips last month, J. Byron Dowling, sanitarian, reported yesterday.

Of these, 158 were for sewage inspections, 101 for investigation of nuisance complaints, and the rest were for miscellaneous purposes.

A total of 265 milk samples were analyzed, 15 milk permits were issued, 32 septic tanks were installed and 12 septic tank permits were granted.

Johnson Will Attend Foresters' Meeting

District Forester William H. Johnson plans to attend the annual summer meeting of the Allegheny Section of the Society of American Foresters scheduled August 6, 7 and 8 at the Penn State Blue Jay Summer Forestry Camp near Marienville, in Forest County, Pa.

Foresters from Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey will attend. The host organizations will be the Allegheny National Forest, the Armstrong Forest Company and the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Water.

One of the highlights of the meeting will be an inspection of the Armstrong Forest Company's woodland and pulpwood operations.

Westvaco Hosts Old Germans In Fight For Lead

Westernport Scene Of Today's Battle

A battle for first place is in store for Bi-State Baseball League fans today when Cumberland's Old Germans oppose the Westvaco Papermakers at Memorial Park, Westernport, at 3:30 p. m.

Westvaco, now tied with the Brewers for the league leadership, put an eight-game winning streak on the line today and the Papermakers, no doubt, will pitch Bobby Raines, whose record is 9-0 for the current campaign.

Last Sunday Westvaco knotted up the race by whipping the Old Germans at Penn Avenue Field, 11 to 10, scoring five runs in the ninth to bag the victory.

Norman Geatz, Ronnie Sisk or Jack Kauffman will work on the firing line for the Old Germans.

Westvaco holds a 2-1 edge in its series with Cumberland. The Old G's won the opener, 9-5, but lost the second and third games, 11-4 and 11-10.

Tomorrow Westvaco hosts Frostburg while Grantsville plays the Old Germans at Penn Avenue Field. Both games are set for 2:30.

Carl "Pete" Dicken, league secretary, last night announced that the Frostburg Demons have signed George Drew, who will be eligible for league games today and Sunday.

The schedule for sandlot league teams in the tri-state area today and tomorrow is as follows:

BI-STATE LEAGUE

TODAY:
Cumberland at Westvaco (3:30)
Mt. Savage at Grantsville (3:30)
McCoole at Frostburg (3:30)

SUNDAY:
Grantsville at Cumberland (2:30)
(Penn Avenue Field)
Frostburg at Westvaco (2:30)
McCoole at Mt. Savage (2:30)

PEN-MAR LEAGUE

SUNDAY:
Wellersburg at Keyser Ridge (2:30)
Meyersdale at Barrelville (2:30)
Salisbury at Zihlman (2:30)

MOUNTAIN TOP LEAGUE

SUNDAY:
Bittinger at Loch Lynn (2:30 EST)
Terra Alta at Swanton (2:30 EDT)

SOUTH BRANCH LEAGUE

SUNDAY:
Petersburg at Romney (1:00 EST)
(doubleheader)
Lost City at Moorefield (2:00 EST)
Wardensville at Franklin (2:00 EST)

Native Dancer To Waltz In "Graveyard Of Champs"

Many Turf Hot-Shots Have Lost In Classic

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, July 17 (AP)—Native Dancer tomorrow waltzes in the "graveyard of champions," an expected 1-2 favorite to whip Jamie K and seven other thoroughbreds in the $155,000 Arlington Classic, richest race ever for 3-year-olds.

Arlington Park, and particularly the classic, traditionally tumbles turfdom's hot-shots. Johnstown, Bimelech, Whirlaway, Assault and Sub Fleet—all have eaten dust in the classic.

Will Carry 126 Pounds

The Dancer, burdened with six pounds more than the rest of the field at 126, well might stumble to his second defeat in a 17-race career.

The classic will be televised nationally over the Columbia Broadcasting Co. There will be no radio broadcast of the event scheduled for approximately 4:45 p.m. (EST).

The handlers of Jamie K, nipped by a neck against the Dancer in the Preakness and Belmont Stakes, think the time has come for a turnabout on Alfred W. Vanderbilt's grey.

Said Jamie K's trainer, John B. Partridge: "We're getting six pounds, which, according to the experts, is equal to two or two and a half lengths. That would mean if Jamie K runs his race again, we can make that winner's circle this time."

Winner To Get $98,475

An expected throng of 40,000 may see the Dancer also get a run for the top bundle—$98,475 if all nine start—from P. L. Grissom's Van Crosby; Eugene Constantin Jr's Royal Bay Gem, third in both the Preakness and Belmont; and Col. E.P. Taylor's Navy Page, who won his last two starts at Toronto.

The track may be heavy for the 26th running of the classic. Heavy rains deluged the strip this morning and scattered thundershowers are predicted for this area tomorrow afternoon.

The Dancer, again to be ridden by Eric Guerin, has piled up $560,845 in winning 15 of 16 starts. A classic triumph would place him fifth on the list of all-time money winners with $659,320. But even finishing fourth (good for $10,000), the Dancer would forge ahead of Whirlaway ($561,161). Assault is fourth with $675,470.

Arcaro Aboard Jamie K

Rounding out the field are Dixiana Stable's Berseem; Harry N. Eads' Sir Mango; and Mrs. O. S. Deming's Thaxter.

The mile classic will be televised and broadcast nationally by the Columbia Broadcasting System with Chicago shut out. Post time is 4:45 p.m., EST, with TV-radio coverage beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Quiz Song Wins Capra Handicap

JAMAICA, N. Y., July 17 (AP)—John Howard Clark's Quiz Song, rank outsider in the field of eight, stepped six furlongs in the snappy time of 1:11 3/5 to win the $10,000 added Capra Handicap at Jamaica Race Track today.

Under apprentice Willie Lester, Quiz Song, a 5-year-old daughter of Sun Again-Clever Song, scored by 1¼ lenghts over Harry La Montagne's Valadium, who finished a half length ahead of Joe W. Brown's Parading Lady, the 7-5 favorite.

T. F. White's Miss Weesie, the early pace-setter, faded badly in the final quarter. Quiz Song took command at the top of the stretch and drew off to a commanding lead.

Quiz Song returned mutuels of $37.60, $12.70 and $5.50. Valadium paid $6.00 and $3.60 and Parading Lady was $2.60 to show.

St. Louis Browns May Be Shifted To Kansas City

Veeck, However, Says He's Unaware Of Move

ST. LOUIS, July 17 (AP) — The Sporting News today unveiled Kansas City as a possible major league city, with emphasis on the present minor league stadium there becoming the new home of the St. Louis Browns.

The story said the city council of the Western Missouri city — with 1¼ million dollars available —has asked Del Webb, co-owner of the New York Yankees, to set a price on the Kansas City stadium.

The Yanks own the stadium as the home grounds of their American Association farm club, the Kansas City Blues.

Bill Veeck, owner of the money-troubled Browns, said he was unaware of any move to shift his club to Kansas City. "It seems to be just another one of those stories," said Veeck, whose Browns were on the move to Baltimore last year before the American League vetoed the idea.

The Sporting News which correctly forecast the intended Browns' shift to Baltimore and the successful move of the Boston Braves to Milwaukee.

Louis Says LaStarza Is "Greatly Improved"

BOSTON, July 17 (AP) — Former heavyweight titlist Joe Louis today warned successor Rocky Marciano that challenger Roland LaStarza will be "greatly improved" for their coming championship boxing bout.

"I'm not saying LaStarza will beat Rocco but I do say he's greatly improved," Louis said. "LaStarza will surprise a lot of people, but not me."

Pastor-Elect At Keyser Accepted By Presbytery

Rev. Dr. MacLeod To Arrive Sept. 1

KEYSER—Rev. Dr. John MacLeod Jr., Sweet Hall, Va., who will come to Keyser to begin his pastorate of the Keyser Presbyterian church next month, was received into the Winchester Presbytery, at the regular quarterly session of that body this week.

Among those attending from Keyser were K. S. McKee and Frank Hott, laymen of the Presbytery.

Others attending in an official capacity with McKee and Hott, were Rev. Robert Campbell, pastor of the Piedmont church; Rev. P. Cary Adams, pastor of the Romney church; Dr. O. S. Eikenbery, president of Shepherd College, a layman, and Dr. George D. Jackson, pastor of the Winchester church.

These men were named as a commission to conduct the installation of Dr. MacLeod to the pastorate in a program to be arranged later, and presented on Thursday, September 20 at the church.

Dr. MacLeod will arrive and take over the local work informally on September 1.

NEW MINISTER ORDAINED — Robert E. Flottemesch of Baltimore (left), newly-appointed assistant rector at St. George's Episcopal Church, Mt. Savage, is congratulated by Bishop Noble C. Beall Auditorium Gets Improvements

FROSTBURG—The interior walls and ceiling of the Beall High School auditorium have been redecorated and undergone improvements designed to correct the accoustics. The walls have been painted with a grey border about five feet in height and the remainder of the wall surface has been painted in light blue.

The stage has been decorated in sunset yellow, and an acoustic covering has been placed over the entire ceiling. Another change which adds much to the attractiveness of the auditorium is the removal of the shades which had been over the interior of the windows for several years.

Four-H Leaders Discuss Plans For Camp Kidd

Water Supply To Be Improved

PARSONS — Twenty-four 4-H leaders and persons interested in 4-H Club work recently attended a county-wide meeting in the Court House, at which time the water supply of Camp Kidd was discussed.

The water, which was formerly disapproved by A. E. Stroup, sanitation representative of Elkins, will be approved if the camp well can be covered with a large concrete top. One hundred dollars will be needed for the work, of which $80 has already been donated.

Presiding at the meeting was H. Dale Ridgeway, principal of Parsons Graded School and president of the county 4-H leaders. He appointed Lorren Lambert, Cecil M. Stalnaker and Miss Anna Bogdonovich as a committee to appoint a county planning committee. That committee will decide what the 4-H camp will need in equipment and supplies over a long period of time and will list the needs for the camp in the order of desirability. The committee will also study ways to raise money to complete its plans.

The leaders voted to purchase a large restaurant-type range for use at the camp. They also planned to complete the screening of the buildings and to scrub and varnish the dining and assembly hall prior to camp opening.

Four clubs of this county have had as projects this year the redecoration of a room at the camp. The Holly Meadows club, the Parsons Grade club, the Davis Grade and high school clubs have completed their projects of painting the interior, screening the windows and furnishing mattress covers for the beds in those rooms. The Parsons club also had two double bunk beds made for their room under the direction of H. Dale Ridgeway.

There will be an initiation of the following persons: Mrs. Gladys Warnick, Mrs. Bernadine Smith, Mrs. Joan Faget, and Miss Mary Nicht.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Auxiliary To Meet

BARTON—The auxiliary to Barton Hose Company will hold its next meeting Tuesday at 7 p. m. at the new fire hall. Plans will be made for the annual picnic.

Western Maryland Posts Honored At Legion Meet

LONACONING — Edward E. Nolan, Mountain District vice commander for the past year, was elected to the Maryland State Executive Committee at the recent American Legion convention at Baltimore.

The executive committee elected at the convention is Russell J. Paupe and Thomas F. Conlon, of Fort Cumberland Post 13, Cumberland; Edward Kale, of Proctor-Kildow post, Oakland; John Schumaker, of Accident Post No. 208; and Edward E. Nolan, of James P. Love Post 92, American Legion.

The Mountain District received second highest rating for membership, having attained 11 per cent to have the second highest membership rating for the convention honors.

Three child welfare citations were awarded to Mountain District posts. Farrady Post 24, Frostburg; Midland Post 169, and James P. Love Post 92 of Lonaconing, were honored with the citations.

A trophy was presented to Mountain District for having submitted the highest percentage of records on child welfare during the year. Midland Post 169 received a plaque for activities on Americanism.

James McNeill Jr., Farrady Post 24, was elected to the office of Mountain District vice commander to succeed Edward E. Nolan.

Three Barton Women Attend Convention

They were Mrs. Elsie Clark and Mrs. Jane Davis, delegates, and Mrs. Ruth Shuhart, delegate at large.

The unit will hold a dinner at Layman's Farm near Frostburg September 30 for members of the unit and of the Legion post. Reservations may be made at the Legion home before September 20.

The next meeting will be held July 20 at 8 p. m. at the home.

Pastor-Elect At Keyser Accepted By Presbytery

Rev. Dr. MacLeod To Arrive Sept. 1

KEYSER—Rev. Dr. John MacLeod Jr., Sweet Hall, Va., who will come to Keyser to begin his pastorate of the Keyser Presbyterian church next month, was received into the Winchester Presbytery, at the regular quarterly session of that body this week.

Among those attending from Keyser were K. S. McKee and Frank Hott, laymen of the Presbytery.

Others attending in an official capacity with McKee and Hott, were Rev. Robert Campbell, pastor of the Piedmont church; Rev. P. Cary Adams, pastor of the Romney church; Dr. O. S. Eikenbery, president of Shepherd College, a layman, and Dr. George D. Jackson, pastor of the Winchester church.

These men were named as a commission to conduct the installation of Dr. MacLeod to the pastorate in a program to be arranged later, and presented on Thursday, September 20 at the church.

Dr. MacLeod will arrive and take over the local work informally on September 1.

NEW MINISTER ORDAINED — Robert E. Flottemesch of Baltimore (left), newly-appointed assistant rector at St. George's Episcopal Church, Mt. Savage, is congratulated by Bishop Noble C. Powell after his ordination as a deacon yesterday in Baltimore. Rev. Flottemesch also will serve as vicar of St. Phillip's Chapel, Cumberland. He will receive his bachelor of divinity degree next year at Nashotah Theological Seminary in Wisconsin. Rev. G. Stanley Schwind, rector of St. George's, was in Baltimore for the ordination yesterday.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles E. Canady Jr. and family, Baltimore, are spending several days here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cope, East Main Street. Rev. Canady is a former rector of St. John's Episcopal Church.

Prof. Donald E. Conn, supervisor of schools in the Brownsville, Pa. area, spent the weekend here en route to New York to attend the national Shrine convention. Prof. Conn is a former member of Beall High School faculty, of Frostburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffith Dorn and family, Baltimore, were here recently as guests of Mrs. Dorn's mother, Mrs. Winifred Reese, Beall Street. Mrs. Reese accompanied them back to Baltimore.

Mrs. Edna Plummer, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Plummer and Mr. and Mrs. John Tomlinson, Grahamtown, spent a recent weekend in Akron, Ohio, the guests of Mrs. Mollie Hawkins and daughter, Beatrice.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Poole and family, Walnut Street, spent a recent weekend in Athens, Ohio, visiting friends.

Allan D. Eisel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Eisel, 10 West College Avenue, is home from Miners Hospital after receiving treatment for a concussion, the result of a fall from a tree.

Mr. and Mrs. Scottie Hazelwood and two children, William and Jane, who were here visiting relatives, have returned to their home, Midwest, Oklahoma, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Schneider, parents of Mrs. Hazelwood.

Upton B. F. Edwards, who had been a patient in Memorial Hospital for several weeks, is recuperating at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Joseph R. Durst, 57 Frost Avenue.

Ralph P. Bender, Standish Street, assistant cashier of the Frostburg National Bank, is recuperating at his home after being a patient in Miners Hospital for a week.

Beall Auditorium Gets Improvements

FROSTBURG—The interior walls and ceiling of the Beall High School auditorium have been redecorated and undergone improvements designed to correct the accoustics. The walls have been painted with a grey border about five feet in height and the remainder of the wall surface has been painted in light blue.

The stage has been decorated in sunset yellow, and an acoustic covering has been placed over the entire ceiling. Another change which adds much to the attractiveness of the auditorium is the removal of the shades which had been over the interior of the windows for several years.

Four-H Leaders Discuss Plans For Camp Kidd

Water Supply To Be Improved

PARSONS — Twenty-four 4-H leaders and persons interested in 4-H Club work recently attended a county-wide meeting in the Court House, at which time the water supply of Camp Kidd was discussed.

The water, which was formerly disapproved by A. E. Stroup, sanitation representative of Elkins, will be approved if the camp well can be covered with a large concrete top. One hundred dollars will be needed for the work, of which $80 has already been donated.

Presiding at the meeting was H. Dale Ridgeway, principal of Parsons Graded School and president of the county 4-H leaders. He appointed Lorren Lambert, Cecil M. Stalnaker and Miss Anna Bogdonovich as a committee to appoint a county planning committee. That committee will decide what the 4-H camp will need in equipment and supplies over a long period of time and will list the needs for the camp in the order of desirability. The committee will also study ways to raise money to complete its plans.

The leaders voted to purchase a large restaurant-type range for use at the camp. They also planned to complete the screening of the buildings and to scrub and varnish the dining and assembly hall prior to camp opening.

Four clubs of this county have had as projects this year the redecoration of a room at the camp. The Holly Meadows club, the Parsons Grade club, the Davis Grade and high school clubs have completed their projects of painting the interior, screening the windows and furnishing mattress covers for the beds in those rooms. The Parsons club also had two double bunk beds made for their room under the direction of H. Dale Ridgeway.

Eagles Auxiliary To Initiate Members

FROSTBURG — The regular meeting of the Fraternal Order of Eagles Auxiliary will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the lodge rooms.

There will be an initiation of the following persons: Mrs. Gladys Warnick, Mrs. Bernadine Smith, Mrs. Joan Faget, and Miss Mary Nicht.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Auxiliary To Meet

BARTON—The auxiliary to Barton Hose Company will hold its next meeting Tuesday at 7 p. m. at the new fire hall. Plans will be made for the annual picnic.

Western Maryland Posts Honored At Legion Meet

LONACONING — Edward E. Nolan, Mountain District vice commander for the past year, was elected to the Maryland State Executive Committee at the recent American Legion convention at Baltimore.

The executive committee elected at the convention is Russell J. Paupe and Thomas F. Conlon, of Fort Cumberland Post 13, Cumberland; Edward Kale, of Proctor-Kildow post, Oakland; John Schumaker, of Accident Post No. 208; and Edward E. Nolan, of James P. Love Post 92, American Legion.

The Mountain District received second highest rating for membership, having attained 11 per cent to have the second highest membership rating for the convention honors.

Three child welfare citations were awarded to Mountain District posts. Farrady Post 24, Frostburg; Midland Post 169, and James P. Love Post 92 of Lonaconing, were honored with the citations.

A trophy was presented to Mountain District for having submitted the highest percentage of records on child welfare during the year. Midland Post 169 received a plaque for activities on Americanism.

James McNeill Jr., Farrady Post 24, was elected to the office of Mountain District vice commander to succeed Edward E. Nolan.

Three Barton Women Attend Convention

They were Mrs. Elsie Clark and Mrs. Jane Davis, delegates, and Mrs. Ruth Shuhart, delegate at large.

The unit will hold a dinner at Layman's Farm near Frostburg September 30 for members of the unit and of the Legion post. Reservations may be made at the Legion home before September 20.

The next meeting will be held July 20 at 8 p. m. at the home.

Observes Birthday

LONACONING — Miss Sally Kelly was honored on her 13th birthday Thursday evening at a birthday party at the VFW home.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kelly, Watercliffe, entertained for her birthday observance. Games were played and refreshments were served.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 17 (INS) — I always say you get your best news when you accidentally meet people. While I was saying au revoir at Chasen's to Corris and Nunnally Johnson, who leave for Munich, I just happened to ask, "What goes with Gloria Grahame?"

"She's not going to Munich with us," said Nunnally, "but we were fortunate enough to get Rita Gam, and we're all very happy over it."

So, it's Rita Gam who'll co-star with Gregory Peck in "Night People." Rita is the luscious looking girl who first won fame in "The Thief," and she is as brunette as Gloria is blonde, but they both play the same type character.

I had heard that George and Henry were on the Warner lot for a meeting with Jack Warner about releasing "Giant."

"True," said Henry, "that we talked with Jack but we made no plans. I have been resting since my appendectomy and we won't do anything definite until after our meeting with Edna Ferber."

Talented Max Steiner, who left Warners after 16 years and three Oscars, was closeted with David Selznick today for hours.

With my ear to the keyhole, I discovered that Max, who wrote the original musical score for "Gone With the Wind," is being paged by David for the Broadway musical, "Scarlett O'Hara," which is based, of course, on Margaret Mitchell's famous novel.

This stage play ought to put David back in big business.

Jeanne Crain, for the first time in her life, plays a sophisticated woman of the world in "Duel in the Jungle" and she is having some very chic clothes designed for her by Renee.

Jeanne and her husband, Paul Brinkman, leave in mid-August, and, after a brief vacation in London, go on to Johannesburg, Africa, where the picture gets under way September 1.

Jeanne, Dana Andrews, George Marshall, the director, and Tony Owen, the producer, will be away from the local scene for six months. Paul will fly back several times during the long safari to see the four Brinkman children. That was the only thing that worried Jeanne, leaving her children, and she wouldn't go without Paul, to whom she is so happily married.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Pierre Galante, of Paris Match magazine, will be at the Beverly Hills Hotel Friday, and you can bet Olivia De Havilland will be back from Dallas to meet him.

Quietly dining at Chasen's was Nora Eddington Flynn Haymes with Jimmy Van Heusen. Nora told me that she will not go to Las Vegas but will file for a divorce from Dick Haymes right in Los Angeles.

Marguerite Piazza, who was married Wednesday in Memphis to William Condon, arrives here in two days. She opens in Las Vegas July 28.

Ingrid Bergman's ex, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, comes in from Pittsburgh every weekend to New York to visit a lady friend.

I've never seen two happier people than Darrylin Zanuck Jacks and her handsome husband, Robert Jacks, producer at 20th. They have been told by Darrylin's doctor that she probably will have twins. There have been twins in Mrs. Darryl Zanuck's family.

Singer Betty Reiley, billed as the Irish senoria, flew in from night club appearances to get her interlocutory divorce from the much married Orchestra Leader Charlie Barnett. After she gets her divorce she takes off for the Copacabana in New York.

Red Skelton, Herb Shriner and Joe E. Lewis, now appearing at Las Vegas nighteries, all caught a part of Milton's act, which I am told is very funny.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

VFW Unit Begins Plans For Contest

Plans for the nineteenth annual essay contest are already being prepared by Henry Hart Unit 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary. The contest is open to local high school students, with the winning essay here submitted in the state competition.

This year's local winner, Douglas Houck, who graduated last month from Allegany High, also won state honors and his essay is being considered in the national finals. The winner will be announced from national headquarters next month.

Down in the Valley...

Maybe this year's All-Star game is history . . . but still we see visions of "Country" Slaughter's somersault catch of a fly ball . . . "Satchel" Paige winding-up to let fly with his slow, slower and slowest pitch! These and many more things go to make the All-Star tussle a favorite with the public. Same thing's true in other sports, too . . . big events, little events all of them remembered and important to somebody. And that, by golly, is what people like about coming Down In the Valley . . . the atmosphere, the service . . . something to be remembered whether it's a big event or a little event! Take, for instance, the speedy free delivery on package goods, case beer, and the best food in town. All you do is call, tell us what your pleasure is and . . . zippo . . . there it is. Delectable, delicious and delivered . . . right to your own front (or back) door. Picnic snacks we got, too . . . cole slaw, potato salad, cold baked ham . . . everything to make for a picnic to end all picnics. The Valley has it, man . . . everything you want and need to make livin' easier, funnier and sunnier. Come on Down and join the fun . . . or call us and we'll bring the fun to you!

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 17 (INS) — I always say you get your best news when you accidentally meet people. While I was saying au revoir at Chasen's to Corris and Nunnally Johnson, who leave for Munich, I just happened to ask, "What goes with Gloria Grahame?"

"She's not going to Munich with us," said Nunnally, "but we were fortunate enough to get Rita Gam, and we're all very happy over it."

So, it's Rita Gam who'll co-star with Gregory Peck in "Night People." Rita is the luscious looking girl who first won fame in "The Thief," and she is as brunette as Gloria is blonde, but they both play the same type character.

Over the weekend Edna Ferber arrives in San Francisco and immediately Henry Ginsberg and George Stevens confer with her about her controversial novel "Giant" which is their first picture.

I had heard that George and Henry were on the Warner lot for a meeting with Jack Warner about releasing "Giant."

"True," said Henry, "that we talked with Jack but we made no plans. I have been resting since my appendectomy and we won't do anything definite until after our meeting with Edna Ferber."

Talented Max Steiner, who left Warners after 16 years and three Oscars, was closeted with David Selznick today for hours.

With my ear to the keyhole, I discovered that Max, who wrote the original musical score for "Gone With the Wind," is being paged by David for the Broadway musical, "Scarlett O'Hara," which is based, of course, on Margaret Mitchell's famous novel.

This stage play ought to put David back in big business.

Jeanne and her husband, Paul Brinkman, leave in mid-August, and, after a brief vacation in London, go on to Johannesburg, Africa, where the picture gets under way September 1.

Jeanne, Dana Andrews, George Marshall, the director, and Tony Owen, the producer, will be away from the local scene for six months. Paul will fly back several times during the long safari to see the four Brinkman children. That was the only thing that worried Jeanne, leaving her children, and she wouldn't go without Paul, to whom she is so happily married.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Pierre Galante, of Paris Match magazine, will be at the Beverly Hills Hotel Friday, and you can bet Olivia De Havilland will be back from Dallas to meet him.

Quietly dining at Chasen's was Nora Eddington Flynn Haymes with Jimmy Van Heusen. Nora told me that she will not go to Las Vegas but will file for a divorce from Dick Haymes right in Los Angeles.

Marguerite Piazza, who was married Wednesday in Memphis to William Condon, arrives here in two days. She opens in Las Vegas July 28.

Ingrid Bergman's ex, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, comes in from Pittsburgh every weekend to New York to visit a lady friend.

I've never seen two happier people than Darrylin Zanuck Jacks and her handsome husband, Robert Jacks, producer at 20th. They have been told by Darrylin's doctor that she probably will have twins. There have been twins in Mrs. Darryl Zanuck's family.

Singer Betty Reiley, billed as the Irish senoria, flew in from night club appearances to get her interlocutory divorce from the much married Orchestra Leader Charlie Barnett. After she gets her divorce she takes off for the Copacabana in New York.

Red Skelton, Herb Shriner and Joe E. Lewis, now appearing at Las Vegas nighteries, all caught a part of Milton's act, which I am told is very funny.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

VFW Unit Begins Plans For Contest

Plans for the nineteenth annual essay contest are already being prepared by Henry Hart Unit 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary. The contest is open to local high school students, with the winning essay here submitted in the state competition.

This year's local winner, Douglas Houck, who graduated last month from Allegany High, also won state honors and his essay is being considered in the national finals. The winner will be announced from national headquarters next month.

Down in the Valley...

Maybe this year's All-Star game is history . . . but still we see visions of "Country" Slaughter's somersault catch of a fly ball . . . "Satchel" Paige winding-up to let fly with his slow, slower and slowest pitch! These and many more things go to make the All-Star tussle a favorite with the public. Same thing's true in other sports, too . . . big events, little events all of them remembered and important to somebody. And that, by golly, is what people like about coming Down In the Valley . . . the atmosphere, the service . . . something to be remembered whether it's a big event or a little event! Take, for instance, the speedy free delivery on package goods, case beer, and the best food in town. All you do is call, tell us what your pleasure is and . . . zippo . . . there it is. Delectable, delicious and delivered . . . right to your own front (or back) door. Picnic snacks we got, too . . . cole slaw, potato salad, cold baked ham . . . everything to make for a picnic to end all picnics. The Valley has it, man . . . everything you want and need to make livin' easier, funnier and sunnier. Come on Down and join the fun . . . or call us and we'll bring the fun to you!

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

There was a good deal of muttering when it became known that the Medallion Theater, one of the more ambitious half-hour dramatic programs, would tackle Sinclair Lewis's "Arrowsmith" on its debut. I, for one, felt strongly that anyone who attempted to compress "Arrowsmith" into half an hour ought to have both heads examined.

However the producer, William Spier, put my fears at rest at the outset with the announcement that the drama would be "The Decision of Arrowsmith" — in short, a fragment from the novel rather than the whole book. The particular chunk of the book, of course, was the crisis in the West Indies where Dr. Arrowsmith is trying to find an innoculation against the bubonic plague.

John Crosby

In the long range interests of humanity, he innoculates two out of three, throwing each third person to the germs, in order to prove with scientific decision whether or not his serum is any good. This sort of agonizing choice — his compassion for a small uninnoculated boy warring against his instincts as a scientist—is the sort of thing a good actor can really get his teeth into. And Henry Fonda, who played Arrowsmith, is a very good actor indeed.

It's a joy to watch Fonda finger a test tube or handle a syringe, as if he had been up to his hips in medicine all his life. He brings an imposing authority to every role he does. Of course, he also brings along Henry Fonda, so that while you are looking at Arrowsmith, you may catch occasional glimpses of Mr. Roberts or even the banker in "Point of No Return." He has stamped himself so thoroughly on all these parts that it is going to be difficult for anyone to play any of them without invidious comparisons. In that regard, he reminds me of George Arliss who assumed the identities of Richelieu and Disraeli and a lot of other historic personages with such magnificent assertiveness that I have never managed to read about any of them without conjuring up Arliss's bony, dominant face.

"Decision of Arrowsmith" was a good deal more than a triumph for Fonda. It was a very trim production all around, well cast, soberly and competently written, and tidily directed by Ralph Nelson. I am very happy that the Chrysler Corp. which sponsored it, has thrown its lot in with live television rather than the seductions of Hollywood film which has attracted so many others. If prestige is what they want — and I assume that they do —I think they'll be better off on the cable than in a can.

I also think Medallion Theater was very sensible in extracting a self-contained bit of a novel for a half hour show, an idea that might be spread around a little more widely. There must be a lot of books which contain two or three chapters which would make ideal half hour dramas. This sort of thing, of course, has its limitations. This particular bit of Arrowsmith" is certainly the strongest dramatically; at the same time it's hardly characteristic of Sinclair Lewis, the mordant social bite having been sacrificed in favor of good theater. You can't have everything.

Medallion Theater (CBS-TV 10 p. m. EDT Saturdays) is off to a good running start, though. Coming this week: "Jimmy Valentine."

About another of CBS's newer acquisitions I'm not nearly so enthusiastic. Larry Storch, also on view Saturday nights (CBS-TV 8 p. m. EDT), is a youngish comedian who has caused quite a stir in the nightclubs. He's also been seen on a few other television shows where the ripples were a good deal smaller in circumference.

CBS has enveloped Storch in an hour long variety show with dancing girls, guest stars, singers and whatnot, but the bulk of the work falls squarely on his own shoulders. I don't think he's quite big enough to handle such a chore. Storch, who looks a little like a young Lincoln, is one of those comics like Red Skelton or Jackie Gleason or Red Buttons who has a whole assortment of characters at his finger-tips.

One moment he's Smiley Higgins, the next he's Monsieur Storch, the boulevardier; the next he's Seaman Albert Beamish, who can do an Italian waiter who drives the customers out of their wits or a baseball pitcher, getting his signals from the catcher. They're clever enough, these impersonations, but somehow the manic inspiration that jolts you into laughing is missing. He works awfully hard at it — possibly a little too hard — but, in sum, he doesn't seem quite ready for the big time yet.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

There was a good deal of muttering when it became known that the Medallion Theater, one of the more ambitious half-hour dramatic programs, would tackle Sinclair Lewis's "Arrowsmith" on its debut. I, for one, felt strongly that anyone who attempted to compress "Arrowsmith" into half an hour ought to have both heads examined.

However the producer, William Spier, put my fears at rest at the outset with the announcement that the drama would be "The Decision of Arrowsmith" — in short, a fragment from the novel rather than the whole book. The particular chunk of the book, of course, was the crisis in the West Indies where Dr. Arrowsmith is trying to find an innoculation against the bubonic plague.

John Crosby

In the long range interests of humanity, he innoculates two out of three, throwing each third person to the germs, in order to prove with scientific decision whether or not his serum is any good. This sort of agonizing choice — his compassion for a small uninnoculated boy warring against his instincts as a scientist—is the sort of thing a good actor can really get his teeth into. And Henry Fonda, who played Arrowsmith, is a very good actor indeed.

It's a joy to watch Fonda finger a test tube or handle a syringe, as if he had been up to his hips in medicine all his life. He brings an imposing authority to every role he does. Of course, he also brings along Henry Fonda, so that while you are looking at Arrowsmith, you may catch occasional glimpses of Mr. Roberts or even the banker in "Point of No Return." He has stamped himself so thoroughly on all these parts that it is going to be difficult for anyone to play any of them without invidious comparisons. In that regard, he reminds me of George Arliss who assumed the identities of Richelieu and Disraeli and a lot of other historic personages with such magnificent assertiveness that I have never managed to read about any of them without conjuring up Arliss's bony, dominant face.

"Decision of Arrowsmith" was a good deal more than a triumph for Fonda. It was a very trim production all around, well cast, soberly and competently written, and tidily directed by Ralph Nelson. I am very happy that the Chrysler Corp. which sponsored it, has thrown its lot in with live television rather than the seductions of Hollywood film which has attracted so many others. If prestige is what they want — and I assume that they do —I think they'll be better off on the cable than in a can.

I also think Medallion Theater was very sensible in extracting a self-contained bit of a novel for a half hour show, an idea that might be spread around a little more widely. There must be a lot of books which contain two or three chapters which would make ideal half hour dramas. This sort of thing, of course, has its limitations. This particular bit of Arrowsmith" is certainly the strongest dramatically; at the same time it's hardly characteristic of Sinclair Lewis, the mordant social bite having been sacrificed in favor of good theater. You can't have everything.

Medallion Theater (CBS-TV 10 p. m. EDT Saturdays) is off to a good running start, though. Coming this week: "Jimmy Valentine."

About another of CBS's newer acquisitions I'm not nearly so enthusiastic. Larry Storch, also on view Saturday nights (CBS-TV 8 p. m. EDT), is a youngish comedian who has caused quite a stir in the nightclubs. He's also been seen on a few other television shows where the ripples were a good deal smaller in circumference.

CBS has enveloped Storch in an hour long variety show with dancing girls, guest stars, singers and whatnot, but the bulk of the work falls squarely on his own shoulders. I don't think he's quite big enough to handle such a chore. Storch, who looks a little like a young Lincoln, is one of those comics like Red Skelton or Jackie Gleason or Red Buttons who has a whole assortment of characters at his finger-tips.

One moment he's Smiley Higgins, the next he's Monsieur Storch, the boulevardier; the next he's Seaman Albert Beamish, who can do an Italian waiter who drives the customers out of their wits or a baseball pitcher, getting his signals from the catcher. They're clever enough, these impersonations, but somehow the manic inspiration that jolts you into laughing is missing. He works awfully hard at it — possibly a little too hard — but, in sum, he doesn't seem quite ready for the big time yet.

Going on a vacation or week-end trip? Here are expert tips on how to pack!

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

Are you taking off tomorrow on that long awaited two weeks with pay? I hope you have made an accurate and complete list of everything that you intend to pack, and not just to make sure that you have everything with you when you depart. That list is good insurance that you will bring everything back—if it's the last thing that you put into your travel case. When you come back, check each item as you repack your case and you'll avoid the sad experience of forgetting some favorite article.

There are many theories of packing. One person I know contends that if clothes are lightly rolled around long pieces of tissue paper they arrive at destination with the fewest wrinkles. Another vows that by folding clothes over newspapers rather than tissue, less crushing ensues. She says that the firmness of the newspaper contributes to more air space between clothing. Newspaper can also be folded into shirt-front shapes over which a blouse can then be pinned and held rather in the manner of a man's shirt just returned from the laundry.

No Wrinkles Wanted

Tucking tissue paper in shoulders and folds of dresses and suits is a wise precaution that has saved many an extra pressing.

Though you pack your case like an expert, such care will be in vain unless your clothes are thoroughly dry. Even a trace of moisture from recent pressing or ironing can undue all your work.

Hair and clothes brushes need to be well wrapped as a precaution against their bristles rubbing against snaggable fabrics. Refrigerator bags make excellent protectors for stockings, shoes and gloves. Powder, creams and lotions should be transported in leak-proof and unbreakable plastic jars and bottles. If you take perfume in its original bottle, first seal it with a little candle wax.

Packing Plan

Remember that suitcases frequently get stood on end. So place heavy, bulky articles at the bottom, and tie them down with your suitcase ribbons. Pack in paper-separated layers, ending with the lighest and most fragile items on top. If any of the articles may be needed enroute, place them where they can be easily reached without disturbing the contents of the entire case.

If there is any question about any item on your list, that is usually reason enough not to take it. There is more than a modicum of truth to the rumor that most women take more clothes than they need on any trip. Excess luggage makes traveling a task instead of the pleasure it should be.

Steels, Railroads Spark Stock Market Firm Rally

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 60 cents. That's the best for the average since the first day of this month. The average now stands at $108.00. Volume amounted to 840,000 shares.

Among advancing stocks were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, New Haven Railroad, Sinclair Oil, Amerada Petroleum, Douglas Aircraft, St. Regis Paper, DuPont, and Union Carbide.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher with trading at 220,000 shares. Corporate bonds were firm, and U. S. governments in the over the counter market also were firm.

W. W. Sellers Given Post At Fort Benning

Lt. Col. William W. Sellers of Cumberland, will assume the duties of deputy chief of staff of the Infantry Center at Fort Benning, Ga., effective Aug. 1.

He replaces Col. George W. Childs of Belden, Neb., who reports August 10 to Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., to attend a ten-month course at the Air War College.

Col. William J. McConnell of Shreveport, La., will succed Col. Sellers as Infantry Center G-1 (personnel officer.)

A member of the G-1 Section since August, 1951, Col. Sellers also was an instructor in the Infantry School's Tactical Department in 1946.

He was a member of the 331st Infantry Regiment, 83rd Division, in Europe during World War II.

In 1946-47, Col. Sellers commanded the 712th Military Police Battalion at the Army War College, Washington, D. C. A 1948 graduate of the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kans., he was assigned to the 7890th Headquarters Group in Heidelberg, Germany, until coming to the Infantry Center in 1951.

He holds the Bronze Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Cluster.

Col. and Mrs. Sellers have two children, Weldon, 11, and Glenn, 1.

County Will Pay One-Third Of Health Technician Wages

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday issued two orders, one providing for a third of the salary of a County Health Department technician whose job was slated to be abolished, and the other for a refund on a license issued to a woman who died since the date it became effective.

The State Department of Health notified Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, that there had been a reduction in the annual budget of the department of $45,000 for salaries, as effected in the last session of the legislature.

Dr. Frantz, after making a comprehensive study of the assistant's work, reported to the board and the state department that the position was one vital to the public interest.

Under tentative plans, arrangements have been made to retain this position in the interest of protecting the public, the commissioners' order read.

The arrangement provides that the position be maintained at the joint expense of the county, city and the State Health Department.

The board approved the allocation of $925 annually as one-third of the salary of the laboratory assistant, providing a similar amount is allocated by the two other parties.

At the request of Wilbur V. Wilson, executor of the estate of Myrtle L. Clingerman, a refund of $55 was awarded on a class D beer and wine license issued to the woman for 125 West Oldtown Road.

Wilson explained the woman has since died and the estate wishes to collect a portion of the license fee. Gorman E. Getty, county attorney, stated the law calls for a refund.

Getty noted that $60 of the $120 license went to the county and $60 to the city. Therefore, the county commissioners ordered a $55 rebate to the Clingerman estate as part of its share of the license.

The Gulf stream, which flows around it, keeps the Arctic port of Murmansk, Russia, ice-free all year.

Four Local Nurses Train In Baltimore

They are Miss Patsy Ann Amoruso, Miss Margaret Lee Lynch, Miss Rosa Bartlett and Miss Rosa Mary Brinker.

County Board Notes Surplus

The report of the county auditor given yesterday to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners shows $78,935.99 of the money appropriated during the fiscal year ending June 30 was not spent.

In April 1952 the County Commissioners set the levy for the 1952-53 fiscal year at $3,353,218.71 Actually, $3,274,282.72 was spent in the various accounts to run the county.

In April of this year, when the 1953-54 levy of $3,665,689.01 was set by the county commissioners, it was estimated the unexpended appropriations from the 1952-53 fiscal year would be $83,057.49.

County To Open Bids For New Buildings

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday voted to advertise for bids for pre-fabricated metal buildings to be used as garages for County Roads Department.

Bids will be received until Friday, August 14, at 10:30 a. m. when they will be opened by the commissioners.

One of the buildings will be placed in the George's Creek section while the other will be placed at the County Garage, Franklin Street.

Jeffries Addresses Optometric Group

Dr. Walter Jeffries, Frostburg, addressed the Western Maryland Optometric Association in Hagerstown recently on "Ocular Pathologies Encountered In Optometric Practices."

Attending from this county were Dr. Lloyd Stevens, Frostburg, and Dr. Ethyl Dantzic and Dr. William A. Firey, both of this city.

Dr. Ralph Hibarger of Hagerstown will speak at the next meeting scheduled in September at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Are you taking off tomorrow on that long awaited two weeks with pay? I hope you have made an accurate and complete list of everything that you intend to pack, and not just to make sure that you have everything with you when you depart. That list is good insurance that you will bring everything back—if it's the last thing that you put into your travel case. When you come back, check each item as you repack your case and you'll avoid the sad experience of forgetting some favorite article.

There are many theories of packing. One person I know contends that if clothes are lightly rolled around long pieces of tissue paper they arrive at destination with the fewest wrinkles. Another vows that by folding clothes over newspapers rather than tissue, less crushing ensues. She says that the firmness of the newspaper contributes to more air space between clothing. Newspaper can also be folded into shirt-front shapes over which a blouse can then be pinned and held rather in the manner of a man's shirt just returned from the laundry.

No Wrinkles Wanted

Tucking tissue paper in shoulders and folds of dresses and suits is a wise precaution that has saved many an extra pressing.

Though you pack your case like an expert, such care will be in vain unless your clothes are thoroughly dry. Even a trace of moisture from recent pressing or ironing can undue all your work.

Hair and clothes brushes need to be well wrapped as a precaution against their bristles rubbing against snaggable fabrics. Refrigerator bags make excellent protectors for stockings, shoes and gloves. Powder, creams and lotions should be transported in leak-proof and unbreakable plastic jars and bottles. If you take perfume in its original bottle, first seal it with a little candle wax.

Packing Plan

Remember that suitcases frequently get stood on end. So place heavy, bulky articles at the bottom, and tie them down with your suitcase ribbons. Pack in paper-separated layers, ending with the lighest and most fragile items on top. If any of the articles may be needed enroute, place them where they can be easily reached without disturbing the contents of the entire case.

If there is any question about any item on your list, that is usually reason enough not to take it. There is more than a modicum of truth to the rumor that most women take more clothes than they need on any trip. Excess luggage makes traveling a task instead of the pleasure it should be.

County Will Pay One-Third Of Health Technician Wages

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday issued two orders, one providing for a third of the salary of a County Health Department technician whose job was slated to be abolished, and the other for a refund on a license issued to a woman who died since the date it became effective.

The State Department of Health notified Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, that there had been a reduction in the annual budget of the department of $45,000 for salaries, as effected in the last session of the legislature.

Therefore, one of the jobs to be abolished this fiscal year was that of laboratory assistant in the Allegany County Health Department.

Dr. Frantz, after making a comprehensive study of the assistant's work, reported to the board and the state department that the position was one vital to the public interest.

Under tentative plans, arrangements have been made to retain this position in the interest of protecting the public, the commissioners' order read.

The arrangement provides that the position be maintained at the joint expense of the county, city and the State Health Department.

The board approved the allocation of $925 annually as one-third of the salary of the laboratory assistant, providing a similar amount is allocated by the two other parties.

At the request of Wilbur V. Wilson, executor of the estate of Myrtle L. Clingerman, a refund of $55 was awarded on a class D beer and wine license issued to the woman for 125 West Oldtown Road.

Wilson explained the woman has since died and the estate wishes to collect a portion of the license fee. Gorman E. Getty, county attorney, stated the law calls for a refund.

Getty noted that $60 of the $120 license went to the county and $60 to the city. Therefore, the county commissioners ordered a $55 rebate to the Clingerman estate as part of its share of the license.

The Gulf stream, which flows around it, keeps the Arctic port of Murmansk, Russia, ice-free all year.

Steels, Railroads Spark Stock Market Firm Rally

Buyers first concentrated on steels and railroads, especially Bethlehem Steel and New York Central. Bethlehem closed up 1⅝ at 52½ while Central added ¼ at 24¾.

Other areas of the market soon followed the lead bringing some good plus signs to motors, oils, utilities, chemicals, aircrafts, radio-televisions, and electrical products manufacturers.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks gained 60 cents. That's the best for the average since the first day of this month. The average now stands at $108.00. Volume amounted to 840,000 shares.

Among advancing stocks were U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, New Haven Railroad, Sinclair Oil, Amerada Petroleum, Douglas Aircraft, St. Regis Paper, DuPont, and Union Carbide.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly higher with trading at 220,000 shares. Corporate bonds were firm, and U. S. governments in the over the counter market also were firm.

County Board Notes Surplus

The report of the county auditor given yesterday to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners shows $78,935.99 of the money appropriated during the fiscal year ending June 30 was not spent.

This runs the county's unexpended balance up to $594,018.43, according to Mrs. Johanna Sills, county auditor.

In April 1952 the County Commissioners set the levy for the 1952-53 fiscal year at $3,353,218.71 Actually, $3,274,282.72 was spent in the various accounts to run the county.

In April of this year, when the 1953-54 levy of $3,665,689.01 was set by the county commissioners, it was estimated the unexpended appropriations from the 1952-53 fiscal year would be $83,057.49.

W. W. Sellers Given Post At Fort Benning

Lt. Col. William W. Sellers of Cumberland, will assume the duties of deputy chief of staff of the Infantry Center at Fort Benning, Ga., effective Aug. 1.

He replaces Col. George W. Childs of Belden, Neb., who reports August 10 to Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., to attend a ten-month course at the Air War College.

Col. William J. McConnell of Shreveport, La., will succed Col. Sellers as Infantry Center G-1 (personnel officer.)

A member of the G-1 Section since August, 1951, Col. Sellers also was an instructor in the Infantry School's Tactical Department in 1946.

He was a member of the 331st Infantry Regiment, 83rd Division, in Europe during World War II.

In 1946-47, Col. Sellers commanded the 712th Military Police Battalion at the Army War College, Washington, D. C. A 1948 graduate of the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kans., he was assigned to the 7890th Headquarters Group in Heidelberg, Germany, until coming to the Infantry Center in 1951.

He holds the Bronze Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Cluster.

Col. and Mrs. Sellers have two children, Weldon, 11, and Glenn, 1.

County To Open Bids For New Buildings

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday voted to advertise for bids for pre-fabricated metal buildings to be used as garages for County Roads Department.

Bids will be received until Friday, August 14, at 10:30 a. m. when they will be opened by the commissioners.

One of the buildings will be placed in the George's Creek section while the other will be placed at the County Garage, Franklin Street.

Redevelopment Plans For City Are Studied

Next Housing Project May Be On Slum Area

The possibilities of redevelopment of substandard areas in this city were discussed at a meeting of the Cumberland Housing Authority and city officials this week.

Present to brief the group on the part the federal government may take in a program to remove blighted areas in the city were Irving Gerdy, Public Housing Authority economist, and John G. Gardner, PHA project planner, both of New York.

Attending the meeting held in the office of Mayor Roy W. Eves were members of the Housing Authority, Mayor Eves, Finance Commissioner William V. Keegan and Thomas B. Finan, city attorney.

Occupied Sites Preferred

If Cumberland's third low-rent housing project is to be built, Gerdy said, the city might benefit if the project is built on a site now occupied by substandard dwellings.

The authority, he added, has the power to purchase occupied sites, and added he believed that in the future such occupied sites will be given the preference.

Unoccupied sites, he added, are cheaper, but clearance projects generally prove to be of more value to the city.

The problem, he said, is often that the land which should be cleared may not be suitable for housing units and may be needed for other uses.

But the Cumberland Housing Authority could enter a slum clearance project only if the land is to be used for housing.

Amendment Necessary

The Authority, which operates under Title III of the Housing Act of 1949, may, however, cooperate by providing housing for those dispossessed if a redevelopment agency exists. Such an agency would operate under Title I of the law.

Finan said the city has considered the possibility of redevelopment to set up a parking lot near City Hall, but added Baltimore is the only Maryland city which has authority to allow its Housing Authority to handle redevelopment other than housing.

Gerdy said that under Title 1 of the act, federal grants and loans are offered to help cities clear up blighted areas and make the land available for redevelopment by the city or by private industry.

He said the PHA enters into such a program only by relocating the families affected.

If the cost of the land which is cleared proves to be too high to attract private industry, it can be turned over at a "reasonable" rate, Gerdy said, with the federal government providing two-thirds and the city a third of the difference. However, streets and utilities may be counted toward the city's share.

Urges Further Study

Gerdy suggested that if the city is interested in redevelopment, it should seek more information from the Housing and Home Finance Agency, which administers the Title 1 program.

When Gerdy asked if Cumberland has a slum area that could be used for a public housing project, Commissioner Keegan replied with an emphatic "Yes."

Mayor Eves said the city has had to hold up its program of eliminating or upgrading substandard homes occupied by colored families since there was no place for the people to go.

James B. Raines, executive director of the Authority, said he is furnishing the Health Department with addresses as families move into the Benjamin Banneker Homes, so inspections may be made promptly.

Loss Is Foreseen

Referring to the parking center the city has been considering, Gerdy said someone would have to take some loss.

"That is a loss we will have to take," Keegan said, "if Cumberland is to maintain its value as a Tri-State trading center."

In seeking a plan which would work for Cumberland, Keegan was advised to contact several cities, including Perth Amboy and New Brunswick, New Jersey, which are now busy on redevelopment plans.

Hill Will Serve As New Principal Of Beall High

Webster Appoints Naval Officer

Wayne W. Hill, former assistant principal of Fort Hill High School but presently a lieutenant-commander in the Navy, yesterday was appointed as new principal of Beall High School in Frostburg.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster announced the appointment which fills the last major vacancy among the administrative positions in the Allegany County public school system.

Succeeds Halbert

The new principal succeeds Vincent A. Halbert, who has resigned after three years as the Beall High School leader to take a principalship in Trenton, N. J. Halbert also was a former assistant principal at Fort Hill.

Hill had served only one year as assistant principal at Fort Hill when he was recalled to the Navy June 25, 1952. He has been stationed in Pittsburgh, Pa., where he has been production officer of the Office of the Inspector of Naval Material. In that position he has had charge of administering Navy contracts in an area from Altoona, Pa., to the western boundary of Pennsylvania. He expects to be separated from Navy service no later than August 14.

A native of Johnstown, Pa., Hill was graduated from Johnstown High School and the University of Pittsburgh, where he obtained his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1938. In 1946 he was awarded his master's degree in education from the same university and has done additional graduate work while stationed in Pittsburgh.

The 35-year-old naval officer—he will be 36 next month — served in the Navy for three years during World War II. Ultimately he was a repair and bomb disposal officer on the USS Pennsylvania.

Taught In Johnstown

Before coming to Cumberland in 1949, Hill taught mathematics at the Johnstown Center of the University of Pittsburgh in his hometown for several years. His first assignment here was as head of the mathematics department at Fort Hill, a post he held two years before moving up to the assistant principalship.

Married to the former Elizabeth Livingston of Johnstown, Hill is the father of three children. They are Diane, nine; Nancy, four, and Wayne, Jr., one.

The Hills plan to reside in Frostburg as soon as they can find a home there.

Light And Decker Awarded Contracts For Equipment

Light and Decker Company, 315 South Centre Street, yesterday was awarded contracts by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to supply two pieces of county equipment on bids totaling $6,544.93.

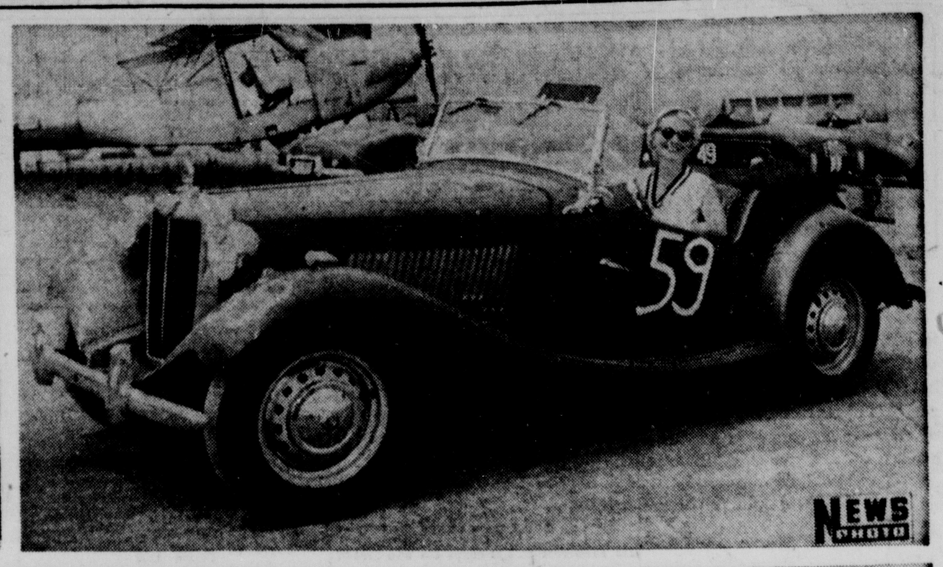
The local firm will supply a three-and-one-half ton dump truck for the County Roads Department on a bid of $4,764.55. Light and Decker also will furnish a tractor, complete with cultivator, plow and harrow for use on the County Farm on a bid of $1,780.38.

Five bids on the tractor and two on the truck were submitted to the commissioners Tuesday. They were referred to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, and Gorman E. Getty, county attorney for analysis.

Lemmert Reappointed To Welfare Board

William H. Lemmert, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, yesterday was reappointed by his fellow commissioners as a member of the County Welfare Board.

One county commissioner always serves on the Welfare Board and the post traditionally goes to the board president. Lemmert has held the job since December, 1950, when he assumed the board presidency.



Fourth Man Apprehended In Burglary

He is Howard McKee, 22, of East Mechanic Street, Frostburg. McKee's father and a brother already are in custody in connection with the theft, and another man is being sought in Ohio.

Police said a passerby saw Howard McKee sitting on his front porch early last night and called police.

Officers Lloyd Truly and John Kerr went to the home and placed the youth under arrest without resistance. The officers said McKee told them he had just returned from Cleveland.

Warrants for McKee and another man were sent to Ohio authorities this week after McKee's father, James, and a brother, Lawrence, 19, were arrested and lodged in County Jail. Another prisoner, Glenn Whitefield, 16, of Frostburg, is in detention quarters at the County Infirmary.

James and Lawrence McKee are charged with receiving stolen goods, and Whitefield, with breaking and entering. A total of $158 was involved in the early morning theft, which took place after the burglars locked Riley in the washroom of his tavern.

Police said Howard McKee will join his father and brother today at County Jail, where a warrant charging him with failing to support his wife in Baltimore is waiting for him.

Calcium Chloride Treatment Set

The city will stabilize streets in the Jane Frazier Village area with calcium chloride Monday.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, street commissioner, said about seven tons of the chemical will be used on about seven streets in that area.

Last winter, the Street Department placed shale on the newly opened streets. Next week's work will include shaping and rolling the streets and then applying calcium chloride.

The oiling program, which comprised some 32 miles of unpaved streets, was completed this week, except for minor repair jobs.

20 Are Enrolled In Swimming Course

A similar course, taught by James Hines, ended recently, with all 18 of the students passing deep-water swimming tests.

The class will open on August 17, after children from all playgrounds have completed two-week classes in beginning, advanced beginners and intermediate swimming.

Weather

Another hot, dry day is forecast today after the official temperature zoomed to 96 yesterday, the hottest reading of the year. The overnight low was 63, and by 8 p. m. the mercury had dropped only to 84. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 35.5 per cent.

Cumberland Sports Races Set Tomorrow

107 Drivers, 92 Cars Enter Event

Maryland's first sports car races will get underway at 11 a. m. tomorrow at the Cumberland Municipal Airport with 107 drivers and 92 cars in the competition.

A parade of sport cars participating will be held in Cumberland today at 2 p. m. The route of the review will be from the airport through South End and downtown streets and back to the airport by way of Wiley Ford bridge.

Car Parade Today

Cars range in size from 30 horsepower midgets to American monsters of 300 horsepower. Top speeds range from 80 mph for the smallest cars, to 170 mph for the largest.

According to Sports Car Club of America rules, cars are classed by engine size. Where several classes run in the same race, there are actually several separate races going on at the same time, and cars are competing only against cars of their own size and class.

There are as many winners in a race as there are classes of cars running in that race. Thus, although one car will finish first, it has won only in its own class.

The races are being held by the Lions Club and the Steel City section of the Sports Car Club of America. Proceeds will go for the benefit of the Children's Sight Conservation program in Allegany County.

The first race tomorrow will begin at 11 a. m. on the one and half mile closed course which has six sharp turns, one about 40 feet from a principle. The first event will consist of 25 laps or approximately 40 miles and will be for production and modified cars under 1,500 cubic centimeters engine displacement.

The second race is set for 12 noon for production and modified cars over 1,500 cc. and will consist of 25 laps. The third race will be a powder puff event for women drivers only. It will run for 10 laps or about 40 miles. It begins at 1 p. m.

The final event, the Cumberland Cup race, will get started at 2 p. m. and will consist of 60 laps on the hazardous course running about 96 miles. Entries include production and modified cars of all classes.

The Lions Club committee reports that 107 drivers have submitted applications for the race and they hail from Cumberland, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Washington, D. C., West Virginia, Ohio and one, R. J. Seldon, from Tacoma, Wash.

Cumberland is represented by both Dr. and Mrs. Benedict Skitarelic. Mrs. Skitarelic is entered in the ladies event which will have 11 starters.

The race will feature 23 Jaguars, the sleek low slung open sports cars that have won such classic races as the Silvertone, Alpine Trails and the RAC Tourist Trophy. Jaguars and the little MG Midgets are the most popular foreign cars used by the American sports car enthusiasts.

All Type Autos

In all there will be 23 MG-TD's and 16 other types of MG's, including four Specials and one Lester-MG. Other cars to be seen in the event will be six Porches, three Volkswagens, Healey-Silvertone, a Nas-Healey and a Crosley Special. There will also be nine Sciatas, a Maserati, two Simacas, A Singer, Altemas Special, four Morgan Plus 4's, a Norris Special, three Bandinis and one Osca and six English-made Allards.

Bus service will be provided from Baltimore Street every 20 minutes. Tickets include admission and auto parking at the airport.

Last Check Before Hitting The Track

Cumberland Municipal Airport was a scene of intense activity yesterday as sports car drivers and mechanics tested and prepared autos for the big meet tomorrow. In the top left photo William Magee, Toledo, Ohio, chief mechanic, is shown tightning a wheel bearing on a Jaguar XK-120M which will be driven by its owner, Robert Donnelly, also of Toledo. At top right Lucille Davis, of Pittsburgh, is giving her MG-TD a test run on the one and a half mile course. She will compete in the all-woman race tomorrow. The lower photo shows several of the different cars that will be rolling over the course in Sunday's races. A great many of the 92 cars entered in the event began arriving at the airport yesterday. The cars will parade through Cumberland today at 2 p.m.

W. Va. Licenses Good Only Until July 20

West Virginia State Police at Keyser yesterday said a previous announcement that 1952 license tags had been extended to July 28 was in error.

The extension is effective only until Monday, July 20. Police said the mixup was caused by an error in teletype transmission from State Police Headquarters at Charleston.

County Beetle Population Is Reported Low

A report received at the office of County Agent Ralph F. McHenry from College Park shows that only three other counties trapped fewer beetles in the week between July 4 and 11 than Allegany.

The state's best record again is being made in Garrett County. The 25 traps placed in the Oakland area, the only ones in Garrett County, caught only 51 beetles in seven days. Allegany's record was 6,504, an average of 36 beetles for each of the county's 181 traps. Baltimore and Cecil Counties also had fewer trapped beetles but they had fewer containers in which to catch them too.

In Allegany County, Potomac Park has been the area where most beetles have been caught. The 10 traps there accounted for 1,790, about one-fourth of the county's one-week haul.

Worst Maryland County for Japanese beetles is St. Mary's, where 217 traps caught 2,580,000 in one week. That's an average of considerably over 10,000 per trap.

Meanwhile, the county's Japanese beetle combat team, headed by Hugh Stevenson of Ellerslie, is continuing its annual battle. Eugene J. Hopkins and J. Hubert Radcliffe, Stevenson's assistants, have been spore-dusting over much of the county. They have been concentrating in parts of the eastern end of the county, where there are still many active beetles, and in the Rawlings area.

If home owners would spray their own property with a DDT solution they would help considerably in getting rid of the pests.

Homeward Bound

Cpl. Orville G. Steele Jr., Frostburg, is among 34 Marylanders aboard the Marine Adder, due to dock today at Seattle, Wash., from the Far East.

Fate Of Smoke Program Must Be Settled Soon

City Budget Due By August 25

One of the problems the Mayor and Council must face within the next few weeks is the future of Cumberland's smoke abatement program.

A definite decision must be made on the program before a budget is set up, since a larger budget will be needed if city officials are to comply with a recommendation of the Smoke Abatement Advisory Board.

On March 2, the board advised the Mayor and Council not to relax its requirement for a smoke abatement engineer, and called upon them to hire an engineer to fill the vacancy created by the full time employment of George M. Hitchcock as superintendent of Evitts Creek Water Company.

Since then, the department has been operated by Charles F. Owens, who had served as deputy smoke abatement inspector. His contract has been renewed monthly since a yearly contract expired February 4.

On March 3, officials of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway urged that Owens be retained as smoke abatement engineer. The proposal came in the form of a unanimous recommendation at a Cumberland Terminal smoke abatement meeting.

A larger appropriation will be needed if a qualified engineer is secured to head the program. Officials have mentioned the sum of $10,000 up as the salary which would have to be offered to lure a qualified smoke abatement engineer from another city.

Hitchcock's salary was shared, with the City Water Department paying $4,000 and the Smoke Abatement Department, $2,500.

East Side Playground Group To Meet Monday

The East Side PTA and Playground Association will hold a meeting Monday at 8 p. m. at the playground, to make plans for the festival to be held the first week in August. All parents are urged to attend.

Mercury Hits 96, Highest Of Year

And the Weather Bureau held out no hope that any rain would be falling soon. Its prediction: Fair and hot, with highest temperatures in the 90s.

No rain has fallen since July 5, and lawns in the area are showing the effects of the hot dry spell.

Swimming pools had good crowds yesterday, although the temperature didn't seem quite as high as it did on a few previous 95-degree days, when the humidity was higher.

Local hospitals said they treated no cases of heat prostration.

$10,000 Sought In Auto Crash

A $10,000 suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court as a result of a collision on National Highway less than three weeks ago which sent five patients to Miners Hospital in Frostburg.

B. Fay Thompson, 206 Elder Street, through Attorneys Leslie J. Clark and Edward J. Ryan, sued Howard Catley, Shaker Heights, Ohio, and William Gann, Montor, Ohio, for injuries he sustained in the accident, Sunday, June 28.

Thompson was driving west on Route 40, about three miles west of Frostburg when his car was struck by an east-bound Ohio car owned by Gann and driven by Catley. The local man contends that Catley crossed the center line of the highway and smashed into his car.

Both Thompson and Catley, their wives and another woman passenger in the Ohio car were hospitalized. Thompson says that he has sustained permanent injuries to his legs, body and head.

Institute Hears Davis Report On Home Rule

Sessions Continue Until Next Friday

Lewyn C. Davis, supervisor of junior high schools in Allegany County, yesterday presented a factual report on Cumberland's fight for greater home rule in one of the sessions of the Institute On Public Affairs being sponsored by the State Teachers Association at Towson State Teachers College.

Davis has spent several weeks accumulating data on the various local campaigns which led to three different votes on the proposed city manager form of government for Cumberland. All were unsuccessful.

The institute, which will continue through next Friday, does not attempt to take sides in controversial issues. It simply aims to present the facts so that the attending teachers will better understand issues in public affairs.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster attended sessions of the institute Wednesday. Principal speaker was Judge Hall Hammond of the State Court of Appeals, former attorney-general who discussed the relationships among state, county and local governments in Maryland.

Delegates from Allegany County attending the entire two weeks of the institute are Mrs. Gertrude A. Williams, social studies teacher at Beall High School in Frotsburg, and Robert C. Morris, who teaches similar subjects at Fort Hill High School. Representing Garrett County is Merle D. Frantz, teacher at Friendsville Elementary School.

Board Will Repair Fort Hill Sidewalk

The Allegany County Board of Education will receive bids until 4 p. m. Friday, July 24, for repairing sidewalk and curbing in front of Fort Hill High School.

Interested contractors may obtain specifications from the board office at 108 Washington Street.

State Parks Receiving Many Improved Facilities

A number of improvements have been made or are contemplated in the various Western Maryland recreation area owned by the State Department of Forests and Parks, according to District Forester William H. Johnson.

Department employes now are building an 8,000 gallon reservoir at Herrington Manor in Garrett County and are expected to finish the work next week. The reservoir will provide an adequate water supply for the bath house.

At Swallow Falls State Park ground has been broken for a comfort station, to be equipped with septic tank and tile field. This building will be about 18 by 20 feet in size.

Henry W. Ford, Corriganville well driller, has been contracted to drill a water well at the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area near Lonaconing. Later, a reservoir and comfort station will be constructed there too.

Other projects either have been completed or will be done after the summer tourists leave. At Herrington Manor the superintendent's headquarters and three service buildings have been painted. Before the 16 cabins were opened for the summer tile was installed in all of the bath rooms. Contracts also have been awarded for reroofing four cottages in the fall.

At New Germany, in Garrett County, four other cottages also will be reroofed. The kitchen of the superintendent's headquarters also has been refurnished.

A contract also has been let for reroofing the museum at Fort Frederick in Washington County. Some 3,000 yards of roadway through the picnic area at Fort Frederick also have been repaved.

Celanese Corporation Promotes Four Engineers At Amcelle Plant

Promoted were Richard W. Kirsch, Route 1, Braddock Farms; Max W. Shaffer, 815 Braddock Road; H. Nelson Sellers Jr., 25 Wempe Drive, and William D. Bartlett, 600 Ridgewood Avenue.

Kirsch has been named plant maintenance engineer, in which position he will coordinate all functional activities of plant and shop maintenance.

He joined Celanese in September 1938 and except for nine months at the Celco plant in 1943, has worked at Amcelle continuously since then as a chemist and chemical engineer in the Cellulose Acetate Section. He has been section engineer in CA since July 15, 1949.

After spending several years as assistant to the plant engineer, Shaffer became superintendent of the boiler house in September 1952.

His new duties include direction of operations at the river pump house, the water treatment plant, water auxiliaries and the boiler house. He will also be responsible for design of air conditioning, heating and ventilating equipment.

His duties include direction of the selection, installation, development and maintenance of instruments and controls throughout the plant, and standardization and technical assistance on instrumentation and controls.

Bartlett was named Cellulose Acetate engineer, replacing Kirsch.

He has been an engineer with Celanese for eight years, and since June 15, 1949, has been assistant engineer in CA Section.

Young Checker Fans Take Titles In City Tourney

City champions in checkers and Chinese checkers were named last night at an intra-city tournament held at Penn Avenue Playground.

The champion checker player among 9-12 year old girls was Betty Jo Martin, of Centre Street Playground, and Sandra Sonner of Mapleside, was runner-up.

Robert Cleggett, of Lamont Street Playground, was champion of 9-12 boys. Runner-up was Robert Buzzard, of Centre Street Playground.

Katherine Mullandy, of West Side Playground, won the checker championship for 13-15 year old girls, and Nancy Belt, of Penn Avenue, was runner-up.

William Smith, of Pine Avenue, won the tournament for boys in that age group and Gerald Davis, West Side, was runner-up.

Chinese checkers tournaments were also held at the same time.

Sue Bloss, Mt. Royal, was champion of 9-12 girls, with Anna Kerns, of Penn Avenue, trailing. Lamar Martin, of Centre Street, won the boys championship, and Joe Wagner, Mapleside, was runner-up.

Patricia Thompson, Gephart Playground, won the 16-18 year old girls contest, with Norma Wallace, Penn Avenue, the runner-up. In the boys tournament, Glenn Thrasher, Penn Avenue, was winner, trailed by Gene Payton, Columbia Street.

Redevelopment Plans For City Are Studied

Next Housing Project May Be On Slum Area

The possibilities of redevelopment of substandard areas in this city were discussed at a meeting of the Cumberland Housing Authority and city officials this week.

Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, street commissioner, said about seven tons of the chemical will be used on about seven streets in that area.

Last winter, the Street Department placed shale on the newly opened streets. Next week's work will include shaping and rolling the streets and then applying calcium chloride.

The chemical stabilizes and halts the spread of dust on unpaved streets by absorbing moisture.

20 Are Enrolled In Swimming Course

Twenty persons are enrolled in the adult swimming class which got under way Wednesday at the Constitution Park pool under the auspices of the Cumberland Recreation Department.

A similar course, taught by James Hines, ended recently, with all 18 of the students passing deep-water swimming tests.

The Recreation Department is planning an advanced course in swimming and diving for youths enrolled on the playgrounds.

The class will open on August 17, after children from all playgrounds have completed two-week classes in beginning, advanced beginners and intermediate swimming.

Last Check Before Hitting The Track

Cumberland Municipal Airport was a scene of intense activity yesterday as sports car drivers and mechanics tested and prepared autos for the big meet tomorrow. In the top left photo William Magee, Toledo, Ohio, chief mechanic, is shown tightning a wheel bearing on a Jaguar XK-120M which will be driven by its owner, Robert Donnelly, also of Toledo. At top right Lucille Davis, of Pittsburgh, is giving her MG-TD a test run on the one and a half mile course. She will compete in the all-woman race tomorrow. The lower photo shows several of the different cars that will be rolling over the course in Sunday's races. A great many of the 92 cars entered in the event began arriving at the airport yesterday. The cars will parade through Cumberland today at 2 p.m.

Cumberland Sports Races Set Tomorrow

107 Drivers, 92 Cars Enter Event

Maryland's first sports car races will get underway at 11 a. m. tomorrow at the Cumberland Municipal Airport with 107 drivers and 92 cars in the competition.

A parade of sport cars participating will be held in Cumberland today at 2 p. m. The route of the review will be from the airport through South End and downtown streets and back to the airport by way of Wiley Ford bridge.

Car Parade Today

Cars range in size from 30 horsepower midgets to American monsters of 300 horsepower. Top speeds range from 80 mph for the smallest cars, to 170 mph for the largest.

According to Sports Car Club of America rules, cars are classed by engine size. Where several classes run in the same race, there are actually several separate races going on at the same time, and cars are competing only against cars of their own size and class.

There are as many winners in a race as there are classes of cars running in that race. Thus, although one car will finish first, it has won only in its own class.

The races are being held by the Lions Club and the Steel City section of the Sports Car Club of America. Proceeds will go for the benefit of the Children's Sight Conservation program in Allegany County.

The first race tomorrow will begin at 11 a. m. on the one and half mile closed course which has six sharp turns, one about 40 feet from a principle. The first event will consist of 25 laps or approximately 40 miles and will be for production and modified cars under 1,500 cubic centimeters engine displacement.

The second race is set for 12 noon for production and modified cars over 1,500 cc. and will consist of 25 laps. The third race will be a powder puff event for women drivers only. It will run for 10 laps or about 40 miles. It begins at 1 p. m.

The final event, the Cumberland Cup race, will get started at 2 p. m. and will consist of 60 laps on the hazardous course running about 96 miles. Entries include production and modified cars of all classes.

The Lions Club committee reports that 107 drivers have submitted applications for the race and they hail from Cumberland, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Washington, D. C., West Virginia, Ohio and one, R. J. Seldon, from Tacoma, Wash.

Cumberland is represented by both Dr. and Mrs. Benedict Skitarelic. Mrs. Skitarelic is entered in the ladies event which will have 11 starters.

The race will feature 23 Jaguars, the sleek low slung open sports cars that have won such classic races as the Silvertone, Alpine Trails and the RAC Tourist Trophy. Jaguars and the little MG Midgets are the most popular foreign cars used by the American sports car enthusiasts.

All Type Autos

In all there will be 23 MG-TD's and 16 other types of MG's, including four Specials and one Lester-MG. Other cars to be seen in the event will be six Porches, three Volkswagens, Healey-Silvertone, a Nas-Healey and a Crosley Special. There will also be nine Sciatas, a Maserati, two Simacas, A Singer, Altemas Special, four Morgan Plus 4's, a Norris Special, three Bandinis and one Osca and six English-made Allards.

Bus service will be provided from Baltimore Street every 20 minutes. Tickets include admission and auto parking at the airport.

Officers and members of Company, Frostburg National Guard unit, will police the crowds at the event.

W. Va. Licenses Good Only Until July 20

West Virginia State Police at Keyser yesterday said a previous announcement that 1952 license tags had been extended to July 28 was in error.

The extension is effective only until Monday, July 20. Police said the mixup was caused by an error in teletype transmission from State Police Headquarters at Charleston.

County Beetle Population Is Reported Low

Allegany County has fewer Japanese beetles this summer than most of Maryland's other counties.

A report received at the office of County Agent Ralph F. McHenry from College Park shows that only three other counties trapped fewer beetles in the week between July 4 and 11 than Allegany.

The state's best record again is being made in Garrett County. The 25 traps placed in the Oakland area, the only ones in Garrett County, caught only 51 beetles in seven days. Allegany's record was 6,504, an average of 36 beetles for each of the county's 181 traps. Baltimore and Cecil Counties also had fewer trapped beetles but they had fewer containers in which to catch them too.

In Allegany County, Potomac Park has been the area where most beetles have been caught. The 10 traps there accounted for 1,790, about one-fourth of the county's one-week haul.

Worst Maryland County for Japanese beetles is St. Mary's, where 217 traps caught 2,580,000 in one week. That's an average of considerably over 10,000 per trap.

Meanwhile, the county's Japanese beetle combat team, headed by Hugh Stevenson of Ellerslie, is continuing its annual battle. Eugene J. Hopkins and J. Hubert Radcliffe, Stevenson's assistants, have been spore-dusting over much of the county. They have been concentrating in parts of the eastern end of the county, where there are still many active beetles, and in the Rawlings area.

If home owners would spray their own property with a DDT solution they would help considerably in getting rid of the pests.

Homeward Bound

Cpl. Orville G. Steele Jr., Frostburg, is among 34 Marylanders aboard the Marine Adder, due to dock today at Seattle, Wash., from the Far East.

Fate Of Smoke Program Must Be Settled Soon

City Budget Due By August 25

One of the problems the Mayor and Council must face within the next few weeks is the future of Cumberland's smoke abatement program.

A definite decision must be made on the program before a budget is set up, since a larger budget will be needed if city officials are to comply with a recommendation of the Smoke Abatement Advisory Board.

On March 2, the board advised the Mayor and Council not to relax its requirement for a smoke abatement engineer, and called upon them to hire an engineer to fill the vacancy created by the full time employment of George M. Hitchcock as superintendent of Evitts Creek Water Company.

Hitchcock had served for five years as smoke abatement engineer in Cumberland when he took on his full time duties at Lake Gordon on January 15.

Since then, the department has been operated by Charles F. Owens, who had served as deputy smoke abatement inspector. His contract has been renewed monthly since a yearly contract expired February 4.

On March 3, officials of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and the Western Maryland Railway urged that Owens be retained as smoke abatement engineer. The proposal came in the form of a unanimous recommendation at a Cumberland Terminal smoke abatement meeting.

Last year, the Smoke Abatement Department received an appropriation of $10,500.

A larger appropriation will be needed if a qualified engineer is secured to head the program. Officials have mentioned the sum of $10,000 up as the salary which would have to be offered to lure a qualified smoke abatement engineer from another city.

Hitchcock's salary was shared, with the City Water Department paying $4,000 and the Smoke Abatement Department, $2,500.

East Side Playground Group To Meet Monday

The East Side PTA and Playground Association will hold a meeting Monday at 8 p. m. at the playground, to make plans for the festival to be held the first week in August. All parents are urged to attend.

Mercury Hits 96, Highest Of Year

Cumberlanders sweltered in the hottest weather of the year yesterday as the official thermometer at Constitution Park hit 96 degrees.

And the Weather Bureau held out no hope that any rain would be falling soon. Its prediction: Fair and hot, with highest temperatures in the 90s.

No rain has fallen since July 5, and lawns in the area are showing the effects of the hot dry spell.

Swimming pools had good crowds yesterday, although the temperature didn't seem quite as high as it did on a few previous 95-degree days, when the humidity was higher.

Local hospitals said they treated no cases of heat prostration.

$10,000 Sought In Auto Crash

A $10,000 suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court as a result of a collision on National Highway less than three weeks ago which sent five patients to Miners Hospital in Frostburg.

B. Fay Thompson, 206 Elder Street, through Attorneys Leslie J. Clark and Edward J. Ryan, sued Howard Catley, Shaker Heights, Ohio, and William Gann, Montor, Ohio, for injuries he sustained in the accident, Sunday, June 28.

Thompson was driving west on Route 40, about three miles west of Frostburg when his car was struck by an east-bound Ohio car owned by Gann and driven by Catley. The local man contends that Catley crossed the center line of the highway and smashed into his car.

Both Thompson and Catley, their wives and another woman passenger in the Ohio car were hospitalized. Thompson says that he has sustained permanent injuries to his legs, body and head.

Institute Hears Davis Report On Home Rule

Sessions Continue Until Next Friday

Lewyn C. Davis, supervisor of junior high schools in Allegany County, yesterday presented a factual report on Cumberland's fight for greater home rule in one of the sessions of the Institute On Public Affairs being sponsored by the State Teachers Association at Towson State Teachers College.

Davis has spent several weeks accumulating data on the various local campaigns which led to three different votes on the proposed city manager form of government for Cumberland. All were unsuccessful.

The institute, which will continue through next Friday, does not attempt to take sides in controversial issues. It simply aims to present the facts so that the attending teachers will better understand issues in public affairs.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster attended sessions of the institute Wednesday. Principal speaker was Judge Hall Hammond of the State Court of Appeals, former attorney-general who discussed the relationships among state, county and local governments in Maryland.

Delegates from Allegany County attending the entire two weeks of the institute are Mrs. Gertrude A. Williams, social studies teacher at Beall High School in Frotsburg, and Robert C. Morris, who teaches similar subjects at Fort Hill High School. Representing Garrett County is Merle D. Frantz, teacher at Friendsville Elementary School.

Board Will Repair Fort Hill Sidewalk

The Allegany County Board of Education will receive bids until 4 p. m. Friday, July 24, for repairing sidewalk and curbing in front of Fort Hill High School.

Interested contractors may obtain specifications from the board office at 108 Washington Street.

State Parks Receiving Many Improved Facilities

A number of improvements have been made or are contemplated in the various Western Maryland recreation area owned by the State Department of Forests and Parks, according to District Forester William H. Johnson.

Department employes now are building an 8,000 gallon reservoir at Herrington Manor in Garrett County and are expected to finish the work next week. The reservoir will provide an adequate water supply for the bath house.

At Swallow Falls State Park ground has been broken for a comfort station, to be equipped with septic tank and tile field. This building will be about 18 by 20 feet in size.

Henry W. Ford, Corriganville well driller, has been contracted to drill a water well at the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area near Lonaconing. Later, a reservoir and comfort station will be constructed there too.

Other projects either have been completed or will be done after the summer tourists leave. At Herrington Manor the superintendent's headquarters and three service buildings have been painted. Before the 16 cabins were opened for the summer tile was installed in all of the bath rooms. Contracts also have been awarded for reroofing four cottages in the fall.

At New Germany, in Garrett County, four other cottages also will be reroofed. The kitchen of the superintendent's headquarters also has been refurnished.

A contract also has been let for reroofing the museum at Fort Frederick in Washington County. Some 3,000 yards of roadway through the picnic area at Fort Frederick also have been repaved.

Celanese Corporation Promotes Four Engineers At Amcelle Plant

Promoted were Richard W. Kirsch, Route 1, Braddock Farms; Max W. Shaffer, 815 Braddock Road; H. Nelson Sellers Jr., 25 Wempe Drive, and William D. Bartlett, 600 Ridgewood Avenue.

Kirsch has been named plant maintenance engineer, in which position he will coordinate all functional activities of plant and shop maintenance.

He joined Celanese in September 1938 and except for nine months at the Celco plant in 1943, has worked at Amcelle continuously since then as a chemist and chemical engineer in the Cellulose Acetate Section. He has been section engineer in CA since July 15, 1949.

Shaffer, who joined Celanese 20 years ago, has been promoted to utilities engineer at Amcelle.

After spending several years as assistant to the plant engineer, Shaffer became superintendent of the boiler house in September 1952.

His new duties include direction of operations at the river pump house, the water treatment plant, water auxiliaries and the boiler house. He will also be responsible for design of air conditioning, heating and ventilating equipment.

Sellers, a graduate engineer who served an apprenticeship as a machinist, was named instrument engineer under Kirsch..

His duties include direction of the selection, installation, development and maintenance of instruments and controls throughout the plant, and standardization and technical assistance on instrumentation and controls.

Bartlett was named Cellulose Acetate engineer, replacing Kirsch.

He has been an engineer with Celanese for eight years, and since June 15, 1949, has been assistant engineer in CA Section.
